WALKER RESIGNS AS MAYOR

LEGISLATURE IS CALLED TO HELP ILLINOIS NEEDY

Extra Session Will Open Wednesday.

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson last night summoned the general assembly of Illinois to meet in special session at 4 o'clock next Wednesday.

In the preamble of the call he stressed the necessities of legislation to meet the situation resulting from the depression, emphasizing particularly the fact that the Reconstruction Finance corporation has delivered an ultimatum that the state must show it has exhausted its own possibilities of aiding the needy before it may hope to receive additions to the $9,000,000 advanced to it already from federal funds.

Leaves the Door Open.

But the governor left the doors wide open for the legislature to determine for itself what means of raising further funds shall be selected to prove the good faith of the state in this respect. His call did not mention such subjects as the issuance of county relief bonds, the creation of a state or a county sales tax or other specific methods such as an increase of the state gasoline tax rate.

In this field the governor limited himself to such general phraseology as this:

"To enact laws and to amend, alter or repeal any existing law in order to supplement and make effective and available in the state of Illinois the benefits of the provisions of the acts of congress known as the 'emergency relief and construction acts of 1932' and the federal home loan bank act."

Three Subjects Mentioned.

However, he did specifically mention three subjects. One of them is the modification of the school revenue law to prohibit the use of N. S. F. checks—given to teachers in lieu of salaries—as a means of paying taxes. This was at the insistence of lawyers who have refused to approve further issues of Chicago school tax anticipation warrants on the ground that the "not sufficient fund" checks have endangered the market value of the warrants.

The second specific subject included in the call was provision for the amendment of governing pensions for Chicago city employés in order that the standing of eligibles may not be endangered by the enforced vacations taken during recent months.

The call, as a third matter, permits the consideration of legislation to allow the Chicago school board to issue notes in anticipation of taxes levied to retire bond issues. This is similar to the "county tax note" plan fathered by George F. Harding when county treasurer. It would require that the notes include maturity dates, a feature lacking in anticipation warrants. The plan failed to aid the county.

State Situation Pictured.

In the introduction of his call, Gov. Emmerson described the situation that exists in the state.

"Hundreds of thousands of wage earners have been thrown out of employment and prevented from securing to themselves and those dependent on them the necessities of life.

"In the county of Cook, where the unemployment situation has been most acute, and in many of the other counties funds provided for relief by the state and by voluntary contributions have been entirely exhausted.

"Federal moneys heretofore made available for unemployment relief in this state by the Reconstruction Finance corporation will be expended not later than Oct. 1, and the Reconstruction Finance corporation has indicated that no additional money will be allotted for use in this state unless further efforts are made by the state and its political subdivisions to provide funds for this purpose.

Legislation May Be Needed.

"The congress of the United States has recently enacted legislation designed to provide relief and work relief, stimulate construction, increase employment and furnish financial aid and in order to make such legislation effective it may be necessary to enact supplementary state legislation.

"By reason of the foregoing and other matters I deem that extraordinary occasion exists for convening the general assembly in extraordinary session."

The statement of each of the purposes thereafter listed opens with the words, "To enact laws and to amend, alter or repeal any existing law." The subjects are listed as follows:

"To enact laws . . . . in relation to

DRAMA IN COURT AS JUDGE FINDS HER GUILTLESS

Mrs. Dorothy Pollak was acquitted yesterday afternoon by Judge Harry Fisher, chief justice of the Criminal court, on a charge of murdering her middle aged husband, Joseph Pollak, alcohol dealer and money lender to bootleggers.

JUDGE FISHER.

Thus ended the quickest murder trial of a woman on record in the Criminal court. Judge Fisher acted under the new court procedure, which allows a judge to hear a criminal case without a jury. He sponsored a test case that resulted in making possible the new procedure.

Although the trial was speedily conducted, it was not without its dramatic scenes, especially the wild demonstration which occurred at the end when Judge Fisher announced: "Therefore I must acquit the defendant."

Widow Seems Stunned.

The good looking young widow, who some court attachés say is the prettiest of a long list of women to be acquitted of husband killing, seemed stunned at the pronouncement of the judge. But the hundreds of women spectators who crowded the courtroom soon brought her back to a realization of what had occurred when they rushed at her in a mob and showered her with kisses and congratulations.

The women pulled one way and the bailiffs pulled the other, trying to get Dorothy safely back into an anteroom. For a time it seemed that she would be pulled apart.

She was crying, her first real display of tears during the three day trial. The bailiffs, however, said they did not know if the tears were from joy over her acquittal or from fear of the mob.

Thinks Judge Is Nice.

When the widow, who at the time of the shooting characterized her act as "the dirty trick I did to poor old Joe," regained her calm in the anteroom, surrounded by her mother, Mrs. Victoria Mysza; her cousin, Mrs. Victoria Schultz, and other relatives, she was ready to talk.

"Judge Fisher is a nice man," she said. "He looked at it sensibly."

She had these good words to speak for the judge, even though he made no effort to return her attempt at a handshake as she was being dragged and pushed past his rostrum after the acquittal. He did bow to acknowledge her "Thank you."

She Still Loves Joe.

"I still love Joe," Mrs. Pollak went on to reporters. This has been her story from the day she killed him, July 27, in their apartment at 1936 West Garfield boulevard. She used the "I still loved him" phrase continuously as she testified during the morning session. Even though he kicked her, split her lip and "socked her on the head," she never ceased to love him, she testified.

"The first thing I am going to do when I get out is to visit poor Joe," Mrs. Pollak continued in her interview. "I do not know what flowers I am going to take to his grave. I do not know what I will do after that except that I am going to live with my mother. She stuck by me."

Some one suggested that maybe she would go on the stage. She had not thought of that, she said.

Waive Closing Arguments.

The trial of Mrs. Pollak came to an abrupt end when Attorney W. W. O'Brien for the defense and Assistant State's Attorneys Frank Mast and Harry Gabel announced that no closing arguments would be made. The prosecutors said they had confidence in the "ability and integrity of the court" and would submit the case without argument.

Judge Fisher promptly launched into a lengthy opinion, which ended with the words of acquittal.

The judge based his verdict on one bit of testimony, that concerned the knife with which the defense claimed

Alfonso Rises from Dinner to Hit a Photog

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Sept. 1.—The blue Bourbon blood of former King Alfonso of Spain boiled up tonight almost as never before, causing him to rise from his dinner in the fashionable Hotel Ritz and strike a photographer who was about to snap him in the act of devouring a paprika chicken—Hungary's most delicious national dish.

The aristocratic diners and the titled folk gaped in amazement as Alfonso, with the ferociousness of a Don Quixote battling a windmill, attacked the photographer. The former monarch liked his paprika chicken, it developed, but not a picture of him eating it. He told the photographer so, but the latter was not convinced.

Orders Photographer Away.

"You can't take a photograph of me, now get away," nearby guests said they heard Alfonso storm.

Named Godfather Again.

Holding royal babies for christening services promises to keep Alfonso a busy man. Last Tuesday he performed this ceremony for Princess Ileana's son, Archduke Stephen Hapsburg. Now he will do it again. His niece, Infanta Isabella, wife of Count Zamoyski, is expecting a baby within a few days and Alfonso has been named godfather again.

Prince to Go Under Knife.

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Don Juan, son of former King Alfonso of Spain, has recovered from an attack of malaria which has kept him in a hospital for several weeks, but today his doctors disclosed that he would have to submit to an operation for appendicitis. The young man is a midshipman with the British fleet.

HAVANA, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Juan Antonio Gonzales Armas, a prominent banker of Colon, scattered $10,000 in cash from the windows of his banking house today. The people indulged in a mad scramble as coins and bills fell into the street in profusion. The banker's friends said he had lamented the economic situation in Colon and deeply felt the needs of his fellow citizens.

ROOSEVELT FREE NOW TO PLUNGE INTO CAMPAIGN

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Gov. Roosevelt said he had "nothing at all to say" when informed tonight of the resignation of Mayor James J. Walker of New York.

At the executive mansion, where earlier in the evening he had been going over his plans for resuming the Walker ouster hearing tomorrow, the governor learned through the Associated Press of Walker's withdrawal from office.

He heard with interest Walker's assertion that he had failed at the hearing before Mr. Roosevelt to receive "even the elementary rights guaranteed to any defendant in a court of law."

Means End of Hearing.

Walker's act meant the end of the spectacular hearing in the New York state "hall of governors," where the mayor spent twelve days defending himself against the fifteen "conclusions" of Samuel Seabury.

Walker's decision meant for Roosevelt the removal of an obstacle in his campaign plans. Since his nomination at Chicago the Walker case has occupied many hours of his time, and until tonight threatened to cause a postponement of his major speaking tour through western states.

Relieves Him of Decision.

Although Mr. Roosevelt had warned against any attempts to interpret in a political light the decision he would have had to make on Walker's fitness to remain in office, his close supporters feared that a decision either way would have unfavorable political results.

By removing Walker, his supporters feared, the governor would alienate Tammany Hall. By exonerating the New York mayor, they believed, he would lose favor in other parts of the country where his advisers thought such action might be interpreted as yielding to Tammany.

"A Confession of Guilt."

New York, Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Mayor Walker's resignation in the face of the record against him is "equivalent to a confession of guilt," Samuel Seabury, sponsor of the Walker prosecution, declared on learning of the mayor's resignation.

Before he would comment, Mr. Seabury sent for a copy of the mayor's statement, and studied the charges made by the mayor against the fairness of Gov. Roosevelt. Then Mr. Seabury said:

"All I care to say tonight about the mayor's resignation is: The charges against the mayor were fully proved and corroborated in many instances by documentary evidence which was undisputed, and by the admission of the mayor. The mayor's resignation in the face of this record is equivalent to a confession of guilt.

"No intelligent person will be misled by the mayor's attempt to substitute for a defense an assault upon the good faith and motives of the legally constituted authorities. It is highly significant that this excuse is availed of by the mayor on the eve of the governor's inquiry into relations between the mayor and his fugitive agent, Sherwood."

LOYALIST FORCES IN ECUADOR OCCUPY QUITO

[Copyright, 1932: By the New York Times.]

GUAYAQUIL, Sept. 1. — Loyalist forces occupied Quito at 7 o'clock tonight, according to a telegram from the loyalist minister of war at Rio Bamba, half way to the capital.

Three of the rebellious regiments are in quarters, but the rebel artillery still is holding out. No reference was made to the armed civilian forces.

The incomplete casualty list for the first three days of fighting has 250 names.

HITS GOVERNOR AS UNFAIR; SAYS HE'LL RUN AGAIN

Hints that Al Smith Advised Him.

In the course of a withering attack upon the governor Mr. Walker announced that he would run for reelection and vindication.

The action of the mayor and his statements attributing political motives to Gov. Roosevelt make a national campaign issue of the proceedings conducted by the governor with a view to the mayor's removal.

Says Roosevelt Plays Politics.

The mayor assailed the manner in which the governor has conducted the hearings on charges brought by Samuel Seabury, counsel to the Hofstadter legislative committee, and openly asserted that Gov. Roosevelt's "verdict, whether for or against me, would not be on the merits, but dictated by political expediency."

Also, the mayor charged that the governor has a "personal interest" in the proceeding, meaning that Roosevelt's candidacy for the presidency on the Democratic ticket is wrapped up in the effort to remove Mayor Walker.

Advised by Tammany Chiefs.

Before the mayor announced his resignation in a dramatic manner at the city hall at 10:20 p. m. he had conferred with John F. Curry, leader of Tammany hall and John McCooey, leader of the Brooklyn Democracy. It is apparent that they advised the mayor to step out of office and thus end the proceedings before Roosevelt and then appeal to the voters of New York City for vindication.

One paragraph in the mayor's statement of his resignation says: "To this decision I have been urged by the most loyal and distinguished Democrats in this country."

Did Al Smith Advise It?

There was speculation as to whether this reference means that in taking the step Mr. Walker was acting on the advice of ex-Gov. Al Smith. It is the general opinion that Smith was among the "loyal and distinguished Democrats" referred to.

Also there is speculation here in New York as to how far the former governor may go in supporting Walker or in doing active injury to the cause of Gov. Roosevelt in his campaign against President Hoover. Mr. Smith has repeatedly refused to declare himself unequivocally for Roosevelt, although supporting the "Democratic ticket." Even last Sunday he dodged a luncheon meeting with Roosevelt at Westhampton.

With Smith presumably advising Walker to resign and carry his case back to the voters, the breach between Smith and Roosevelt may widen, and there is a probability that the Walker-Roosevelt issue will be fought out in the coming November presidential election, and that it will have a vital bearing on the result in the state of New York.

Another man who has urged Walker to quit office and appeal to the electorate is W. R. Hearst, the publisher.

Dispute as to When He Will Run.

There is a wide difference of opinion among legal authorities as to whether Walker will have a chance to run for reelection in November this year or whether he will have to wait until the regular mayoralty election in November of 1933. Under the charter, when the mayor dies or resigns or ceases to hold office the aldermanic president becomes mayor. In this case the immediate successor will be Joseph V. McKee.

Some lawyers contend that the charter makes it possible for a new mayor to be elected at the "next election," which in this case would be the coming November. Other legal lights insist that the charter provision means the next regular mayoralty election, which means 1933.

To Try to Run This Fall.

It is understood that Walker hopes to get on the same ticket with Roosevelt. The courts, it is believed, will have to decide the issue. It is expected the procedure will be for the secretary of state to certify the fact that there is a vacancy in the mayor's office. The Tammany controlled city authorities then will prepare to fill the vacancy at the coming election. An injunction no doubt will be sought by the anti-Tammany group, and the question will be determined in court.

There is already speculation as to whether Al Smith will himself get on

McKee, Walker Successor, Dislikes Some of His Policies

New York, Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Aldermanic President Joseph V. McKee, who, under the terms of the city charter, would succeed the mayor, has been president of the board since Jan. 1, 1926, having been nominated and elected on the city-wide ticket of Walker-Berry-McKee in 1925 and re-elected in 1929.

He is a resident of the Bronx and at the time of his election as president of the board of aldermen was one of the youngest men ever elected to a post of that importance. He is now 43 years old.

The mayor's frequent absences from city hall put the mantle of "acting mayor" on Mr. McKee's shoulders time and time again and last summer it was for an uninterrupted period of eighty-five days.

He has been known to hold different opinions from those held by the mayor on a number of controversial subjects, particularly bus and transit matters, but in the rôle of acting mayor has deemed it his duty to carry out the mayor's ideas on all matters of policy, or at least adjourn them until the mayor had returned.

Unassuming in personality, he is known as "Judge McKee," having spent some time on the bench as a justice of the City court. He resigned from the bench to accept the nomination for president of the board of aldermen in 1925.

He was born in the West Farms section of the Bronx on Aug. 8, 1889, the son of Scotch parents, John B. and Margaret Cotterson McKee. He attended public school 65 and as a boy sold newspapers in the Greenwich Village section of the city. He later was a part time newspaper reporter and an instructor in Greek, Latin, and literature, both in city high schools and at Fordham university.

He graduated from Fordham with the degrees of A. B., A. M., LL.B., and LL.D.

the ticket in the coming election. He has been suggested for mayor, in case Walker were ousted; for United States senator, and even for governor again.

If Smith persists in his antagonistic attitude toward Roosevelt, the man who beat him out of the presidential nomination in Chicago, it is possible that a combination between Smith and Walker may enliven the Hoover-Roosevelt campaign. In any event, it is openly avowed by Tammany Hall adherents that Gov. Roosevelt's handling of the Walker case will cost him the electorate vote of the state of New York.

Resignation Letter Brief.

Mayor Walker's announcement of his resignation was made public along with a copy of a letter to him from his attorney, John J. Curtin. Curtin advised the mayor that he had legal grounds for his protest of "unfairness" on the part of the governor.

The letter of resignation was very brief. It was addressed to Michael J. Cruise, city clerk. It read:

"Dear sir: I hereby resign as mayor of the city of New York, the said resignation to take effect immediately.

"Very truly yours,

"James J. Walker, Mayor."

Along with the resignation the mayor issued a long statement and his lawyer, John J. Curtin, did likewise.

Just before the two statements were given out the Mayor and his assistant, Charles F. Kerrigan, had returned to the mayor's Hotel Mayfair apartment. The mayor previously had attended the funeral of his brother, George, who died on Monday at Lake Saranac. Moreover, Mr. Walker had been reported in poor physical condition.

In Almost Gay Spirits.

At the time of his return to his hotel, however, the mayor seemed in almost gay spirits. Greeting a group of reporters who had waited at the Mayfair since midafternoon, following reports from authoritative sources that the resignation was contemplated, he paused long enough to parry some of their queries.

"Are you going to resign?" he was asked.

"Room 9, city hall," he retorted, with reference to the place where his announcement was issued later.

"How do you feel?" was the next question.

Earlier Statement Hotter.

The letter in which Mayor Walker expressed his views on the removal proceedings against him and ended with his declaration that he was submitting his case to the electorate of the city was said authoritatively to be a second draft of one he had prepared earlier in the day.

The first was described as far stronger than the revised version in its denunciation of the manner in which the removal proceedings have been conducted by Mr. Roosevelt.

Mr. Curtin's letter to the mayor included a reference to the fact that Gov. Roosevelt received as "evidence" a part of the record of the Hofstadter committee at which the mayor was not present and not accorded the right to cross-examine witnesses.

Another criticism advanced by Mr. Curtin was that certain of the charges related only to Mr. Walker's legitimate private affairs, as distinguished from his official acts, over which the governor might have had jurisdiction. Moreover, Mr. Curtin continued, the governor had been reported in the press as rejecting Justice Staley's criticism of his procedure, and had rejected evidence proffered by the mayor to show that the Hofstadter committee record was founded on bias.

WALKER STATEMENT

Mayor Walker's statement in full follows:

"A letter from my counsel, Mr. John J. Curtin, received today, has caused me to make a momentous decision. That is whether or not I shall refuse to go again to Albany to further subject myself to an un-American, unfair proceeding conducted by Gov. Roosevelt against me.

"Three weeks ago I went to Albany with my counsel confident that we would be accorded a fair hearing, conducted in accordance with the rules established under our principles of government.

"My counsel, Mr. Curtin, demanded at the opening of the hearing that the governor summon those witnesses upon whose testimony Mr. Seabury or the governor based the so-called charges against me in order that I might face them and that my counsel might have an opportunity to cross-examine them. This was denied by the governor. At no time was Mr. Seabury even called upon by the governor to name those witnesses, much less to summon them. As soon as this ruling was made I protested, but without avail.

Calls It an Inquisition.

"Day after day during the course of the proceeding it became more and more apparent that I was being subjected to an extraordinary inquisition.

"I was not accorded even the elementary rights guaranteed to any defendant in a court of law. Instead of an impartial hearing, the proceeding before the governor developed into a travesty, a mock trial, a proceeding in comparison to which even the practice of a drumhead court martial seemed liberal.

"Upon my counsel's insistence the conduct of this proceeding was submitted to the Supreme court in order that the validity of the objections of my counsel might be impartially adjudicated.

Refers to Court Decision.

"The court decided on Monday of this week that the governor proceeded in excess of jurisdiction and without warrant of law:

"First, by denying me the right, to which I am entitled under the constitution and the law, to confront accusing witnesses and cross-examine them and by his treating accusations as self-proven, without supporting evidence;

"Second, by considering as charges upon which he might act adversely a group of accusations, more than two-thirds of the total number of charges, involving no wrong in fact, and which concerned alleged incidents occurring prior to my second election, over which he has no jurisdiction under the constitution, the statutes, the decisions of the courts, and the rulings of prior executives, including Govs. Charles E. Hughes, David B. Hill, and Theodore Roosevelt.

"Third, by considering as charges upon which he might act adversely certain incidents involving no element of wrongdoing on my part, relating not to my official conduct but to my private affairs and the private affairs of others having no official relation with the city of New York.

"The Supreme court also held that it was without power to restrain the governor or prevent the invasion by him of my legal rights, which legal rights have been accorded without hesitancy by all prior governors when requested by officials under scrutiny.

"The Supreme court says that this lack of power results from the governor invoking a technicality—by making a 'special appearance' and refusing to yield jurisdiction to the courts.

"The court says this leaves me at the mercy of the governor and his avowed determination to subject me to an unlawful and unconstitutional exercise of power—a perversion of executive power—a usurpation of power without color of authority under any statutory or constitutional provision or any judicial or executive decision, all this in order that he may accomplish a wrongful and unlawful end.

"I am told that the governors in numerous states, and in England, even the king, yielded to the courts in order that no one may suffer from an unjust or illegal act of the executive or the crown.

Calls Acts Unlawful.

"I am also told that so far as the courts are concerned at present, I must submit to being outraged by the unlawful acts of the governor. I did not believe that in this day and age any man in this country would assert the right to act above the law, to exercise arbitrary and unlawful power, while conceding he did not in law possess arbitrary powers.

"The governor announced he would not yield jurisdiction to the courts, which might restrain him from doing illegal acts leveled at me, unlawful under long settled prior decisions, even before the pronouncement of Justice Staley. The governor has announced that he will persist in his illegal course.

"But I am told that I am without remedy at the present time in the courts because the governor asserts and stands on an immunity from the process of the courts which has not been asserted even in England since the time of George III., whose assertions of arbitrary power provoked the American revolutionary war.

"I am told that I am without remedy at the present time in the courts, although the conceded and substantial unlawful invasion of my rights is due to a governor who has a personal interest in the outcome of the pending proceeding of a character which would disqualify a judge acting in a corresponding capacity on the ground of bias.

"This indefensible and lawless purpose of the governor has revealed itself throughout the hearing. He has not called upon the accusers, particularly Mr. Seabury, to produce any supporting proof. Despite declarations of fairness, he has been studiously unfair. He has acted as a prosecutor, although the law requires that he be coldly neutral to both accuser and accused and that he be an impartial judge.

"He has engaged in a three cornered, futile cross-examination of my witnesses. He has exhibited discomfiture and displeasure as the unproved charges have been disproved under his eyes by uncontradicted testimony. The burden of proof of my innocence has been cast upon me by the governor's unlawful procedure.

"He has denied me access to the record of the testimony taken in private hearings by Mr. Seabury, which record was paid for by public money and would be further disproof of the charges which he is prosecuting. He denied me until a day or two ago the work sheets used by Mr. Seabury to build up a false structure of bank and stock accounts in which I have no interest or knowledge, responsibility or accountability, but which under the unlawful procedure of the governor I am called upon to have analyzed and to furnish proof that I have no concern or connection with the various items in those accounts.

"This he has done although time out of memory the burden rests on the one making an assertion to prove it. He has allowed questions to be propounded and required questions to be answered that even a first year law student would recognize were not permissible and without probative or binding force upon me.

"While the Supreme court has said, despite these unlawful acts and excess of jurisdiction on the part of the governor that I can get no present relief because the governor hides behind the technical immunity plea, yet I am not without a remedy. I can by my own act change the venue. I can change it to the supreme authority, the people themselves. I can change the place of trial so as to take it away from a biased judge acting illegally and in an avowed usurpation of power, with a personal interest in the outcome that disqualifies him as a matter of common decency from acting as a judge in the matter."

"Mr. Curtin's letter shows that not a shred of justification exists for the refusal of the governor to dismiss the charges. Apart from that it appears:

"1. Not one witness has testified that any act of mine, either of commission or omission, was influenced by any improper, illegal or dishonest consideration.

"2. Not one witness has testified that I either sought or received any money, or anything, as a consideration for any official act of mine.

"3. Not one witness has testified that I have ever done anything, either by malfeasance, misfeasance or nonfeasance, injuriously affecting the city of New York or its citizens.

"4. Not one witness has testified that I have caused the wrongful expenditure or the loss of a single dollar to the people of the city of New York, although upward of five billions of dollars have been expended during my administration as mayor.

"This uncontradicted record stands despite the expenditure of $750,000 devoted exclusively to a man hunt unsuccessfully pursued to find some means of destroying me. In addition, another $100,000 of public funds will have to be provided to defray the expenses of the hearings ordered by the governor, a high price for a mock trial.

"Under these circumstances the question which I am faced with is: Shall I permit myself to be lynched to satisfy prejudice or political ambition? I feel, if I further submit, that I would demean myself as well as the citizens of New York, who have twice honored me by electing me mayor by overwhelming majorities, because the verdict, whether for or against me, would not be on the merits but dictated by political expediency.

Answers Governor's Questions.

"I have gone as far as any one could to prove my willingness to answer questions about every act in my life. I have met my accusers and disproved their charges. I have met Mr. Seabury and answered every question. I have met the governor and answered his every question. Both exhausted themselves in examining me and told me they had no more questions to ask.

"I have not been given an opportunity to prove my record service to the city as its mayor for two terms, a record of which I am proud; a record which was acclaimed by the whole city, nor will be granted such an opportunity from the governor. That is apparent.

"Why, then, continue before him when there is another forum open to me? To that forum, the people of the city of New York, I leave my case in the spirit of true Democracy, conscious of the rectitude of my official acts and with a faith in the fair judgment of my fellow citizens.

"I am not trying to avoid responsibility. I am incurring it by submitting my case to the people who made me mayor, the people of the city of New York. To this decision I have been urged by the most loyal and distinguished Democrats in the country."

Hylan Regrets Resignation.

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Former Mayor John F. Hylan expressed regret tonight at the resignation of his successor, James J. Walker, and declared the mayor's action "carries no admission of guilt."

"There are more elements of tragedy than justice in his resignation," Hylan said. "The mayor thought he could make a sacrifice by resigning."

Saying Walker now may present his case "before the great bar of public opinion," Hylan added:

"If he does this and is found guilty he can have no complaint. Likewise, if the people voice their faith in him no one else can make a sincere objection, because when the time comes when the people cannot decide an issue we will no longer have a democracy or a republican form of government."

MAYOR WALKER DID THE PROPER THING, SAYS PAUL BLOCK

Paul Block, publisher of a chain of nine newspapers, whose "beneficence" enabled Mayor Walker to withdraw $246,000 in profits from a joint stock market account set up by Block, but in which Mayor Walker had not risked any money, expressed approval at the Drake hotel last night of Walker's resignation as mayor of New York City.

Mr. Block's testimony as to his financial dealing with the New York executive figured prominently in the Walker ouster hearings before Gov. Roosevelt at Albany.

"I think Mayor Walker did the proper thing, because he did not get a fair trial. I consider that the verdict was signed, sealed and delivered before the trial started. I am saying so editorially in my papers tomorrow."

RUSSIA ORDERS NEW INCREASE IN PRICE OF MEATS, EGGS, CHEESE

MOSCOW, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The second increase in the price of foods this year was decreed by the government today when ration stores heavily boosted the cost of meat, eggs, cheese and sour cream.

Eggs jumped from one ruble for ten to three rubles and a half; the best variety of cheese from six rubles and a half to fourteen rubles per kilogram and the secondary grade from 2.60 rubles to six rubles. The price of sour cream went from three rubles to four and a half rubles a kilogram; and meat from 1.45 rubles to 2.12 rubles per kilogram.

Since most of the products involved have not been available for some time in Russian stores, Americans and other foreigners were chiefly affected by the rises because these foods usually are stocked in the two stores operated exclusively for them. Moreover, the rations for foreigners recently were cut in half. Vegetables and seasoned fruit are plentiful, but an acute shortage is being felt in meat, eggs, and dairy products. Although bread and fish still seem to be ample to meet the demands, the average Russian citizen has very little besides vegetables in his daily diet.

$500,000 SUIT IS FILED AGAINST LAUNDRY ASS'N

Damages of $500,000 are asked in a suit filed in the Circuit court yesterday by the Edgewater laundry, 5541 Broadway, against the Chicago Laundry Owners' association and the Laundry and Dye House Drivers and Chauffeurs' union.

Only the praecipe was filed by Attorney Edward R. Litsinger, representing the Edgewater laundry. However, it was explained by Attorney Leo B. Lowenthal, counsel for the Laundry and Dry Cleaners association, an independent organization and a rival of the defendant group of owners, that it would be alleged that the union and the Chicago Laundry Owners' association entered into a conspiracy to wreck the Edgewater Laundry.

Mr. Lowenthal said the union has a contract with the large association allowing its men to work for member laundries at $30.50 a week, while other laundries must pay $40.50 a week.

Attorney Morris I. Kaplan, representing the Chicago Laundry Owners' association, did not deny the existence of the contract. Instead, he said the owners had every legal right to make it. He added that it was not a measure to force membership in the association. The fight of independent owners is with the union alone, he maintained.

SLAIN BANDIT IDENTIFIED.

The Negro bandit who was killed in an attempted holdup early yesterday by John Day, also colored, owner of a filling station at 3718 South Park way, was identified later in the day as Willie Osborne, 28 years old, 4003 Vincennes avenue.

HITLER DARES CHANCELLOR TO CLOSE REICHSTAG

Nazis Vote to Oppose Von Papen's Program.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—Adolf Hitler tonight challenged Chancellor Franz von Papen to dissolve the reichstag at a National Socialist mass meeting in the sports palace. Hitler's defi was hurled in reply to the chancellor's declaration that the Nazi leader could not have a part in ruling Germany nor would he be allowed to upset the cabinet by force of arms.

ADOLF HITLER.

"Let them dissolve the reichstag," Hitler shouted amid the cheers of 20,000 men and women. "Let them dissolve it once, twice, thrice, or a hundred times. We shall win and soon, too."

Hitler, who was accompanied by Prince August Wilhelm, assailed Von Papen's regime, calling his cabinet "a feudal club of aristocrats."

Flaunt New Slogan.

"We shall take no post in the cabinet as an act of grace," he thundered. "We shall take office as our right and we don't need an army as a prop. Our backbone is the nation itself. I am not losing my nerve as my opponents would have you believe. My opponent [President von Hindenburg] is 85 years old. I am 43 and my wind is better than his."

The large hall was decorated with streamers bearing the new Nazi slogan, "Germany is awake." The old slogan was "Germany awake!"

Earlier in the day Hitler's National Socialists marshaled their forces in the reichstag to oppose Von Papen's program for economic relief, which is chiefly designed to create work for the unemployed. The 230 Hitlerites in the reichstag unanimously voted in caucus to oppose the government's program when he presents it. Particular attention will be devoted to defeating the chancellor's proposal to permit manufacturers to reduce wages provided they increase the number of workers.

The decision to oppose the economic program was made in the face of a an undated decree already signed by President Paul von Hindenburg and in the chancellor's possession, dissolving the reichstag the moment it balks at the government's policy.

150,000 Vets Back Von Papen.

Field gray uniforms of the days of war again dotted the streets of Berlin today as 150,000 veterans assembled for their annual convention. Col. Theodor Duesterberg, leader of the Steel Helmets, issued a strong appeal to unite in support of Von Papen's government which, he said, represented the realization of Steel Helmet demands.

Col. Duesterberg declared that the words of former Kaiser Wilhelm in 1914—"I recognize no parties; I recognize only Germans"—today possess a deeper significance than ever before.

He added that the time of internal division and discord must be ended and urged the government to continue its fight for national rights, especially military equality and autonomy.

"We don't want a new war," the speaker said. "We only want justice."

The government tonight announced it has asked France for equality of military rights in principle, but so far has outlined no specific program. The government again asserted that Germany desires no increase in present military expenditures.

FRANCE SECRETIVE

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 1.—After a day spent in consultations with his aids at the Quai d'Orsay, high military officials, the chargé d'affaires of the British embassy and climaxed by a cabinet meeting over which he presided, Premier Herriot tonight had not yet reached any public decision on a reply to the German note demanding equality in armaments.

Semi-official agencies, inspired by the government, are dropping sinister hints that France's answer would be to place on the table at Geneva the famous secret dossier of Germany's alleged violations of the military clauses of the Versailles treaty which former Premier Tardieu inherited and handed over personally to Herriott. But it is understood that the government inclines towards a more moderate policy.

It is understood that the German note will be referred by France to the other signatories of the Versailles treaty under the terms of the confidence accord which was formulated at the Lausanne conference on reparation and which Germany also signed. It is believed that Herriot will remind Wilhelmstrasse that under the confidence accord the powers are pledged to consult each other on any general problems which may arise and that the question of Germany's right to equality of armament is essentially a European one.

This will be a partial triumph for German diplomacy since it will enable the reich for the first time since the war to lay their demand for equality officially before the European powers and force a discussion. Minister of Defense Kurt von Schleicher's suggestion for two way conversations between French and German military leaders has been ignored.

It is understood that a copy of the German memorandum has been sent to Washington, D. C., as well as to the various European capitals.

No Promises By Britain.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The governments of Italy, Poland and Belgium were informed officially today that the British government has not promised to support the German demand for equality in armaments.

The foreign office again has found it necessary to spike unofficial rumors and official hints from Berlin that Great Britain is standing behind the Von Papen government in its campaign to revise the armament clauses of the Versailles treaty.

In accordance with the new European consultative pact, signatory governments have been informed there has been no Anglo-German conversations on this subject since Lausanne.

This does not mean that Great Britain is going to oppose the German demands outright. On the contrary, there is every evidence today the government dreads this new European complication. There is much unofficial support in the press for the German cause but the government is keeping very quiet and not committing itself.

Pictures Taken for Tribune Contest Win Fascist Prize

Receives Award

John Lavecchia, one of the two members of the committee in charge of the International Photographic salon of the Century of Progress, has been awarded the grand prize in the portrait photography at the fair and exposition conducted by the Fascist government last May at Bologna, Italy. He said yesterday that he had received his certificate of award from Attilio Gaudio of New York, official delegate.

The Chicago photographer won the prize with a set of six portraits. Two of these were of Chicago women who won beauty and personality prizes in contests conducted by THE TRIBUNE. Yolanda Napolilli [now Mrs. R. T. Huddy of 3528 Reta street] won a prize in the $22,000 personality contest of 1929-'30, and Grace Marie Sullivan won the $1,000 prize for Chicago contestants in the Peaches beauty contest in 1927.

Mr. Lavecchia was recently made a member of the order of the cavalier of the crown of Italy.

World Traveler Home, Says Depression Is Over in England

Only a year ago there were grave doubts in the minds of Englishmen whether the empire would survive, but today the word "depression" is never heard in London, according to E. M. Newman, world traveler and lecturer, who returned yesterday after a 50,000 mile tour of the world.

"I found the people more optimistic in London than they have been in eleven years," said Mr. Newman. "All indications pointed to returning prosperity. I went to twelve shows and the theaters were filled to the last seat each time. The hotels were packed and the de luxe restaurants were doing such a rushing business that one had to make reservations."

Finds Business "Not Bad."

Newman said he followed the old American custom of asking "How's business?" when he called on Harry Selfridge, the merchant prince, and stopped in at Heath & Co. to purchase a hat. "Not bad at all," they told him.

"Evidences of this remarkable recovery and the optimism I saw in London convinced me that our trouble in this country is 75 per cent mental," said Mr. Newman. "That doesn't mean we haven't gone through the greatest economic depression in our history, but the example of England proves that our mental condition—our lack of confidence—is holding us back now.

"When England was forced to depart from the gold standard the people turned in 500 million dollars worth of their 5½ per cent bonds and exchanged them for 3½ per cent bonds. They also shouldered the burden of tremendous income tax increases without complaining. They did this 'for England,' and it is evident today that their sacrifice was well made."

Flapper Arrives in China.

Mr. Newman, who will begin a series of illustrated travel lectures at Orchestra hall, Oct. 12, was impressed by changing conditions in China, particularly the evolution of the Chinese girl student into a modern, bobbed hair, rouged, and cigaret smoking flapper—wearing beach pajamas on the street.

He explored and made pictures of the ruins of the great city built by the Khmer dynasty in Cambodia, before its conquest, probably by tribes from Burma and Siam, 1,000 years ago. Images of the Hindu god Siva and of Buddha stand side by side in the ruins of the city that was overgrown by the jungle, so that it is doubtful which religion the ancient Cambodians practiced, Mr. Newman said.

Judge Leon Edelman yesterday continued until Sept. 30 a charge of murder against Dr. William A. O'Brien, 41 years old, 4043 Melrose street, who was arrested following the death by poison of his wife, Vera. Prosecutor Thomas Johnson requested the delay to allow more time for investigation.

Ohio Man Confesses He Killed Brother and Girl

Lima, O., Sept. 1.—(AP)—County authorities tonight announced Loren Ellsworth Truesdale, 23, of Elida, had confessed he killed his brother, Earl Truesdale, 20, and Thelma Woods, 19, on the evening of Memorial day, 1931, and threw their bodies into an abandoned stone quarry near here.

SECRET AUTOPSY IS PERFORMED ON REYNOLDS' BODY

Find Bullet Ranged Downward Through Head.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Winston-Salem Journal says it was learned from authoritative sources that the body of Smith Reynolds, who was fatally wounded at his home here July 6, was exhumed Aug. 23 and an autopsy performed.

The paper says that the exhumation was ordered by Solicitor Carlisle Higgins and Assistant Solicitor J. Earle McMichael, and that four physicians were directed to make the autopsy.

Widow, Friend Indicted.

Reynolds' widow, Libby Holman Reynolds, former Broadway blues singer, and his 19 year old chum, Albert [Ab] Walker of Winston-Salem, are under murder indictments in connection with his death. They are free on $25,000 bond each.

The date of the disinterment was the day on which R. J. Reynolds Jr., elder brother of Smith, arrived in Winston-Salem after a six weeks' journey from the coast of Africa, where he was cruising at the time of the tragedy, but the Journal says he did not see the body.

No Autopsy Before Burial.

No autopsy was performed before the burial of the young heir to an estimated 15 million dollars of the fortune left by his father, R. J. Reynolds, the tobacco magnate.

Young Reynolds was found fatally wounded on a sleeping porch of Reynolda, the family estate, shortly after the dispersal of a gay birthday party. An original finding of suicide was made by Coroner W. N. Dalton, but an inquest was later ordered.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict that Reynolds came to his death at the hands of parties unknown, and Aug. 4 his widow and Walker were indicted.

Both testified at the inquest that he had threatened to take his own life.

POLICE CLEARED; FATHER OF SLAIN BOY ASKS QUIZ

D. J. Onofrio, father of Floyd Onofrio, 14 years old, 53 East Thirty-fourth street, who was shot to death by Chicago Heights policemen early Wednesday, announced last evening that he "got a dirty deal," and that he intends to appeal to State's Attorney Swanson for an investigation of the shooting. The prosecutor said he would receive Onofrio's complaint and have one of his assistants investigate.

Detectives Nick May and Joseph Saylor were exonerated by a coroner's jury, which called the shooting "justifiable homicide." The police said they attempted by all legitimate means to halt the fleeing boy and when he refused to stop they shot at him. The boy, who was helping his father deliver milk, was shot as he was leaving a gasoline filling station in Chicago Heights, where he had left a bottle of milk.

Onofrio's father said the police acted "too hastily" in shooting, and this was the opinion expressed by Assistant State's Attorney Karl Swanberg, who attended the inquest. The police said they thought the boy was fleeing after some crime.

C. J. WIELAND'S WIFE SUES AND NAMES HER RIVAL

Court Ties Up Dairy Head's Property.

Mrs. Mae Wieland of 1111 Sheridan road, Wilmette, filed suit for divorce yesterday in Circuit court against Charles J. Wieland, millionaire president of the Wieland Dairy company.

The bill charges adultery and asserts that Miss Beulah Johnson, 659 Wrightwood avenue, who is named as co-respondent, telephoned Mrs. Wieland on April 5 of this year, admitted her relations with Wieland, but stated that she had tired of him and "had thrown him out of her apartment."

Recites 14 Years' Gifts.

Mrs. Wieland charges in her bill that her husband lavished money on Miss Johnson over a period of 14 years. He gave her, she charges, an expensive automobile, an apartment building, and valuable stocks and bonds.

Wieland now has an income of $45,000 a year, the bill states. When the stock of the Wieland Dairy company was sold several years ago to the Borden interests, it states, Wieland's share of the $19,000,000 purchase price was $3,000,000. He also owns the family home in Wilmette, a summer home in McHenry county, an apartment building at 6308 North Artesian avenue, and other real estate in Chicago, the bill states.

Wieland lives now at the Medinah Athletic club. Until recently he was paying Mrs. Wieland $1,500 a month, but he has cut that sum to $1,000 a month, she charges.

Judge Grants Injunction.

As soon as her bill was filed Mrs. Wieland went before Judge George Fred Rush with her attorney, Charles S. Cooley. Judge Rush granted an injunction restraining Wieland from disposing of any of his property or from entering the Wilmette home.

The Wielands were married in 1904 and have two grown children. Mrs. Wieland is 48 years old and her husband is 55, the bill states. In 1915 Mrs. Wieland filed another bill for divorce, which was later dropped, in which she charged her husband with adultery and named six co-respondents.

JOHN W. ESMOND MARRIES WIDOW OF MINNEAPOLIS

Mrs. Silas M. Ford of St. Paul announced yesterday that her daughter, Mrs. Adietta Ford Van Hagen, and John W. Esmond, retired Chicago broker, had been married and will leave Montreal tomorrow for a wedding trip to Europe. They will make their home in St. Paul.

Mrs. Ford declined to state where the wedding was solemnized, but added the information that the couple have been motoring in the east.

Until about two years ago Mr. Esmond was connected with E. H. Rollins & Sons, investment bankers. He was married in 1923 to Mary Campbell Letfingwell of Highland Park, who divorced him in July of this year. The bride is the widow of George E. Van Hagen Jr., who was a Chicagoan.

Mr. Esmond has a large estate at Barrington. He is a member of the Chicago and Racquet clubs and several other organizations.

Evanston Woman Takes Drug; Drives to Hospital

Mrs. Irma MacDonald, 32 years old, of 915 Michigan avenue, Evanston, drove to the St. Francis hospital last night and told nurses that she had swallowed bichloride of mercury. Later Evanston police interviewed her and she changed her story, asserting that she had merely taken an overdose of a nerve sedative. Physicians said that she probably would recover. Mrs. MacDonald is the wife of William F. MacDonald, owner of a building supply business at Deerfield.

WIDOW POLLAK IS ACQUITTED OF KILLING HUSBAND

Pollak was about to attack his wife when he was shot. The prosecution charged that Pollak had no knife and that the slaying was a murder executed to get an "old man" out of the way of a youthful, good looking wife.

To support this theory the prosecutors introduced evidence to show that Mrs. Schultz, a witness to the shooting, had given the police a large black handled carving knife as the one that Pollak held, but that Mrs. Pollak had said his weapon was a paring knife. A paring knife was subsequently produced by Attorney Samuel Hoffman, who first represented the defense, after the police in a search of the Pollak apartment had failed to find such a knife.

The testimony concerning the knife on which Judge Fisher based the acquittal verdict was given on Wednesday by Assistant State's Attorney Michael V. Ostrowski, a prosecution witness. Ostrowski told of overhearing a conversation in Polish between Dorothy and her father, Simon Myssa, who later disappeared and was not available as a trial witness, in which Myssa accused his daughter of committing a cold blooded murder.

Judge Fisher's Reasoning.

Judge Fisher ruled out all of this testimony. But Ostrowski also testified that he overheard Mrs. Pollak say to Mrs. Schultz in Polish at the coroner's inquest that the black handled carving knife was not the one that Pollak had. This showed, the judge said, that there was a knife.

"If to the defendant it was apparent she was in great danger, the law permits her to repel an attack under those conditions," Judge Fisher said. "The law of self-defense is a law of nature. And where the killing is actually self-defense, the law regards it as a definite right.

"The question of the knife is a vital point. Nothing in the evidence refutes the fact that he [Pollak] held a knife and contemplated violence. From the nature of the case, the state could not refute that testimony and sought to construct a different theory from certain discrepancies.

Discrepancy Is Discussed.

"Undoubtedly there is considerable discrepancy in the testimony as to the use and character of the knife or why it was not found in the search.

"But the court must take into consideration in a case as serious as this the circumstances surrounding the testimony in determining whether or not falsity, if there was such, was wilfully made or whether the discrepancies were due to honest mistakes. The court cannot understand why Mr. Hoffman was not produced as a witness by one side or the other.

"The court must consider the excitement of the moment and the quickness of the actual shooting.

Aided by Inquest Conversation.

"The testimony of the conversation at the coroner's inquest is one of those bits of evidence that creep in almost unnoticed to shed light on a troublesome question. It made a doubt in the court's mind, resolved into a fairly reasonable one.

"Reasonable doubts under the principle of law must be resolved in favor of the defendant. The burden of proof is on the state. The state succeeded in presenting a remarkably reasonable theory of events as they occurred, but the state should show proof beyond a reasonable doubt.

"I must confess that I cannot say I really know what happened in that apartment. Under the law I must, therefore, acquit."

GUN WIDOW TESTIFIES

Before the grand climax of the acquittal the crowd of court spectators heard Dorothy tell her story from the witness stand. She painted a picture of the much abused wife, who, although beaten and kicked, still loved her husband more than ever, even though he was 25 years older than she.

Dorothy was dressed in the mourning costume which she has worn since she laid "poor old Joe" away in style in a $5,000 casket. She wore a small black hat, a black dress with a cowl neckline of white crêpe, dotted with sparkling gold beads. Her only jewelry was the diamond studded wedding ring given to her by Joe.

Dorothy's Big Moment.

The spectators, who were jammed in every available corner, hunched forward in their chairs as Attorney O'Brien, a few minutes after 11 o'clock, went over to Mrs. Pollak's chair and tapped her on the shoulder. The widow's big moment had arrived and she walked to the witness stand with a steady step. Just as she got herself comfortably seated, and her black dress straightened out, Judge Fisher disappointed the crowd by announcing a recess.

Following the recess of ten minutes Mrs. Pollak, who had repaired to the anteroom to get usual attentions from the bailiffs, resumed her chair.

"Now, Dorothy, I want you to speak up so that we can hear every word you say," Attorney O'Brien said to her. The questioning then went on as follows:

Q.—When were you married? A.—October, 1929.

Q.—Where did you first go to live with your husband? A.—4800 Drexel boulevard.

Q.—How long did you live there? A.—Almost one year.

Cautioned to Speak Up.

Dorothy was speaking in a rapid fire manner, but her voice did not carry and few persons heard her answers. Her attorney cautioned her to speak up. The prosecutors complained that even they could not hear what she was saying.

Q.—When did you go to live at 1936 West Garfield boulevard? A.—It will be one year ago this October.

Q.—After you were married did you have any trouble? A.—Yes, I did. (This was said in an emphatic tone.)

Q.—What was the occasion? A.—The phone rang and it was a woman calling Joe and asking him where she should move. I asked Joe about it and he slapped me.

Q.—When was the next time you had trouble? A.—It was in 1931 at 51st street and Ashland avenue. We were driving by and saw Mrs. Julia Cebulski. I asked Joe why he stopped to talk to her and he stuck his foot out and struck me in the stomach.

"Wait a minute; we would like to have her talk louder," said Prosecutor Mast. "We cannot hear one word she is saying."

The witness was talking rapidly, but in a low voice, somewhat like a frightened schoolgirl who was reciting a well learned lesson to the teacher. She was talking to the judge and her voice did not carry to those who were sitting directly in front of her.

Q.—When you married Joe did you love him? A.—Yes, I did.

Q.—When you married him did you give him $1,250. A.—I did.

Q.—When he kicked you in front of Mrs. Cebulski did you love him? A.—Yes.

Q.—And did you forgive him and go home with him? A.—Yes.

Dorothy was speaking louder now. Up to this time she showed no sign of tears, although it was obvious she was somewhat nervous.

An Incident of Last June.

Q.—Did anything happen in June of this year? A.—Yes, we were going to my mother's. I saw some one I knew and waved at him. Joe slapped me in the mouth. When we reached mother's I had a handkerchief over my face. Mother asked me what happened and when I told her she got real pale and talked to Joe.

Q.—Did Joe say something at that time about when he fixed you everybody would read it in the papers? A.—Yes, he did.

Q.—Did you go home with Joe after that incident? A.—No, he went out by himself.

Q.—Now, do you remember an occurrence last Labor day? A.—Yes, I danced with a schoolboy friend at a church festival and after the dance I took him over to introduce him to Joe. Joe slapped me so hard I fell over. I was so embarrassed that we went home.

Q.—Did you love Joe then and go home with him? A.—Yes.

STORY OF THE SHOOTING

Attorney O'Brien by his next questions indicated that he did not desire to have Dorothy's past dragged out before the public. He did not go into her past associations with such gangland characters as the late Dingbat Oberta, but skipped right to the time of the shooting.

Q.—Now, taking you up to the time of the shooting on July 27, tell us what happened. A.—Joe came home a little after 5 o'clock. I asked him where he had been and he said it was none of my business. I told him it was and he struck me across the face with a paper he had in his right hand. He grabbed me by the shoulder and I tried to break away. He then went out of the room and I sat down on the divan.

Dorothy was again talking in a low voice and had to be stopped in her answer and cautioned by Judge Fisher to speak up. She continued:

"I was sitting with my head in my hand and I heard Mrs. Schultz scream: 'He has a knife!' I was terribly excited and I don't know if it was a large one or a small one.

Reaches for the Gun.

"I reached over to the commode and took the revolver. I said: 'Joe, don't come near me'; and he said: 'I dare you to shoot.' He made a step and I shot. I did not mean to strike him; I only meant to keep him away."

Q.—Did he say something about your heart? A.—Yes, he said he would cut out my heart.

Q.—Did you love him then? A.—Yes.

The spectators apparently thought this was an occasion for a giggle, but the judge soon stopped the demonstration by announcing that order must be maintained or the offenders would be ejected. Silence prevailed as Dorothy continued.

Q.—Then what did you do? A.—I ran downstairs and asked them to get me an ambulance. I was so excited.

Q.—Whose gun was that? A.—Joe's.

Q.—Had you seen that gun before that day? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you tell Assistant State's Attorney Ostrowski that you found that gun 10 years ago? A.—I never did.

"Never Touched a Gun Before."

Q.—Did you ever touch that gun before that night? A.—I never touched a gun before in my life.

Q.—Did you ever have your husband arrested? A.—Yes, he struck me something terrible and threw me down so that I had headaches.

Q.—Did you ask the judge to give him another chance? A.—Yes.

Q.—And did you come to my office about a divorce and then say you would give him another chance? A.—Yes.

Q.—How much did your husband weigh? A.—I don't know, about 150 pounds.

Q.—Were you afraid he would cut you with the knife? A.—Yes, I was afraid of my life. He was grinding his teeth and using vile language.

Q.—How were his eyes? A.—Wild looking and white.

Attorney O'Brien started to turn the witness over for cross-examination and then apparently remembered that he had not touched on the fact that the state charged the murder was premeditated because Dorothy had made no provision for the evening meal. He continued:

Q.—Did you make arrangements for supper that night? A.—Yes.

Q.—Had you purchased groceries and meat? A.—Yes, they were on the kitchen sink.

THE CROSS-EXAMINATION

Q.—How old are you? A.—Twenty-six.

Q.—What name were you christened under? A.—Victoria.

Q.—And Dorothy is your confirmation name? A.—Yes.

Q.—What school did you go to?

Attorney O'Brien showed his hand at this point when he objected to the prosecution going into any of Dorothy's past. He pointed out that he had confined himself only to the period of the marriage of the silky dealer and his young wife. Judge Fisher, however, ruled that the prosecution in a general way could touch on other subjects. Dorothy said she had gone as far as the eighth grade in St. Casimir's school.

Q.—Was it at that school you met the boy friend you danced with at the church festival? A.—Yes.

Q.—What is his name? A.—I don't recall.

The prosecutor then showed that Pollak had liked Bohemian cooking and had to show Dorothy how to become proficient in that culinary art.

Denies Previous Marriage.

Q.—Were you ever married before? A.—No.

Q.—Never? A.—No.

Q.—Now show me on this diagram where you were sitting when Joe came at you with the knife? A.—On the davenport near the commode.

Q.—Where was Victoria Schultz? A.—I just don't remember. I was so upset.

Q.—Well, you had talked to her before you saw Joe with the knife? A.—When I saw him with the knife you know how I felt.

Q.—But where was she? A.—In the chair opposite me [she indicated a distance of about eight feet].

Prosecutor Mast raised his voice and in a dramatic manner outlined the events leading up to the shooting in asking just where Joe was when Dorothy first saw him with the knife. Attorney O'Brien objected to the "manner" of the prosecutor and the judge instructed Mast to speak in an even tone. Mast went to another question.

Q.—Now, Dorothy, how long did it take you to get to the commode? A.—Not over five seconds to pull out the drawer. I said: "Don't come near me," and when he took a step, that is why I shot.

Insists Gun Was Joe's.

Dorothy was speaking deliberately now and her voice was stronger. She insisted that the revolver belonged to Joe and that she knew he kept it in the drawer.

Q.—Isn't it a fact that he left the revolver on top of the dresser that morning? A.—No, sir.

Q.—And the safety catch was on it? A.—I don't know anything about revolvers.

Prosecutor Mast had her demonstrate just how far away Joe was and how he took the step when she shot. Mast then resumed the questioning.

Q.—Isn't it a fact that Joe came out of the bedroom and never went into the kitchen? A.—No, he didn't come out of the bedroom, I beg your pardon.

The prosecutor made her reenact the scene again and Dorothy's voice started to quaver as she showed how Joe took a step and she fired.

Q.—Did you see the blade of the knife? A.—Yes, I saw something shiny.

Q.—Did you make a statement to the police? A.—About what?

Q.—About this case?

Dorothy hesitated. She looked at her attorney for encouragement and remained silent.

Q.—Didn't Lieut. Flanagan ask you about the knife? A.—I don't remember.

Q.—Do you still think it was a paring knife? A.—I couldn't say.

Q.—Isn't it a fact that you were sure it was a paring knife until you saw the big butcher knife produced in this court? A.—No.

Q.—Isn't it a fact that it was then that you became doubtful as to which knife it was? A.—I just don't remember.

She Stands by Her Story.

Q.—Now isn't it a fact that the truth is that Joe was only in the bedroom and never was in the kitchen? A.—No.

Q.—And that he was only home three or four minutes before you shot him? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Who was that man who was at your house before Joe came home? A.—Nobody came to my house. I never had any man there.

Judge Fisher then asked some questions as to whether Mrs. Pollak's father was at home when the shooting occurred, but she denied this.

When this questioning was concluded Prosecutor Mast called for Alonzo Sacro, the Filipino, who, according to the state, was Dorothy's husband before her marriage to Pollak.

Dorothy sought to talk when she heard the name. Attorney O'Brien shushed her even though Judge Fisher indicated he wanted to listen.

"They wanted to bring something up," was all that could be made out of her remarks.

The judge ruled that Sacro could not testify; that whether he was married to the defendant at one time had no bearing on the murder charge.

Mrs. Cebulski on Stand.

Then came the dramatic entry as a rebuttal witness for the state of Mrs. Julia Cebulski, the woman Dorothy accused of being her rival for the affections of Joe. Mrs. Cebulski was dressed for the court appearance in a flapperish black and white sleeveless dress, set off by a red fox fur piece and a rope of imitation pearls.

Although much older than the defendant, she showed more animation as she took the stand and, under the questioning of Prosecutor Mast, denied that Joe had ever kicked Dorothy in her presence, as the widow charged.

Mrs. Cebulski denied that she had been over friendly with Pollak, but said she had known him for 14 years. She was on her vacation and not with Joe on the day of the shooting, she said.

SWANSON GETS A SOFT ANSWER FROM SECRET 6

Grand Jury Probe of Jamie Charges Suggested.

State's Attorney Swanson yesterday called upon the Secret Six to produce proof to support charges of a "political - criminal cabal" made by Alexander Jamie, chief investigator for the Secret Six. The prosecutor received a soft answer, but there developed the possibility of a special grand jury inquiry into charges made by Jamie that he had found that operatives of the state's attorney's office had tapped one of his secret telephone wires.

R. I. RANDOLPH.

Robert I. Randolph, ostensible head of the private investigating service sponsored by the Association of Commerce, and Mr. Jamie appeared willing to end the controversy engendered by the discovery the two offices were spying upon each other. Mr. Randolph said the charge made by Jamie did not imply any indictment of Mr. Swanson, nor was there any implication of anything specific. Certain phases of the prosecutor's office are under investigation and in due time whatever is learned will be disclosed to Mr. Swanson, Mr. Randolph said. Mr. Jamie remained silent.

Jury Inquiry Suggested.

Mr. Randolph and Mr. Jamie were asked if they would prefer to reveal any evidence they might have to the special grand jury impaneled last spring during an election controversy. They were noncommittal.

Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher of the Criminal court, who impaneled the special grand jury and appointed Edmund D. Adcock as special state's attorney, said he would take cognizance of anything presented to him regarding the Jamie-Swanson controversy and then would ask the county board if it cared to finance an independent investigation. If so, Jamie could present his "cabal evidence" to the special jury, he said.

Prosecutor Swanson admitted having been the creator of the Secret Six, after Mr. Randolph's declaration of the previous evening that Swanson was the father of the organization and that it was supposed to be working for him and not against him. The state's attorney said, however, that like many another child, the Secret Six has become unruly. His formal statement was as follows:

"The press presents a strange and curious anomaly—viz.: a department of the Association of Commerce, created at my request and with the cooperation of Mr. Randolph for the purpose of investigating crime, conducting an investigation of the office at whose request it was organized, and operating so secretly that even Mr. Randolph is not taken into the secret.

"I welcome the most thorough and searching investigation of the acts of myself and my assistants. Such an investigation would show that 500 more criminals were convicted and sent to prison in the first three years of my term than in the full four year term of any previous state's attorney, and that the murder rate in Chicago has been reduced 50 per cent during my term as a direct result of the fact that more murderers were convicted and executed during my first three years than during the full four year term of any predecessor.

Cites Racketeer Convictions.

"More bombers, kidnapers, and racketeers have been convicted during my term than in all the twenty-five years preceding it. Over 1,000 rackets have been suppressed. These things could not have been accomplished except by an honest staff, well organized and fearlessly led.

"I have never hesitated to act vigorously in relation to any complaint made against any employé of my office. I will act vigorously in the future if any complaints are brought to my attention. The fullest cooperation of every department of my office has been gladly extended at all times to Mr. Jamie and his associates of the Secret Six."

OLD WILL GIVING KRENN 1 MILLION IS KEPT SECRET

Order for Suppression Adds to Mystery.

The mystery concerning a will written by Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick in July, 1931, which was superseded by her last will written on last Aug. 4, deepened yesterday when the document was returned to the safety deposit box in the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company from which it had been taken.

C. S. CUTTING.

Instead of filing the will in the Probate court, the customary place for deposit of all wills written by a person, the document will remain in the box permanently, former Judge Charles S. Cutting announced.

One Million for Krenn.

Although Mr. Cutting drew the former will he said he could remember none of its provisions except that Edwin Krenn, Mrs. McCormick's friend and adviser, was bequeathed $1,000,000. In her last will, Mrs. McCormick gave Krenn five-twelfths of her estate, the value of which has been estimated officially at $10,000,000.

The attorney refused to discuss reports that the phraseology of the former will, especially in its reference to Krenn, had caused its suppression.

"Filing of the old will would accomplish no good and would only add to the confusion," said Mr. Cutting.

Old Will "Plenty Different."

The will was about to be taken to the Probate court Wednesday by Frederick Nourse, safety deposit box official of the bank, when the Chicago Title and Trust company, administrator of the estate, hastily ordered that it be returned to the vault.

Interest in the will was aroused when Oscar Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge Horner, was told over the telephone by T. F. Ryan, investigator for the state treasurer's office, who was one of those who read the will, that it was "plenty different from the last will."

Mr. Caplan was unable to get Ryan into court yesterday. There will be no difficulty in obtaining his presence, however, according to Eugene Holland, in charge of the inheritance tax division of the state treasurer's office.

Offers to Produce Ryan.

"If Mr. Caplan wishes to question Ryan," he said, "all he needs to do is to call my office and I will see that he attends."

The procedure in such cases was outlined by Mr. Holland. He said that his office takes possession of and makes an examination of all safe deposit boxes of deceased persons. A report on the contents is then forwarded to the attorney general's office and that office decides whether the property may be released to authorized persons. The only exception is that a deputy clerk of the Probate court is sometimes allowed to take out a will.

Mr. Holland indicated that his report would not be made until he confers this morning with Assistant Attorney General Harry Ash, and that until this conference the contents of the box, including the will, must remain undisturbed.

Old Wills Often Helpful.

While the law does not hold that all wills which have been written by a deceased person must be filed in court, such a procedure is common, it was said by probate law authorities. In the event of a contest or dispute over the meaning of the will the person's intentions may be clearly brought out by former wills, it was pointed out.

Reports that Krenn had disappeared from the city were ridiculed by attorneys and business associates last night. He was, however, said to be extremely nervous and near a breakdown.

Meanwhile, the trust company began the lengthy process of determining the exact value of the estate. The predictions were that a year will elapse before a complete inventory can be drawn and the final steps taken which will lead to admission of the will in the Probate court.

SUMMER WANES, BUT PLEAS TO ICE FUND CONTINUE

Mothers' Letters Tell Needs of Poor.

Even though the summer is waning appeals for ice for needy families are still coming in large numbers to THE TRIBUNE Free Ice fund.

"Up to now I got along without appealing for aid," writes one mother, "but the time has come when I must turn to someone and I trust I shall not be denied. Our ice box is empty and our baby son's milk will not keep through the night. We fed him on a prepared milk until three weeks ago, but he was so undernourished that we were advised to put him on cow's milk, which is furnished us by the unemployment relief.

"Ten days ago I was given an ice ticket by the welfare station. The nurse in charge said she did not know whether she would have the tickets to continue giving them or not. I have not been able to return to the station as I get about on crutches and the distance is to far for me to go."

And from another mother: "I am writing to appeal to you for some relief in the way of ice to preserve our food and protect the health of our children. Our four children range in ages from 4 to 10 years and they are in need of ice to keep their milk fresh."

So the need for ice is still great. TRIBUNE readers gifts to the ice fund, whether a few cents or a few dollars, will be gratefully welcomed, and will be put to work immediately delivering ice to the neediest homes in the city. The gifts may be sent to the cashier of TRIBUNE.

Contributions may also be sent to the Camp Algonquin fund in care of the cashier of THE TRIBUNE. This fund provides free vacations for tenement mothers and children.

CAMPAIGN TO CUT COSTS EXTENDED INTO VIRGINIA

Extension of the operations of the National Organization to Reduce Public Expenditures into three more states was announced yesterday by George W. Rossetter, general chairman of the tax fighting movement.

In Virginia, he said, the leadership has been undertaken by William H. Schwarzchild, president of the Richmond Central National bank and president of the Richmond chamber of commerce. Thomas Hall III., state chairman of the George Federation of Taxpayers' associations, will be the standard bearer in his state. In North Carolina, George C. Scott of Charlotte, prominent industrialist, will act as chairman.

START CANNING CAMPAIGN TO AID NEEDY FAMILIES

A canning campaign, through which the Volunteers of America expect to save many bushels of fruit and vegetables for the feeding of poor families this winter, was started yesterday. More than 100 bushels of vegetables were canned and stored by a corps of Volunteers and friends who contributed their services.

The vegetables, donated by commission merchants, were taken by Volunteers of America trucks to the headquarters at 2341 Washington boulevard where canning facilities have been established.

"Orchard owners, farmers, and gardeners are invited to contribute surplus produce to this project," Col. H. Smith, local commander of the organization, announced. "Trucks will be sent to pick up donations if they are in bushel quantities.

"Our welfare department expects greater need this winter among poor families than we have had for the last two years. With the canning of fruit and vegetables we can do much to prevent the waste that usually occurs."

GIRL KILLS SELF ON DAY FATHER BECOMES MAYOR

Fredericksburg, Va., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Miss Elizabeth Payne, 25 year old daughter of Mayor R. J. Payne, was found fatally wounded by a pistol bullet today in her brother's office where she was employed. A verdict of suicide was returned tonight by Coroner John E. Cole.

Miss Payne, a prominent member of society here, died several hours after she was found lying on the floor by Robert Olney, a business associate whose pistol she used. She never regained consciousness.

Coroner Cole said investigation showed that Miss Payne had evidently tested the pistol by firing a shot fro mthe office doorway into the yard.

A search failed to reveal any note. Friends said she had been in a nervous condition recently.

Her father, a practicing physician, and a first cousin of John Barton Payne, president of the American Red Cross, was elected mayor in June without opposition, and took office today.

What Is Sleep? Test with Frog Gives Scientists New Idea

YORK, England, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A new idea of what sleep really is—discovered that it seems to be controlled by the amount of iodine in the blood—was reported today to the British association for the advancement of science.

Thyroxin, the iodine-containing secretion of the thyroid gland, apparently is the sleep-controlling substance, said Dr. G. S. Carter. It does its work in reverse fashion from artificial sleep-producing drugs, however. Sleep seems to come when the supply of thyroxin in the blood is decreased, not increased.

The winter-long "sleep" or hibernation that is habitual for many animals also seems to be controlled by thyroxin, Dr. Carter said his experiments showed.

Experiment with Frogs.

He tried thyroxin on frogs, which have a different temperature and pulse rate in winter while hibernating than in summer when they are active. When thyroxin was added to the heart of a hibernating frog, its temperature and pulse increased to the summer level. Thyroxin was the only gland secretion that had this effect.

Leather-lunged orators to the contrary, the human voice was pictured as a "weak sister" when it comes to energy producing power, by Dr. G. W. C. Kaye.

If the entire population of London, which the English maintain is the world's largest city, were to shout at the top of its lungs, the noise would produce only one horsepower of energy, he said.

Even if all the Londoners should keep on shouting as loud as possible for two minutes the acoustical energy expended would generate barely enough heat to make one cup of tea for one Londoner.

No Two Creatures Alike.

Unpleasant noises can be shut out more effectively by isolating them than by using sound absorbing walls and such devices.

In the process of evolution it almost never happens that two creatures are exactly alike, even though they may appear to be so, Baron Rothschild, zoologist, informed the scientists.

No two fleas even are alike, he said, and so variable is nature that a million billion fleas would be needed to find two specimens absolutely alike in the number and position of the bristles on their bodies. Baron Rothschild maintains the world's most famous collection of fleas in his own private museum.

Three hours of debate on the origin of the ancient Romans brought only the conclusion that nobody knows. Young scholars who won't leave well enough alone have upset all previous ideas about ancient Rome, said Prof. E. J. Rose.

Digestion Aids Evolution.

Man, like Napoleon's army, marched to his present heights on his stomach, the scientists were also told. Shakespeare, this theory would indicate, wrote "Hamlet" because he did not have to spend all day absorbing beefsteak.

Dr. C. M. Yonge declared that efficient digestion aided evolution. It has enabled higher animals to spend less time on absorbing food and more on improving themselves.

Low forms of life, consisting of one or a few cells, live as slaves to the nourishment processes. They spend most of their time "swallowing" or absorbing food, digesting it, and eliminating indigestible parts. They have little time or energy left for development.

The higher animals digest food outside the cells of the body. The cells get only "predigested," liquid food. As a result these animals take much less time and trouble for feeding. They are free to develop. That's one reason, it seems, why Einstein is smarter than the amoeba.

Kingsley, Son of Insurance Magnate, Divorced in Reno

Reno, Nev., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Mrs. Darwin P. Kingsley Jr., daughter-in-law of the chairman of the New York Life Insurance company, obtained a divorce on the ground of mental cruelty at a private court hearing here today. Mrs. Kingsley's presence in Reno was not revealed until the suit was heard, although her husband announced in New York July 9 they had separated and a divorce was planned. The elder Mr. Kingsley is seriously ill in Long Island.

47% OF TAXES STILL UNPAID; A CHICAGO RECORD

137 Million Delinquency on Bill for 1930.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Only 53 per cent of the 1930 taxes for Cook county have been paid. The delinquent 47 per cent means that $137,000,000 of the tax bill remains unpaid.

The enormity of that delinquency may be presented more vividly by a comparison of the value of property which has paid and not paid 1930 taxes. The appraisal of the assessors listed 12 billion 206 million dollars worth of taxable property in the county. Of that total five billion 734 million dollars' worth of property—real estate, personal and railroad—has not paid taxes for 1930.

No record in the history of the county—not even during the period of the great fire of 1871—shows such a proportion of unpaid taxes.

Levy and Collection Compared.

The 1930 taxes collected, in comparison with the taxes levied, are shown in the following table:

Property—	Taxes Assessed.	Amount Collected.	Pct. Coll'd.
Railroad ...	13,240,177	10,470,394	76.48
Personal ...	55,492,230	26,399,778	47.57
Totals ...	$5,706,924,585	$3,153,234,395	52.78

It has taken 183 days—more than six months, to collect the 153 million dollars, which is an unusually long time for collections in Chicago. Three times the penalty date has been shoved forward to give property owners all the time possible in which to pay.

To give more encouragement, County Treasurer McDonough inaugurated a four payment plan, and County Judge Jarecki reduced the penalty for owners who availed themselves of the plan. Yet only 53 per cent of the taxes have been paid.

Educators Demand Public Pay.

Some of the unpaid public employes, but principally the educators of the school system, have urged that the property owners be forced to pay the taxes assessed. They have argued that the owners can be compelled to pay if they are gone after vigorously.

Dr. George D. Strayer of Columbia university, who conducted a survey of the public schools at a cost of $100,000, recommended that the schools be closed to compel the property owners to pay their taxes.

That theory has been rejected by every leading student of local taxation. They believe the vast majority of the property owners do not have the cash with which to pay their share of the cost of government. They reason that it is unbelievable that taxes on five billion 734 million dollars' worth of property would not have been paid if the owners had the cash.

Difficulties of Delinquency.

Tax delinquency for the owner of real estate involves him not only in the penalties and interest which accrue, but in other difficulties which require time, trouble and money to straighten out. The tax experts assert it is unreasonable to suppose that the owners of four billion 900 million dollars' worth of Cook county real estate would default on taxes if they had the money with which to pay.

Not only the tax specialists but bankers and owners of large properties have repeatedly asserted that property owners have been assessed beyond their ability to pay.

The D. F. Kelly committee, the citizens' committee on public expenditures headed by Fred W. Sargent, the joint tax commission headed by George O. Fairweather, and others have urged public officials, especially those of the school board, to reduce expenses so that the tax bill would come within the ability of the property owners to pay.

Limited Success So Far.

Those efforts have met with limited success so far, although some of the officials appear to realize, in part, the seriousness of the situation. Some are beginning to inquire privately when the $137,000,000 of 1930 delinquent taxes will be paid.

At the present rate of payment—about $65,000 a day—less than $5,000,000 more will be paid on the 1930 bill before the books are closed next Christmas. The most liberal estimate of payments before the holidays is $5,500,000, which would leave $131,400,000 still uncollected. When that estimated final delinquency will be paid no one has yet ventured a guess.

The county collector has explained that he cannot force the property owners to pay if they do not have the money. All he can do under the present law is to "sell the property for the taxes," as it is usually phrased. What is actually done, however, is to auction off to individuals known as tax buyers the privilege of paying the taxes.

Tax Buyers Helpless Now.

But there are no tax buyers with $131,000,000, nor with a twentieth of that sum. Nor can they borrow $131,000,000, nor a substantial sum with which to pay taxes, because the banks and investment houses cannot estimate when they would get their money back. They cannot guess when the owners of the delinquent properties will be able to pay taxes.

So, experts say, the prospect is slim of collecting a substantial part of the $131,000,000 in the near future. The popular view is that 1930 taxes are unreasonably high and that hundreds of thousands of property owners cannot pay them.

13,000 AT WORK CLEANING CITY FOR RELIEF PAY

Some 13,000 men who are living in the shelters of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission are being given about one day's work in each fortnight at cleaning up vacant lots, space beneath elevated railway structures, and other unsightly spots about the city.

They are paid 70 cents an hour, the regular rate for such work, but instead of cash are given service tickets. One day's work earns them thirteen days' food and lodging in one of the shelters for the unemployed. In addition, each man is paid 25 cents in cash.

"To enact laws . . . in relation to the organization and regulation of corporations formed wholly for the purpose of providing housing for families of low income or for the reconstruction of slum areas.

"To enact laws . . . in relation to the power or authority of municipal corporations and political subdivisions of the state to enter into contracts and borrow money from the Reconstruction Finance corporation and to enable municipal corporations and political subdivisions of the state to comply with the terms of the act of congress known as the 'emergency relief and construction act of 1932' and of the Reconstruction Finance corporation in administering that act.

"To enact laws . . . in relation to empowering banks to borrow money and pledge the assets as securities.

"To enact laws . . . in relation to the issuance of notes or warrants by boards of education and school districts in anticipation of the payment of principal and interest on bonds."

The remaining sections had to do with the Chicago pension statutes and the N. S. F. checks.

MEN WHO WORK ON HOOVER DAM LIVE IN LUXURY

Air Cooled Apartments and Swimming Pool.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Uncle Sam has sent $2,000,000 of the taxpayers' money out to the federal reservation at Boulder City, Nev., to provide the government employés of the Hoover dam project with artificially air cooled apartments, individual rooms, a swimming pool, and other fancy refinements not usually found in a reconstruction camp.

This pleasant picture of the camp was recently made public by the interior department as an adjunct to the junket to Hoover dam, and to the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys, upon which members of the senate committee on irrigation and reclamation is now engaged.

This junket, termed a "committee of investigation," was asked for by Senator Johnson [Rep., Cal.] last March. He then asked for an appropriation of $20,000. This senate resolution was referred to the committee on audit and control. Then came the economy wave and the civilian fight against government expenditure. When Senator Johnson called up the resolution June 27 the appropriation had been cut from $20,000 to $5,000, and was passed with the lower figure.

Federal Report Reveals Pride.

Referring to the two millions expended by the government for creature comforts at Boulder City, the interior department's recent report states:

"Single men live in air cooled dormitories, one man to a room, with modern shower baths and toilet facilities. Married men do not live in tents, usual in construction camps, but in comfortable houses."

An earlier report for 1931 has designated the houses for married couples as four room houses, of graceful design and good equipment. "A mess hall," the recent report to the senate committee continues, "furnishes all the food that may be asked at moderate charges. The committee will be shown the dormitories, the scrupulously clean kitchens of the mess hall, the water supply system, the sewage plant, and other facilities affecting comfort and health of the men, all of which have been the subject of exhaustive Harvard university study."

Rising Scale of Costs.

The Hoover dam project has already been the recipient of $48,660,000 of federal funds.

Formally inaugurated with the approval of President Hoover on July 3, 1930, its first congressional appropriation was $10,660,000. This was increased on Feb. 4, 1931, by a further appropriation of $15,000,000. Last session of congress appropriated 23 millions, in three separate items: Six millions at the beginning of the year, 7 millions later, and 10 millions in the relief bill.

Of this total appropriation of $48,660,000, the interior department reports that $21,745,000 has already been spent, leaving an unspent balance of approximately 27 millions.

Owner of $500,000 Yacht Calls Rum Cargo 'Medicine'

Kenneth G. Smith, president of the Pepsodent company, explained yesterday to customs officials that $2,500 worth of choice liquors found on his $500,000 yacht, the Kenkora II., was used for medicinal purposes and "for the guests." The vessel was placed under guard Monday night at the foot of Monroe street when government agents spied the 281 bottles of liquor on board.

Smith appeared yesterday at the federal building with Attorneys Weymouth Kirkland and Jay C. Halls and was questioned in the office of Anthony Czarnecki, collector of customs. He admitted ownership of the yacht and called attention to the fact that he was allowed to carry 21 quarts of liquor on the vessel for medicinal purposes.

Brings Liquor from Florida.

"I used it for medicine and for the guests," he explained. Smith refused to admit that he knew that more than 21 quarts was aboard the vessel, or that it was purchased in foreign ports. Most of the liquor came from his summer home in Florida, he said.

"What is your capacity in quarts each day?" Chief Agent Fred Gardner asked.

"You flatter me," Smith replied, "I have no capacity."

"Then you're not the man I heard about," Gardner retorted.

Smith was asked if he had ordered that liquor be served to his guests.

"No," he replied. "There was just an understanding that any time a guest wanted a drink he could step up to the bar and get it. I considered the yacht my summer home."

Smith violated a customs regulation when he failed to declare the liquor, customs officials said. A second violation occurred, officials said, when Smith, his wife, and Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Clements, left the yacht in Chicago without awaiting government examination, after the vessel had docked in the foreign port of Little Current, Ont., on the trip.

The heaviest penalty possible is seizure of the yacht by the government. Another possible punishment is a fine equal to the value of the liquor seized. Smith, his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Clements, also face possible fines of $500 each for leaving the yacht without notifying government officials of their arrival.

Unsuitable for U. S. Use.

Government agents sent to appraise the yacht in case the vessel was seized reported no potential buyers could be discovered. The vessel is not of suitable design for use by the government, they said. In case of government seizure and sale at auction the owner would probably be the only bidder, government agents said.

Collector Czarnecki announced that he would make his recommendations probably next Tuesday and send the report to the customs department in Washington for approval. He said that another conference with Smith might be held next Monday.

LINCOLN PARK'S COSTS TO BE CUT NEARLY MILLION

The cost of operating and maintaining Lincoln park will be from $800,000 to $900,000 lower this year than in 1931, Warren Wright, president of the park board, announced yesterday. The park has saved $397,835.83 during the first six months of 1932 in accordance with the economy pledge to the citizens' committee, President Wright said. He pointed out that decreased pay rolls have accounted for the greater part of the saving.

"We are operating on about 50 per cent of the park's ordinary man power," Mr. Wright said, "in an effort to keep our pledge to economize, made when the commissioners brought about a substantial decrease in taxes by voluntarily asking for a reduction of 17 per cent of the tax levy for the park system. There has been no curtailment of outdoor activities and this has been one of the biggest years in our history, with unemployment adding thousands daily to the number of park visitors."

$100,000 Jewel Robber Is Sent to Joliet Prison

Ernest Levy, 38 years old, was sent to Joliet penitentiary yesterday to start serving a one to ten year sentence for his part in the $100,000 jewel robbery in the Glencoe home of Lawrence F. Stern. Levy was extradited recently from Germany, where he fled while at liberty in bond on the robbery charge.

2,042 AUTOISTS GET TICKETS IN SAFETY DRIVE

A total of 2,042 summonses were given to motorists yesterday by the Chicago police, who are making a new campaign against violations of the traffic laws. All classes of violations, from reckless driving to parking near fire plugs, were covered in the summonses. The local campaign is part of a nation-wide program sponsored by the National Safety council. Fifty-three cities are participating.

About a hundred persons whose cars lacked either city or state licenses were arrested and taken to police stations, where they were held until they furnished bonds to guarantee their appearance in court.

Fifty motorists were arrested in Evanston as the suburb joined in observance of the national traffic safety program. The police traffic division issued 800 summonses, the motorcycle division 260, the detective bureau 12, and the central police 9. Among those arrested were Mrs. Warren Wright, wife of the president of the Lincoln park board, who was fined $5 for passing through a traffic light.

Bomb Causes $100 Loss to West Side Meat Store

Damage estimated at about $100 was caused early today by the explosion of a bomb in the front of the meat market of Max Arstin at 3709 West Roosevelt road. Windows and a door were blown in. The police were unable to learn the motive of the bombers.

LAKE CO. TAXES CUT 15 PER CENT; SAVES $700,000

Frank Stanton, chairman of the Lake county board of review, yesterday announced a 15 per cent reduction in the county's 1932 real estate assessments. The cut will save taxpayers approximately $700,000.

The valuation of realty was recently fixed by township assessors at $90,520,975. It was $90,172,855 in 1931. The order of the board of review cuts the 1932 assessments by $13,526,000. At the tax rate of $6.90 for 1931 the reduction represents a saving of approximately $740,000.

The order of the board of review is effective only on lots assessed at more than $30 and buildings assessed at more than $60. As there are but few properties below these assessed valuations, the savings will approximate $700,000, Chairman Stanton said. The reduction will stand through 1935, unless changed by succeeding boards of review, as the 1932 assessment is a quadrennial assessment.

Lake county is the third county in the Chicago area to reduce its real estate assessments in nine days. On Aug. 24 the Will county board of review ordered a 10 per cent cut and next the Kane county board of review ordered a 25 per cent reduction.

Of the 1931 tax levy of $6,000,000 County Treasurer Jay B. Morse estimated $4,550,000 has been paid. Taxes were due Aug. 1. A one per cent penalty was imposed on payments after that date. The treasurer extended the single penalty to include yesterday. Beginning this morning a 2 per cent penalty will be added to bills.

John E. Reardon, secretary of the board of education of Waukegan, said the 15 per cent tax reduction may make it impossible for the schools to operate for an eight months year. The board is to meet next Monday to consider elimination and curtailment of departments to meet the reduction.

Chairman Staunton opened an investigation, following the announcement of the reduction, into valuations of estates. At his request Assistant State's Attorney Wilfred E. Hall was assigned to his office. Estates of a value of $6,145,000, according to court records, are valued for assessing purposes at $32,772, Chairman Staunton said. The board will seek to increase the valuations.

WETS EXULTANT OVER PRIMARIES ON WEST COAST

Study California Returns for Political Hints.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Both Republican and Democratic politicians and the leaders of the wet and dry organizations were busy today plucking at the straws in the political wind blowing from the California primary.

In a welter of contradictory interpretations of confusing cross currents in the electorate of the President's home state the outstanding indisputable result of the California voting is the assurance of the election of a senator in November committed to outright and unqualified repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Discouraging to Drys.

The wets were exultant over this aspect of the primary results because the contest was the first to occur since the dry organizations rejected the Republican and Democratic platforms, spurned Gov. Roosevelt, sorrowfully repudiated President Hoover, and announced they would concentrate upon the nomination and election of senators and representatives who would never lay a profane hand upon the eighteenth amendment or the Volstead act. As a test of the possibilities of success in this last ditch stand of the dry forces the California primary is far from encouraging to the prohibitionists.

In rejecting Senator Samuel Shortridge in favor of young Tallant Tubbs the California Republicans chose as their nominee a man whose principal claim to their preference was that he stands for unqualified repeal of the prohibition amendment, whereas Mr. Shortridge had cautiously advanced from a former dry position only as far as indorsement of the Republican platform plank for modification of the eighteenth amendment.

Voted for Repeal Man.

True it is that Mr. Shortridge had held out the promise of modification at the December session of congress before the senator elected in November takes his seat, but it was no use. The California Republicans threw in their lot with one who held out the hope of eventual unqualified repeal in preference to one who promised immediate modification.

William Gibbs McAdoo, who won the Democratic nomination for senator, is also committed to repeal of the 18th amendment and in the meantime to a beer modification of the Volstead act. Mr. McAdoo formerly was a political foe of the drys, but when he started to run for the senate he began backsliding from prohibition orthodoxy. He made one concession after another until he publicly indorsed the Democratic platform repeal plank. His chief opponent, Justus Wardell, was a wholehearted wet and according to the wets McAdoo owes his victory to his eleventh hour commitment to repeal.

Dry Leaders Cite Division.

According to the dry leaders, the California vote does not prove that California is for repeal. Tubbs, they say, won not because the Republicans are preponderantly wet, but because the drys in the southern part of the state were hopelessly divided between the two dry candidates for senator, the Rev. Robert P. Shuler and Congressman Joe Crail. They also assert that McAdoo owes his nomination to drys intent upon stopping the extreme repealist Wardell and make much of the fact that Mr. McAdoo's indorsement of the Democratic repeal plank was perfunctory and lacking in enthusiasm.

The Democrats viewed the results with intense satisfaction, professing to find in the defeat of the Hoover administration Senator Shortridge in Hoover's own state not only an evidence of the unpopularity of the President in his home territory, but an omen of the impending repudiation of the Hoover administration generally.

Point to Court Stand.

Republican leaders retort that Mr. Shortridge might have fared better had he himself not repudiated the stand of the Hoover administration for adherence to the world court.

With a Hoover administration senator defeated and the Republican nominee for senator standing actually on the Democratic repeal plank instead of the Republican modification plank the Democrats feel that their chances of carrying California are particularly bright.

Republican leaders profess to find no cause for alarm in the California results. They point to the registration of 1,400,000 Republican votes in the state compared with 1,000,000 Democrats.

TWENTY RESERVE OFFICERS TO GET ARMY SCHOOLING

Twenty reserve officers of the Sixth corps area will be given an opportunity to attend regular army service schools during 1933, it was announced yesterday by Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the area which includes the states of Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin. Applications of reserve officers for the schools must be forwarded to the area headquarters in Chicago, Gen. Parker announced.

The number of officers to be selected and the dates of the courses are as follows: Infantry school, Fort Benning, Ga., seven students, from Feb. 24 to May 24; field artillery, Fort Sill, Okla., three students, Jan. 23 to April 23; tank school, Fort Benning Ga., two students, Feb. 23 to May 17; cavalry school, Fort Riley, Kas., two students, Feb. 27 to May 26; coast artillery school, Fortress Monroe, Va., three students, Sept. 19 to Nov. 10; engineer school, Fort Humphries, Va., one student, March 2 to June 2; air corps school, Chanute Field, Ill., one student, April 1 to June 30; signal school, Fort Monmouth, N. J., one student, Feb. 27 to May 27.

Two Girls, Strolling During Lull at Work, Killed by Train

Leslie, Md., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Two girls, who took advantage of a lull at the cannery where they worked to go for a stroll, were killed by a Baltimore and Ohio railroad train this afternoon. The girls were Mary Marshall, 16, and Anna Michael, 17, both of Baltimore.

ROOSEVELT GOES TO HOME COUNTY FAIR WITH HIS NEIGHBORS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Young John Roosevelt rode his best today, while his dad looked on, but some of the other Dutchess county youngsters outrode the governor's youngest son and ran away with the cups.

It was the Dutchess county fair, at Rhinebrook, N. Y., whence Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt took a flying motor trip from Albany this afternoon, mostly to see his 16 year old perform, but also to greet a few thousand of his neighbors who jammed the fair grounds.

The governor saw the youngsters from the aristocratic Hudson valley families vie in the equestrian contests.

Beside the governor in his automobile sat his white haired mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt, who is sometimes referred to as the "Duchess of Hyde Park," Hyde Park being the country home of the Roosevelts.

If young John didn't run off with any cups today, his brother, Franklin Jr., copped off one this morning, and John proudly informed his father that he had come in for honors twice in the opening events yesterday.

Gov. Roosevelt returned to Albany for dinner, and conferred at length this evening with his campaign manager, James Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee.

AUTOGYRO AND REPEAL PLEAS WIN FOR TUBBS

To Compete with McAdoo for Shortridge's Seat.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 1.—(AP)—William Gibbs McAdoo, member of the Woodrow Wilson cabinet, and young Tallant Tubbs, San Francisco rope manufacturer, will be opponents in the November election for the California senate seat held by Sam M. Shortridge, Republican.

WILLIAM G. McADOO.

With only 336 precincts unrecorded of the state's 10,531, returns from Tuesday's primary indicated definitely the nomination of Tubbs, Republican, and McAdoo, Democrat, and the defeat of Shortridge, for twelve years California's junior senator. More than half the state's record number of 2,665,000 registered voters participated in the primary. The vote was:

Campaigns in Autogyro.

Tubbs literally flew to victory. In his autogyro, with his name emblazoned on the underside of the wings, the 35 year old state senator dropped down on remote corners of California to advocate immediate repeal of the eighteenth amendment. He learned to fly as a lieutenant in the aviation corps during the world war, having left Yale as a freshman to enlist.

Charges "Steal" in Texas.

Austin, Tex., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Charges that major oil companies were attempting to "steal the election" were voiced in the Texas legislature today as an aftermath to last week's bitter primary contest for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination between Mrs. Miriam [Ma] Ferguson and Govn R. S. Sterling.

The charges were made by Senator Archie Parr of Benavides during an argument against a resolution proposing a legislative investigation of the election. The resolution, introduced by Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman, supporter of Gov. Sterling, was sent to a committee for recommendation.

Previously, Gov. Sterling, who trailed Mrs. Ferguson by about 2,400 votes on final unofficial returns from the primary, had declared in a statement that thousands of illegal votes had been cast.

G.O.P. LAYS PLANS TO PUT MORE PEP INTO CAMPAIGN

Seek to Curb Ambitious Aids of Hoover.

New York, Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Dissatisfied with the progress of their campaign, the Republican managers in charge of President Hoover's candidacy have laid down definite plans for more united and extended action. The move is the outcome of the conference held here with Everett Sanders, national chairman, at the Waldorf-Astoria headquarters during the last three days.

SENATOR FELIX HEBERT.

This program for speeding up the campaign reflects the policy supposedly worked out earlier in the week at the White House conference at which President Hoover reviewed the entire situation with his chief assistants.

One cause of grave apprehension is the muddled political situation developing in the Republican organization in New York, as well as several other states. The national managers have come to recognize that interference by cabinet members with local and state organizations is reacting badly on the President's candidacy and may easily result in the loss of some of the pivotal states.

Curb for Ambitious Aids.

Already the demand is being voiced by the President's most responsible leaders that those cabinet members who seem bent on advancing their own interests in this campaign, by grabbing state control, evidently with an eye on the presidential nomination in 1936, must be suppressed immediately. It is quite probable that Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the treasury, may take a less active part in the state campaign than has been indicated by recent activities.

Loss of one big eastern state, particularly New York, as a result of a partisan fight brought about by the outside interference of the President's own official family, might easily turn the result on election day.

In consequence there comes the general agreement that there must be "greater concentration" of political management to avoid friction in state situations and to prevent Republican candidates from running wild.

Hit Davison Speech.

This latter reference is supposed to be intended for Trubee Davison, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, whose speech before the New York state American Legion convention in Brooklyn last Saturday, wherein he criticized the bonus seekers, has stirred up trouble for the Republicans all over the country.

There seems to unbiased observers to be lack of a firm hand at the helm and the party organization. Sanders is in the main headquarters in Chicago. The eastern headquarters here under the direction of Senator Felix Hebert. There may be no friction, but apparently something that is needed is lacking. It may be concentration of authority.

Senator Hebert is said to be doing everything possible to avert a disastrous partisan conflict in the New York state convention. A fight impends as a result of the alliance between Ogden Mills and William L. Ward, Westchester leader, to force the nomination of Col. William J. Donovan and grab state control.

Lack of prompt decision and forceful action which crops out frequently all along the line may be traced to the character of the Republican campaign. The President himself has held to the theory that the actual management of his campaign could best be left to the trained politicians he has placed in charge and he could best reassure the nation by sticking to his job. While that may be sound in theory, it results in much confusion in reality.

Urge Hoover Take Part.

The report from Washington, confirmed here, is that there is insistent demand that the President modify his plan and prepare to take a more active part in his own campaign, extending his speaking program and taking on the job of answering Gov. Roosevelt. The Democratic nominee has announced his determination to concentrate on the President and ignore all others who seek to speak for Mr. Hoover. Therefore if Roosevelt is effective and appealing in his attacks or criticisms of the President it may become imperative for the President to strike back. It now seems quite probable that Mr. Hoover may make several more major addresses than was at first intended.

Need for funds is also pressing and the Republicans in Chicago and New York are starting a hard drive for money. Present indications are that the contributions will fall far short of the amount needed even to meeting a highly curtailed campaign.

REPORTS HOOVER STOCK RISING IN MINNESOTA

State Leader Sees Bigger Margin than in 1928.

Senator Claude H. MacKenzie and Mrs. Mauley L. Fosseen of the national committee and Chairman E. L. McMillan, and Treasurer Frank Leslie of the state committee, four of the leaders of the Republican party in Minnesota, spent a large part of yesterday at the Palmer house, headquarters of the national committee. They are said to have described Minnesota as in the Hoover column.

The President carried the state by 164,526 votes—receiving 52.41 per cent of the total vote—four years ago, and, although there was no formal statement to that effect, the visitors are said to have manifested a certainty that his margin will be even greater next Nov. 8. Hoover's vote in 1928 was far in excess of that given to Calvin Coolidge in 1924 when La Follette cut into the Republican total with his second place vote of 339,192.

"Hoover's Stock Rising."

"Hoover political stock in Minnesota," said Senator MacKenzie, "has risen faster even than commodity prices. "His acceptance speech, coming on the heels of the conclusion of the great lakes-St. Lawrence seaway treaty with Canada, had a sensational effect on political sentiment in the great northwest.

"Our dearest hope for our commercial future for the last twelve years has been the opening of the great lakes to ocean shipping. Duluth now will become an ocean port.

"Herbert Hoover has brought this about. He promised to do so and he made good."

Mrs. Fosseen said Minnesota women have "absolute faith in President Hoover's leadership and his protectorship."

Brings News from Ohio.

Another national committeewoman visitor at the Palmer house offices was Mrs. Katherine Kennedy Brown of Ohio.

"The fight for the reduction of governmental expenses waged by President Hoover for the nation and by our nominee for governor, David Ingalls, for Ohio, is lining up the women of our state for the Republican ticket," she said.

Len Small, according to an announcement yesterday, will not take part in the big Chicago Republican rally at Riverview park on Labor day. State's Attorney Swanson will be one of the principal speakers. Other candidates on the county and municipal court tickets will be heard.

Comedian Fay Accused as Hit and Run Driver

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Frank Fay, comedian of screen and stage, will appear in a new rôle —in court. His wife, Barbara Stanwyck, actress, will appear in the supporting cast. Fay has been arrested on charges of suspicion of hit-and-run driving and of driving an automobile while intoxicated. Last night the actor, police reported, drove his car on the wrong side of the road and collided with a car driven by Attorney Donald Lamont, whose wife was slightly injured. Fay did not stop, police said. Miss Stanwyck aided in obtaining his release on $1,500 bail. "I'll stick by Frank," she said. "I know he is in the right."

Volunteers Cleaning and Painting W. Side Church

Mrs. Cluverius, a daughter of the late Admiral William T. Sampson, who commanded the American fleet in the Spanish-American war, accompanied her husband yesterday.

3 PLEAD GUILTY TO LEGION MEET LIQUOR CHARGES

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Pleas of guilty to charges of participating in a liquor conspiracy revealed in Kokomo when the state convention of the American Legion was in session recently were made today here in federal District court by three of five defendants in the case.

They were Rockford D. Robbins and Herman Albrecht, active members of the American Legion in Kokomo, and James Farduto, Beech Grove bootlegger, said to have supplied beer for an elaborate bar set up in a Kokomo hotel.

Two other defendants, Roy King, state policeman and Democratic candidate for sheriff of Howard county, and Ernest Davis, proprietor of the hotel, pleaded not guilty and will be tried Nov. 15.

The date of the trial raised a question as to whether King would carry out a previous announcement of his intention to withdraw from the sheriff's race unless he was cleared before the fall election.

Two other alleged participants in the conspiracy are sought.

Australian Premier Hands Balanced Budget to House

CANBERRA, Australia, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Prime Minister J. A. Lyons, who is also treasurer of the commonwealth, presented a balanced budget excluding the war service debt to the United Kingdom in the house of representatives today. He showed an estimated surplus of £12,000 [about $36,000 at current rates]. If the war service debts are included, however, the surplus would be turned into a deficit of £4,300,000 [about $17,000,000].

BOUND OVER AS BOOTLEGGER.

Joseph Bonugli, operator of the Riviera restaurant, 540 South Wabash avenue, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bond of $1,500 by United States Attorney Edward K. Walker on charges of violation of the prohibition law.

SUSPECTS VICTIM OF SETTING OFF FATAL EXPLOSION

After an investigation into an explosion and fire which early yesterday wrecked a two story brick building at the northwest corner of Paulina and Polk streets and caused the death of an unidentified man, Capt. Matthew Homer of the Marquette police said he believed the blast was caused by incendiaries.

Capt. Homer questioned Anthony Valentino, owner of a drug store at 732 South Paulina street, in the building. Capt. Homer said he had learned that Valentino had his store insured for $5,000. Valentino denied any connection with the explosion.

Capt. Homer said that he was convinced that the victim of the blast, whose badly burned body was found nearby in the street, set fire to the building.

"The blast was caused either by naphtha or gasoline," Capt. Homer said. "The man, who apparently was inside the drug store, was unaware of the fumes, and when he touched the highly volatile liquid off with a match the explosion resulted and he was blown out into the street."

The captain said the fire could not have been caused by a bomb.

Valentino and Vincent Pappalordo, owner of a barber shop in the building at 1706 Polk street, were later questioned by Fire Attorney Thomas J. Sheehan. Mr. Sheehan said that he was unable to learn anything definite from them and that he would continue his investigation.

James [Red] Bolton, hoodlum, who, is said to have operated a soft drink parlor in the building, was being sought for questioning.

The damage to the building was estimated at $20,000 by Fire Chief Michael S. Kerwin of the Second battalion.

"Hard work and ruined clothes, my dear—
THAT'S THE PRICE OF CHEAP BARGAIN SOAP"

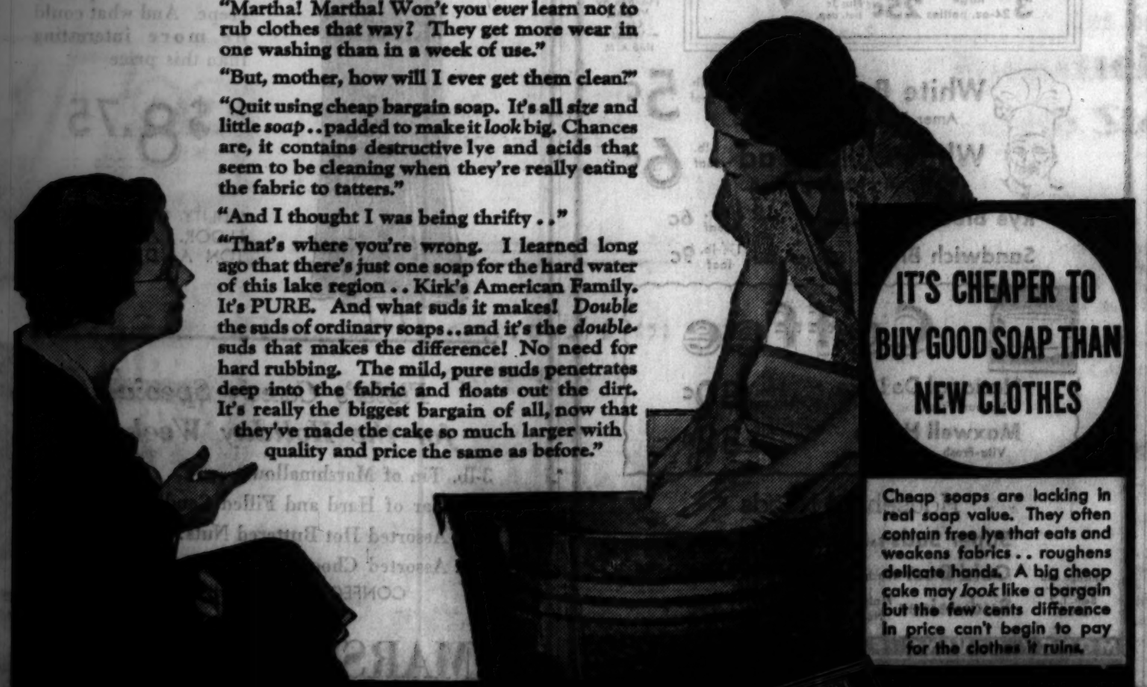
"Martha! Martha! Won't you ever learn not to rub clothes that way? They get more wear in one washing than in a week of use."

"But, mother, how will I ever get them clean?"

"Quit using cheap bargain soap. It's all size and little soap..padded to make it look big. Chances are, it contains destructive lye and acids that seem to be cleaning when they're really eating the fabric to tatters."

"And I thought I was being thrifty . ."

"That's where you're wrong. I learned long ago that there's just one soap for the hard water of this lake region . . Kirk's American Family. It's PURE. And what suds it makes! Double the suds of ordinary soaps..and it's the double-suds that makes the difference! No need for hard rubbing. The mild, pure suds penetrates deep into the fabric and floats out the dirt. It's really the biggest bargain of all, now that they've made the cake so much larger with quality and price the same as before."



IT'S CHEAPER TO BUY GOOD SOAP THAN NEW CLOTHES

Cheap soaps are lacking in real soap value. They often contain free lye that eats and weakens fabrics . . roughens delicate hands. A big cheap cake may look like a bargain but the few cents difference in price can't begin to pay for the clothes it ruins.

MACNIDER QUITS AS ENVOY TO SELL HOOVER TO VETS

To Head G. O. P. Doughboys' League in Chicago

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—The Hoover bid for veterans' votes will again be made, as it was in 1928, through Hanford MacNider of Iowa, former national commander of the American Legion, whose resignation as American minister to Canada was accepted by the President today.

It was announced by Henry Allen, Republican publicity director, that Col. MacNider would again head the Republican Ex-Service Men's league, as he did four years ago. He will be attached to the campaign headquarters at Chicago.

Must Explain Bonus Stand.

It will be Col. MacNider's job to explain to the veterans the President's unequivocal opposition to immediate payment of the bonus and his use of troops to oust the bonus marchers from Washington last July. The former Legion leader's first opportunity will be at the coming American Legion convention at Portland, Ore., which Col MacNider has already said he would attend.

The results of recent votes at state Legion conventions make it almost certain that the national convention will adopt a resolution favoring payment of the bonus, and a vigorous effort to pass a resolution of censure for the President's eviction of the bonus marchers is equally certain.

To Play T. R. Jr.'s Rôle.

A connection is seen between Col. MacNider's resignation and proposed political activities and the recent decision of the President not to call Gov. Theodore Roosevelt away from his post in the Philippines. Col. MacNider is expected to take the campaign assignments that otherwise would have fallen to young Teddy.

BRIDGE BUILDERS EXPLAIN DELAYS AT GLEN ELLYN

Motorists complained yesterday that the work near Glen Ellyn on the grade separation between Roosevelt road and route 53, a new north and south highway, seems to be lagging again. Two weeks ago similar complaints were made that S. J. Groves & Sons of Libertyville, the contractors, were not pushing the work and that motorists were being forced to use a detour with dangerously sharp corners.

At that time the contractors speeded up their work by putting two 6 hour shifts to work. According to the complaints, however, the activity was only temporary.

George Lamb, district engineer of the state highway department, said that the contractors have moved their activities to the south end of the project, out of sight of the detour. They have to put in a retaining wall there before they can get in their equipment to work on the bridge proper, and are handicapped because the present work has to be done in a very cramped area, he said.

Investigation disclosed that the work was being carried on as Mr. Lamb described it. He promised that the Roosevelt road portion of the grade separation will be open to traffic by Oct. 1.

BULLETS FLY AS SUBURBS' POLICE CHASE THIEVES

Two groups of suburban police early today pursued suspected automobile thieves from their home towns into Chicago streets, firing at the fugitives and forcing the latter to abandon the cars.

Policemen Charles Vulvas and Irvin Konasky of Cicero, following three men in a car with a South Dakota license, caught up with them at 15th street and Avers avenue. There the suspects abandoned the car and tried to escape on foot. Two were captured. They are Joseph Jureyek, 23 years old, 1948 West 23d street, and Frank Brown, 30 years old, 2622 West 20th street. In the chase the police car struck another driven by Al Brody, 1348 North Western avenue.

The second chase began at Cuyler and Madison streets, Oak Park, and ended when the pursued automobile crashed into a fence at 5954 Augusta street. Policemen Edward Plotter and Ray Hutchinson of Oak Park, the pursuers, reported that the four men in the car fired fifty times at them. They returned the fire and announced a belief at least one of the fugitives was struck. All the men escaped.

WIN LONG FIGHT TO BAR PUBLIC AT LAKE ZURICH

Circuit Judge E. D. Shurtleff brought the long legal fight over the ownership of the bed of Lake Zurich, in Lake county, to a close yesterday at Woodstock when he dissolved the injunction which he issued in June, 1931, restraining August Froelich, then village president of Lake Zurich, and G. W. Pearce, a real estate man, and his wife, Marguerite, from preventing other property owners about the lake from using boats on it.

Froelich and the Pearces claimed ownership of the land under the lake, and their claim was opposed by other property owners who held the lake was a navigable body of water, open to public use. The Supreme court recently sustained Froelich and the Pearces, ordering Judge Shurtleff to dissolve his injunction.

The winners in the suit stated that it was not their intention to bar other property owners from using the lake. They claimed title to the water, they said, in order to bar undesirable persons.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

VOLSTEAD IN THE CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS.

In recognition of the fact that the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act as political issues will get decision in the congressional district elections, B. M. Winston, chairman of the Illinois division of the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment, announces that a nation-wide poll of congressional candidates will be begun at once by the organization. The issue is on Capitol hill and not in the White House.

If anything was needed to demonstrate how little the party declarations were regarded by the members of congress the lesson was given after the Democratic convention which pledged itself to beer immediately. Democratic congressmen in the house of representatives ran away from the pledge the moment it was presented to them in the shape of a bill. There is no evidence that party responsibility is to be restored in congress when it meets in December or when the new one assembles in March.

THE RUNNING MATES.

As the campaign gets into its stride an interesting contest appears in second place between Mr. Curtis and Mr. Garner. The best political perceptions would be unable at present to decide which one is doing the most damage to the head of the ticket. The choice might fall on Brother Charles, but Texas Jack is not lightly to be dismissed. He is much livelier than Charlie and will cover more ground. Mr. Curtis, to be sure, has the aid of Sister Dolly, Mrs. Gann. It might seem unfair to pit Mr. Garner against the family team, but Jack is not a man to ask for favors. Come one, come all, including Mrs. Gann.

Mr. Garner has not as yet decided to run against the position of his chief. Brother Charles has. That is an accomplishment, and if Mr. Curtis could follow it up vigorously all along the line he might discourage his rival. Mr. Hoover is against the eighteenth amendment as is. Mr. Curtis is for it as is. Presumably Mr. Hoover would recommend to congress that the repeal of the amendment be submitted. Mr. Curtis, if President, would not so recommend. He would oppose repeal. Brother Charlie should be the running mate of Mr. Upshaw-and-at-'em of the Prohibition party.

Gov. Roosevelt may think that President Hoover has the better of it and Mr. Hoover may be convinced that the governor's handicap is less. If the Democratic convention had nominated Mr. Curtis to run on the Republican ticket and the Republicans had nominated Mr. Garner for second place on the Democratic it would be apparent that each party had used good judgment.

HIGHWAY EFFICIENCY.

The preliminary report of the committee on traffic and public safety adopted by the council is an illuminating document which should have the study of our legislature, the press and all civic bodies interested in the highway system of Illinois. If we are to have the most efficient system of roads with the least possible waste of public funds there must be an establishment of sound principles of highway development and of expenditure of highway funds. Thus far these principles have been largely and in some cases flagrantly ignored in favor of politics, although upon the election of Mr. Emmerson a check upon abuses was applied. The need remains for a comprehensive survey of the situation and for the formulating of a sound program for future highway development. The preliminary report on traffic facts in the Chicago area makes an important beginning on this task.

This report deals exclusively with the state highway problem in the Chicago area and hence necessarily with that of the similar if less acute situation in all Illinois cities. The state commission will also have to study and devise a system for secondary roads for farm to market use. Both problems are phases of one, the development of a consistent and efficient system of arterial and feeder highways for all the state, but, as the report remarks, "since the state has now been covered by a comprehensive system of improved highways it would seem appropriate to turn greater attention to urban areas because routes in and near cities are the only ones which show congestion and thus limit the efficiency of the entire system."

This intimates the resistance which politics and mistaken ideas of local interest may oppose to a really efficient development. On this delicate but unavoidable subject the report makes some just and sensible remarks: "Chicago and the other cities of Illinois have built their thousands of miles of streets to the best of their ability. Concurrently they have contributed millions of dollars annually to the development of the rural highway system which is a matter of pride and profit to all citizens of the state. In fairness no community or district within the state should demand a greater proportion of available highway funds than is justified by relative traffic needs based upon accurate engineering and economic facts. In the future there must be a strong presumption against the construction of any route which cannot produce enough traffic to justify its existence."

Money spent upon roads which are not used is money diverted from improvements greatly needed by all. Traffic produces revenue and it is known that an adequate highway in the right place generates traffic and increases revenue. Therefore, the report asserts that "special attention must be paid to districts where congestion has retarded full potential traffic and, therefore, full potential revenue. Such areas are to be found in the cities, where low efficiency has kept thousands of vehicles from full and active use. 'Hard roads' made possible the automobile and its millions in annual revenue. If city routes can be given a reasonable proportion of the efficiency now possessed by the ordinary rural highway a new era in urban automobile use will be introduced and thus the investment will be directly reproductive."

WE DON'T BELIEVE IT.

There is no such ball team as the Chicago Cubs. The Cubs do not exist. If you hear about them or read about them don't believe it. Your leg is being pulled. There's no such place as Wrigley field. It's an illusion caused by the depression. People are seeing things. The stories probably can be traced to the Republican national management seeking a substitute for the bull market and $2 wheat. For the last two weeks or so Chicagoans have been out of their heads and have been in a delirium. That accounts for it.

There'll probably survive a legend and old men will babble about it to their grandchildren. It will be related that back in 1932 in August there was a ball team in Chicago. Yes, they had ball players in those days and, you might not believe it, but it was nothing for these players to go into extra innings with the score, say, ten to one against them and, with two outs and two strikes on the third batter, win the game, eleven to ten. No, grandpa does not go to ball games any more, children. The game isn't what it used to be. Back in '32 Cuyler hit a home run when it was raining so hard and was so dark he just had to slam the bat out at the darkness. Put grandpa back in the closet. He's talking baseball again.

THE UNHAPPY STATE OF KANSAS.

News from Kansas informs the curious that both the Republican and Democratic state conventions decided to remain true to the simple bucolic pleasures offered the primitives by Doc Brinkley, the Torgenburg prophet. Kansas casts out the devil and the demon rum. It rejects the enticements of urban life. The Democrats repudiate their national platform and assert the "traditional Kansas policy of prohibition." The Republicans follow Brother Charlie Curtis.

Kansans will not accept the theory that they are to be explained by the dreariness of existence with the hot winds and on the monotonous plains. They say they are not unhappy, but no one can believe them. It is indeed complimentary to them not to believe them. As children of a sour fate they can be sympathetically understood. Nature has been unkind to them and they dully resent it. Who wouldn't? It is, then, natural for them to seek to prohibit everything they cannot have.

Doc Brinkley promises them miracles, but they cannot believe him, although they will vote for him. He might produce an elixir which would send them bounding in high hops with a glint in their eyes, but this is too much for rational hope. Kansas tried the jake ginger, and all that came of it was jake paralysis. Just as the drug store and the jake sundae promised to relieve the tedium of waiting for the Saturday night shave, the penalties of this tippling arrived on the scene and life again curdled in the Kansas breast. It will probably be the same experience over again with the good doc. He promises well and he may mean well, but the Kansans know that no one can do anything for them. The only question is what they can do to other people.

If the kindly folk of other regions knew what could be done for the Kansans they would be glad to try it. The unhappy state is stricken with a blight. With downcast eyes it plods to its destiny.

Editorial of the Day

(The New York Sun.)

The Los Angeles Times goes further than most recent critics of the direct primary when it calls this institution a menace and says that it puts a premium upon personal and political hypocrisy. The immediate reason for the Times' outburst is the fact that at the primary election in California this month the million voters of Los Angeles county will have to choose from nearly five hundred candidates the best available nominees for the United States senate, the house of representatives, the state assembly, the Superior court, the board of supervisors, and the district attorney's office. Thereupon the Times says:

"The direct primary not only presents endless opportunities for confusing and misleading the electorate, it actually encourages mediocre men and women to enter political contests with every hope that success will meet appeals to prejudice and passion, that popularity will follow successful attempts to engender class antagonisms, and that by dodging honest treatment of controversial issues and resorting to base intrigues and cheap and cowardly subterfuges the mass of voters may be led astray."

These are hard words to be written of an institution that was to wrest control from the politicians and give it to the people. But a generation that has looked upon a United States senate that includes a Huey Long, a J. Hamilton Lewis, a Smith W. Brookhart, a Thomas D. Schall, a Burton K. Wheeler, a Gerald P. Nye, a Tom Connally, and a John J. Blaine, all products of the primary, will wonder if the direct primary system didn't introduce as many evils as it destroyed.

SAVED!

A water pipe in the bathroom had burst and the head of the house was doing his best to stem the flowing tide with his hands pending the arrival of the plumber.

Suddenly his son burst into the bathroom and said excitedly: "You can take your hands off the leak now, dad."

"Thank goodness," exclaimed the father. "Is the plumber here at last?"

"No," was the reply, "but the house is afire."—London Tit-Bits.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

SEPTEMBER! In fact, it's the second day of September. Well, anyhow, it's a new month, and with each new month we expect Old Man Prosperity to come rushing out with a whoop from behind that corner. He's been sticking his head out lately, and it may be he's getting all ready and September is going to be the month we've been looking for since quite a spell back. Anyway, September brings us Labor day next Monday, when nobody labors. And a great many do not labor on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, or Sunday, for that matter. So it is well to bear in mind that Monday is officially Labor day; it is so easy to get confused with things the way they are now. But September is full of promise—only the presidential campaign breaks loose this month. Otherwise the month may turn out to be quite a happy one.

TO MYSELF.

Let the bolt fall; let the earth shake;
Your heart is strong, it will not break.

Loose all the powers of beast and devil;
Your brain will keep its constant level.

Yours is a metal that blows will shape;
You are not meant for the quick escape

Of one whom the first sharp stroke will shatter;
The weight that marks you is no light matter.

Deep drives the blade in a heart that is oaken,
Yet in the end it is split and broken.

A LADY who killed her husband was declared not guilty in a Chicago court and set free. Possibly it might be a good idea to require all ladies who shoot their husbands to pay the income tax collectors, say, ten thousand dollars for the luxury. No matter what you do, if it comes in the jurisdiction of the income tax law, the government will get you. Al Capone please write.

"I WOULD PREFER," said David Lloyd George yesterday, "rather than have any British government default on war debts due to the American people, to sell our last shirts." Ah, as Mr. Burns almost said:

Be Briton still to Britain true,
And if all else should fail
We'll pay our debts to America,
If it takes our last shirt tail.

THE HILLS OF YAVAPAI.

How sad, Eolus, or any of you, that you should have visited this Arizona country and missed the Bar None ranch!

True, you would have found the sand, the sage brush, the cactus, and the mesquite here, too, but you would also have found pines . . . great, majestic sentinels, closing in about the rambling ranch house, filling the air with their pungent fragrance. You would have found desert flowers in all their flamboyant colorings growing to the very doorsteps. All about you would have seen the pine clad hills, their rocks colored by the ages into soft, tapestry-like shadings.

Behind the sweep of varicolored bowlders not far from the house you would have found a picnic ground with a great open fireplace, lazy deck chairs, individual trays on stakes driven into the ground. You would have reveled in the ancient chuck wagon flaunting the Bar None brand, from which succulent food is served by the Donna Jayhawker herself, she being clad in chaps, brown sweater, with a great orange colored bandanna floating about the dark beauty of her face.

There, too, you would have found the Don Ladyman, presiding with all the graceful ease of a grandee of old Spain and contributing his inimitable humor and gallantry to the occasion.

Happy, the great black wolf hound, and Lady, the white collie, would have been there to welcome you with much wagging of tails. Booper, the Rajah, and his young son, the Sheriff, would have gazed at you inimically until they had you properly catalogued, when they would, most likely, have purred for you a feline symphony.

And . . . had you turned out to be real nice and understanding (and I believe you would have turned out so) you would have been whisked away to the top of one of the Yavapai hills, of which Colorado Pete sang so sweetly. And then, had you attended closely and reverently, you would have heard, coming on the clean, sweet breeze, the cadences of his:

High blow the dreams of heroes,
Softly the bugles play,
Asking the hills of Yavapai:
Where are the forty today?

LUN DEE.

THE MOON was ten seconds late for the eclipse and the astronomers are very indignant. But why blame the moon? Maybe the sun got excited and was ten seconds too soon. Or it might have been fifty-fifty, the sun being five seconds early for the eclipse and the moon five seconds late. And, anyhow, if people refuse to take any more interest than they do over who's going to be elected President next fall it's useless for the astronomers to get up any excitement over the moon being ten seconds late. Or the sun being ten seconds early.

WHAT'S HEAVEN FOR?

What's heaven for, with here on earth
All things to make a heaven of?
Fools only pray for a new birth
On some Elysian world above;
Nothing in heaven but is here!
Who to this beauty would be blind,
Blind too would be on any sphere,
Nor any happiness would find.
Then, too, are hills and rivers there,
Sweet romance and bright ecstasy?
And do they never know despair,
But only dull tranquillity?
I'll take my heaven here on earth,
And pray to God that I be worth!

TO HEAL LEG ULCER.

It is not difficult to clear up chronic ulcers of the lower legs due to varicose veins, or any other causes except cancer, tuberculosis, and syphilis, provided just one principle is acted on—that is, the effect of gravity. It is not in the scheme of things for any ulcer of the skin to become chronic. When one does, the reason is that some cause is persisting. A chronic cause is necessary for a chronic ulcer. In the lower leg the chronic cause is blood and lymph stasis.

Man is the only animal that stands and walks erect. In the case of ordinary quadrupeds there is a near right angled bend where the legs join the body. Even the gorillas and other apes habitually stand and walk bent over, with some weight carried by the arms. They arise to the perpendicular and lift their hands from the ground, but not for a great while.

The blood and lymph that is carried to the feet and lower legs does not have any easy time getting back. It is the bottom of a column that is nearly six feet high. The pump that is there to keep it moving is a long way removed. The tubes that hold it are rather easily disarranged. There are various places at which the return flow is rather easily dammed. Some of our dress and other customs tend to add to the load.

If there are chronic leg ulcers, and such chronic causes as cancer, tuberculosis, and syphilis have been ruled out, we can assume that the circulation in the feet and legs is poor and in that fact lies the cause of the ulcer. Whatever may be the other causes of the poor circulation, gravity is at least a contributing factor.

The easiest way to cure a leg ulcer is to have the patient go to bed and stay there all the time until the ulcer has healed. Sitting in a chair, with the leg horizontal, would be equally effective if the patient is not built like Rip Van Winkle and fails to count the times when the foot is lowered.

However, since healing leg ulcers is not easily nor quickly done—in fact, weeks of treatment would be required—the bed or chair treatment is seldom feasible. A very good substitute is supporting the skin and tissues, from the knee down, by means of bandages. The bandages must be pulled tight and held, so as to compress with some force. The best material to use is an elastic adhesive. Pads are placed so as to protect certain parts, and then the adhesive is applied firmly, as has been said. The physician exercises judgment in deciding just how tight the bandage should be. It covers the ulcer. The bandages must be reapplied as often as they become soiled.

When the ulcer has been healed and the bandages are to be left off, elastic stockings should be put on in their stead.

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE.

Mrs. E. T. W. writes: 1. I have low blood pressure. What should I do when I become frightened—lie down or stir around? 2. Is there any diet that is good for low blood pressure?

REPLY.

1. Fright ought to be good for low blood pressure. These people need emotional outlets. Fright may cause the blood pressure of a normal person to suddenly drop to a level where fainting results. There is not much danger of this when a person has low blood pressure steadily. I should say it is better to stir around.

2. There are several causes of low blood pressure. One kind seems to be associated with starch indigestion. Cases of that kind do well when they live largely on meat, eggs, vegetables, and fruit, and eat but little bread, cereal, pie, corn, potatoes, and beans.

ACID IN THE STOMACH.

J. C. J. writes: Why do some have too much acid to digest the food and others have lost what they had and must take medicine after meals to supply it?

REPLY.

There is more than one reason for each of these conditions. Variation in the amount of acid in the stomach contents, as shown by analysis, is not regarded as seriously as it was a few years ago. It may or may not call for investigation of the cause.

INDIGESTION AND MILK.

Mrs. L. A. writes: I have indigestion and I have been drinking a glass of milk with each meal for that trouble. I am getting better of my indigestion, but I am putting on fat. Is milk with meals fattening?

REPLY.

It is, provided you eat freely of other foods. If you think the milk is improving your digestion, continue drinking, but cut out the equivalent of cereal, bread, potatoes, eggs, and meat.

BOY HAS GRAY HAIR.

S. S. C. W. writes: I am a boy of 15 and am troubled with a peculiar handful of gray hair. What can I do to cure it? What is the cause?

REPLY.

Presumably you mean you have a gray patch—perhaps a gray cowlick. These patches are inherited. Beyond that no one knows the cause. There is no cure. In fact, cures are not desired. On the other hand a gray lick is regarded as an adornment and the person having one is a source of envy. In addition to increasing one's attractiveness it is a pedigree certificate.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

NOT A CITIZEN.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—[Friend of the People.]—I have been in this country for nine years, but I did not apply for my first papers until I was here four years. My first papers will be five years old next month. I am married and my husband will become a citizen next January. Will I automatically become a citizen when he becomes one or will I have to apply for my second papers? M. M.

The writer will not automatically become a citizen and must submit a petition in her own name. FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT, District Director, U. S. Department of Labor.

SETTLING ESTATE.

Lawton, Mich., Aug. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father passed away two years ago, leaving an estate consisting of stocks and bonds and one piece of farm property. My mother was appointed executrix and everything was willed one-third to her and two-thirds to be divided equally between the children, all of whom are of age. 1. Can a partial settlement of the estate be made, particularly of the securities, which can be profitably turned into cash? 2. What steps are necessary to declare a partial settlement. R. E.

1. Ordinarily an estate should be closed shortly after the expiration of one year.
2. If you wish to bring pressure to bear upon the executrix, we suggest that you ask the clerk of the court to exert such pressure.

MORTGAGES.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can you give me some information in this case: F buys a $7,000 mortgage and a year later sells the mortgage to D, a sister. D takes the mortgage but does not have it recorded or the name changed. A few years later D dies, leaving the mortgage to two daughters, K and B, and a will stipulating each daughter should share alike. K is in possession of the papers and will. The mortgage is due for payment next month and K wants [2] to renew it [3] without changing the name. 4. B wants her share in her name. F and K are together in keeping the mortgage in F's name. F and K are for renewing mortgage through F, F to keep all commissions due. B wants mortgage divided and wants her share in her name. The will has not been probated. B is not sure that she can trust F and K. What should be done? M. B.

1. Most of the so-called mortgage papers handled in this locality do not show the name of the holder of the mortgage in any way.
2. The ordinary course is to draw up an extension agreement on a printed form which can be secured from a stationer.
3. See 1.
4. If the parties cannot agree, any one of them is in a position to enforce probate proceedings, and in the course of such proceedings the assets of the estate would be sold and the proceeds distributed.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ATTORNEY NECESSARY.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My wife has been in prison for four years. I am unemployed and would like to secure a divorce before she gets out in the fall. 1. Can I secure a divorce without engaging a lawyer? 2. How much would it cost? L. W.

1. Most persons who have had no legal training could not handle such a matter.
2. The attorney's fee would be the largest item and we are not in position to estimate this. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 2, 1916.

WASHINGTON.—Prevention of the threatened nation-wide railroad strike through an act of congress seemed assured tonight after the house, by an overwhelming vote, passed the Adamson eight hour day bill, and the senate had agreed to take a final vote on the measure not later than 6 o'clock tomorrow evening. It is generally believed that the house bill as it stands will be accepted by the senate and it will be rushed to Shadow Lawn, N. J., for President Wilson's signature. While no formal announcements were forthcoming from the railway brotherhoods, it is authoritatively stated that this will result in the immediate dispatch of code messages calling off the general strike scheduled for Monday morning, Sept. 4. The Adamson bill was passed by a vote of 239 to 56. All Democrats, except Steele of Pennsylvania and Black of Texas, voted for the bill. Illinois Republicans voting for the measure were Joseph G. Cannon, E. E. Denison, E. J. King, W. A. Rodenburg, and L. E. Wheeler. F. A. Britten, James R. Mann, J. A. Sterling, and W. W. Wilson, Illinois Republicans, voted against it.

LONDON.—A large allied fleet accompanied by transports has arrived at Piraeus, the seaport of Athens, a dispatch from the Greek capital says. Greece became the center of interest in the war situation today when the censor permitted London to hear of a series of events of vast importance. Ward Price, official British press representative at Saloniki, was permitted by both the Greek and French censorship to announce the abdication of King Constantine. The British foreign office, however, announced it had heard nothing of the reported abdication. Further dispatches received and passed by the censors say that Prince George, who is friendly to the cause of the entente allies, has been made regent and that former Premier Venizelos, leader of the faction favoring Greek intervention on the side of the allies, is in control.

ROME.—Italian troops have begun an offensive in Southern Albania and have occupied Tepeleni, 31 miles southeast of Avlona. The Greek garrison withdrew.

PETROGRAD.—In battles yesterday on the western Russian front, the war office says, the Russians captured 289 officers and 15,501 men. In the direction of Vladimir-Volynski, at Lokoche, stubborn fighting is raging. In the Carpathians, in the region of Tomnatic mountain, Russian troops captured a whole series of heights.

BERLIN.—German troops recaptured from the British lost ground near Longueval and Delville wood in heavy fighting on the Somme front, it was officially announced.

LONDON.—Five successive attacks were made by German troops on British positions on the Somme front. The war office announced that the Germans penetrated the British defenses on a small frontage at two points between Ginchy and High wood.

LONDON.—Rumanian forces continued their advance in Transylvania. They occupied the important industrial center, Petroseny, and the Tarlunge valley and continued their advances for several miles, Bucharest dispatches say.

CHICAGO.—Senator George Sutherland of Utah was elected president of the American Bar association at its convention here. The annual banquet was held in the gold room of the Congress. Frederick W. Lehmann of St. Louis denounced the submission of congress to rail strike dictation and was greeted with a roar of cheers and a demonstration that prevented the completion of his speech.

CHICAGO.—The first autumn wedding will be held this afternoon in an avenue of trees near Eagle Nest camp at Oregon, Ill., when Miss Emma Grace Dickerson, daughter of James Spencer Dickerson, 6025 Kimbark avenue, becomes the bride of Harvey Benjamin Fuller Jr. of St. Paul, Minn.

STROLLING AFTER MIDNIGHT.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—The Cossacks are riding again! At midnight every night a squad car makes its appearance on the Oak Street beach walk, and every one is ordered to go over to the other side of the street if they want to walk. Their manner in ejecting the people shows the squad car boys to be ashamed of their job, and no wonder. Conceivably, there might be—and probably is—reason for ejecting the spooners from the beaches, but in no other country in the world could one be edified by the spectable of respectable people taking a stroll before going to bed and being ridden down by the police in a park that is miscalled public. F. M. D.

LIFE GUARDS COMPARED.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Some years ago I sailed a canoe in Toronto bay [Canada] on a day when high winds had blown over twelve sailboats. A waterfront police launch put out and stayed close beside me, waiting for my canoe to be blown over. Though the hard working policemen scowled at me, they did not venture to order me in—for they were there only to pull me in—if, and when, I needed it.

Recently I was ordered out of tiny waves, here in Chicago, by a life guard in a dry bathing suit. Four or five hundred others like me stood around in the attitudes of forlorn sheep. One boy who ventured to disobey the ukase was actually slapped by the life guard.

Under which of these two governmental attitudes is individual superiority—the only basis for group superiority—more likely to be fostered? Because I am a native American, I profoundly wish that my country could return to the old viewpoint that an adult is responsible for his own actions and free to do as he pleases, so long as he interferes with no one else. I don't doubt that many thousands of Americans feel as I do, but I'm afraid we have been snowed under by successive drifts of peoples who have never developed such an attitude, and whose conflicting viewpoints have made it necessary for America, in the interests of unity, to hold conformity our greatest national virtue.

Conformity—standardization of religion, morals, thoughts, tastes and clothes—has made individual thinking and individual responsibility unnecessary. And so we come to the point where our thinking is being done for us by life guards.

Who was it said that in the final analysis a people gets just the sort of government it deserves? A. K.

THE LIFE GUARD'S INSTRUCTIONS.

Covert, Mich., Aug. 27.—May a life guard put in a word on the hickory limb question that seems to be arousing a number of the swimming readers of THE TRIBUNE? There is basis for criticism of unnecessary restrictions upon swimmers, but the voices that have been heard in the Voice of the People seem to lack the authority of true objectivity due to a wholly understandable personal pique.

For the Lincoln park system I cannot answer, but the instructions to the city guards bestowed the rights of warning and advising but not of coercing. The director's instructions were to let swimmers go out beyond the guard boats if they wished, but to keep an eye on them.

If the guards are to be effective they must hold the right to reduce unnecessary hazards for bathers. Merely swimming a distance of two or three hundred yards from shore is not too great a danger under ordinary conditions, but what advantage is there in going farther? The swimmer who navigates a half mile from the beach is by way of being a menace to public safety, risking not only his own person, but taking an undeserved portion of the guard's attention, and perhaps his presence, from the other bathers. In addition, such a swimmer sets an example of headlessness and bravado that is too often followed by less adept but equally foolish persons.

The assumption that the average guard hates to have a "jump" [not "plunge"] has no basis in fact. Among the guards a rescue is considered a relief from boredom and a constant stimulus to alertness. RICHARD R. GLADISH.

ON THE GOVERNMENT CASH REGISTER.

Viroqua, Wis., Aug. 13.—The editorial, "Try This on the Government Cash Register," presents a novel viewpoint on the power question—novel because it represents a constructive, conservative viewpoint rather than the trite old arguments of preserving private initiative.

You suggest that public utilities in competition with government utilities be exempt from taxation, or that publicly owned utilities be forced to pay taxes as independently owned corporations also doing.

The publicly owned utility should be exempt from taxation because it is a nonprofit undertaking. The privately owned utility should be taxed because it is conducted primarily for profit. Thus the public can compare the effectiveness of the two forms of operation. To tax the public operated utility would mean taking money away from the people and giving it back to themselves, a wholly unnecessary bureaucratic procedure. The government utility should, as you say, pay its own way without subsidies from the government.

Your third proposal, that all services of government which benefit only certain occupations should be paid for by those occupations, is not valid since every occupation and industry worth saving at all is a public benefit and not only for itself. Agriculture, commerce, labor are of sufficient importance to all of us to deserve general help. You should listen to Gov. Kohler expound this subject, particularly in relation to the alleged discrimination against industry in Wisconsin. I notice the same vein of philosophy in "soak the rich" editorials which have appeared in THE TRIBUNE.

When industry is concerned with self-preservation THE TRIBUNE emphasizes our interdependent relationship; but if agriculture and labor are concerned with existence they are to be treated as special "interests." ALTON T. GRIMSRUD.

MRS. MOODY'S ANCESTRY.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—A recent letter in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE by Mr. Norman stated that Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, the champion tennis player, was of Norwegian descent on her mother's side. Now the Los Angeles Times says "Helen Wills' mother, Mrs. Catherine Wills, is Danish. The grandfather was born in the city of Vasla and migrated to America. The great-grandfather was an officer in the Danish army and won honorable distinction in the war against Germany in 1864." A READER.

SUNDAY NIGHT EXPLOSIONS.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Beginning at about 12 o'clock almost every Sunday night a series of explosions takes place. Starting slowly it increases in volume until it winds up in a series of tremendous explosions which surely must greatly disturb the sleep of thousands and be very distressing to the sick in the many hospitals on the north side.

I, and doubtless many others, would like to know by whom, in what locality, and by what authority this outrage is allowed to continue. Could not the money expended in these exhibitions be used in a much better cause?

FLORIDA GRANTED HALF MILLION LOAN BY R. F. C.

Board to Act Next Week on 194 Applications.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—A relief loan of half a million dollars to the state of Florida was granted today by the federal Reconstruction Finance corporation during a day that saw activity in each of the corporation's four loan-making departments.

Loans to agriculture will hereafter be supervised by Fred Hovey, president of the Omaha Stock Yards National bank, whose appointment to head the system of eight new agricultural credit corporations was announced today.

The board announced it will begin to make "self-liquidating project loans" early next week from a total of 194 applications which are now before it asking for such advances.

Railroad Seeks $2,000,000.

The interstate commerce commission, through which railroads must apply for reconstruction finance loans, made public an application by the Pennsylvania railroad for an advance of $2,000,000 for employment-giving repair work.

The Florida loan, according to the board's announcement, was granted at the request of the governor and will be administered by him as chairman of the Florida advisory council on unemployment relief.

The appointment of Mr. Hovey, according to the board, will expedite the making of loans to agriculture through the eight regional offices set up by the corporation several weeks ago. Officials said today that they hoped to have the regional credit offices functioning by the middle of September.

The 194 "self-liquidating projects" applications now pending before the board were said to include requests for loans for the construction of 26 bridges, one cave, four docks, four drainage systems, one filtration plant, nine housing projects, one hospital, six "general improvements," three flood control projects, 30 irrigation projects, three markets, three reservoirs, three sewers, one ship canal, one swimming pool, two terminals, 39 water and power plants, and one tunnel.

Wool Producers Ask Help.

The Pennsylvania's application to the interstate commerce commission was the first to be filed in line with the plan formulated at the recent business and industrial conference, to aid railroad employment by federal loans for equipment, repair, and maintenance work.

A delegation of New England woolen manufacturers is scheduled to confer with the board tomorrow in connection with proposed loans to them to aid the woolen industry in general and wool producers in particular.

Delegations from Oklahoma and Virginia were in the capital today to start negotiations with the finance corporation regarding relief and "self-liquidating projects" loans.

DOOLITTLE FAILS TO SET AIRPLANE SPEED RECORD

Drives Racer 282.672 Miles an Hour.

BY HUGH SEXTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Sept. 1.—Maj. James H. Doolittle, who exceeded the world's land plane speed record by 14.713 miles an hour unofficially yesterday, this afternoon failed to create a new record by .778 miles an hour flying the same plane over the same course. During the night the propeller was changed and two of his four laps along the three kilometer course were flown against a 13 mile an hour wind.

The stubby, red nosed Gee Bee racer, powered by an 800 horsepower Wasp motor, averaged 282.672 miles an hour for the four laps. To establish a new world record Maj. Doolittle had to exceed the existing record of 278.48 miles an hour by 4.97 miles an hour. Yesterday his average for the four laps was 293.193 miles an hour, but officials, who were supposed to see that a sealed barograph was placed in the plane, failed to do so.

Barograph Not Sealed.

The barograph must be carried to make the record official, since it provides a record of the altitude of the plane throughout the four runs. The plane cannot go higher than 1,320 feet for its dive to gather speed and must be below 244 feet when it enters the approach to the course, which is 1,620 feet long. The three kilometer course is 9,744.5 feet long. Accurate timing is done by two eyed motion picture cameras placed at each end of the course.

Maj. Doolittle's four laps were as follows: First lap, into the wind, 281.834 miles per hour; second lap, with the wind, 301.067 miles per hour; third lap, into the wind, 285.774 miles per hour, and fourth lap, with the wind, 302.016 miles per hour.

When he landed Maj. Doolittle said he would keep trying until he clinches the record. He said that he plans to make adjustments to the propeller he used today, and to adjust the carburetor jets to get more speed. The propeller he used is a Smith controllable pitch blade, while yesterday he used a Hamilton controllable pitch air screw. Today, however, his motor turned up 2,406 revolutions per minute, against 2,300 yesterday.

"I found out on the two runs that my hay fever is no better at 300 miles an hour than at 265 miles an hour," he said.

Keeps Mechanics Busy.

In the meticulous manner in which he prepares for these record runs, Maj. Doolittle is more the aeronautical engineer than the finished pilot. The speed that he attains in the air is a direct result of careful preparations in the hangar, where a crew of mechanics are kept busy day and night.

S. J. Wittman of Oshkosh, Wis., who has been trailing other pilots with faster planes during the first half of this meet, today had his innings in a free for all restricted to 350 cubic inch displacement racers. He finished first, well out in front, in his Wittman special [Cirrus powered]. His average for the six laps was 132.246 miles an hour, while his fastest lap was 182.224 miles an hour. He won $360 as first prize.

Chicagoan Finishes Second.

Benny Howard of Chicago was second in Pete, the racer he flew at Chicago two years ago to take third place in the Thompson trophy race. Pete is powered by a Gypsy motor. Roger Don Rae, Lansing, Mich., better known as a parachute jumper, was third in a Heath racer [Martin motor].

Art Davis of East Lansing, Mich., won a race for stock planes with a top speed of no more than 140 miles per hour flying his Waco biplane [Wright JP-7 motor] along the six laps at an average speed of 120.481 miles an hour. His best speed was 139.134 miles an hour. Jack Morris of Pittsburgh, who finished second in his monocoupe [Warner motor], attained a speed of 140.797 on one lap, but his average was only 115 miles an hour. First prize was $270. Marcellus King, Fairmont, W. Va., was third in his monocoupe [Warner motor].

Speed Averages 127 Miles Hour.

Doug Davis, mail pilot of Atlanta, Ga., won a 94 mile race for stock model planes this afternoon at an average speed of 127 miles an hour. His top speed, attained on the last of six laps, was 151 miles an hour. Davis flew a Travel Air [Wright J-67 motor]. First prize money was $270. Second place was taken by Art Davis of East Lansing, Mich., in a Waco [Wright J-67 motor], and third place by F. W. Zeelcer of New York, flying a Laird Speed Wing [Wright J-6 motor].

Roscoe Turner of Hollywood, who finished third in the Bendix dash on Monday, qualified his Wedell Williams racer [Wasp Jr. motor] for the Thompson trophy race at an average speed of 261.414 miles per hour for the four laps on the three kilometer course. First lap, 259.003; second lap, 269.401; third lap, 254.393, and fourth lap, 262.962 miles per hour.

Qualifies for Trophy Race.

Florence Klingensmith of Minneapolis, Minn., flying John Livingston's yellow mono coupe [Warner motor], qualified for the Aerol trophy race, $5,000 purse event for women pilots only, at an average speed of 198.611 miles per hour for the four three kilometer laps.

The qualifying speed is 175 miles per hour. Her fastest lap, 209.549 miles per hour, was within four miles of the world speed record for women, held by Ruth Nichols. The Aerol race will be run next Sunday.

Twelve Curtiss hell divers "wamp motors" flown by marine pilots did dive bombing maneuvers, and eighteen Curtiss low altitude pursuit planes of the first pursuit group, Selfridge field, Michigan, flew in tactical maneuvers, ending with a snake dance. The navy is sending nine more hell divers to the races. They will arrive tomorrow.

Doing Research Work.

Capt. Al Williams of the marine corps, who has been doing research work on a two way radio phone in his Curtiss-Hawks "Bliss Jupiter," motor stunted over the field and while he did so described what he was doing over the radio. His voice was picked up and rebroadcast over a loud speaker system. Despite the noise of the motor he could be heard clearly saying, "Now I'm on my back throttling the motor, gliding down."

Flight Commander R. L. R. Atcherly of Great Britain, the Schneider trophy race who convulsed Chicagoans at the air races two years ago with his crazy flying, got back into proper form for the first time today at this meet and as "Prof. Smythe" of Cambridge, who had written a book about flying and thought he could fly without instruction, skidded all over the airport in a ridiculous manner that drew the biggest applause of all the stunts.

AIR NOTES

The board of governors of the Aeronautical Association of America met yesterday in the Palmer house to arrange for participation in the American Legion charity air meet on Sept. 11. Mrs. Charles Severinghaus presided.

The department of commerce has placed orders for more than $70,000 worth of aviation communication equipment with the Western Electric company, it was announced yesterday. Most of the equipment consists of telegraph and telephone transmitting units.

RETURNS VERDICT OF SUICIDE.

A verdict of suicide was returned yesterday at the inquest into the death of Ernest C. Probst, 45 years old, manager of the Trussbilt Steel Doors company of Minneapolis, who leaped to his death Wednesday from the 10th floor of the Y. M. C. A. hotel, 826 South Wabash avenue.

MINE POLICIES GROUPS DISCUSS OUSTING WALKER

Also Consider Wages and Work Conditions.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Gillespie, Ill., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Seeking the scalp of their state president, John H. Walker, better working conditions and a return of the old $6.10 daily wage, 250 striking Illinois miners who represent locals all over Illinois and 23 from Indiana met here today to plot their destinies.

Immediate action on the removal of Walker was the first order of business. Many committeemen brought petitions signed by their members demanding his recall.

Talk of Another "March."

There was some talk on the streets of Gillespie today in favor of another march to Franklin county, where the strikers would like to recruit the workers in the largest mines in the world in their cause. The first march last week was disastrous. Many of the leaders from other sections of the state, notably Taylorville, do not favor another march.

100 Return to Work.

Kewanee, Ill., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—One hundred miners employed at the Midland Electric company's large strip mine at Atkinson, twelve miles north of Kewanee, returned to work today. They had ceased digging last week upon pressure of downstate pickets, but in a referendum had favored the $5 day basic wage.

Call Indiana Meeting Sept. 9.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—The scale convention of district 11, United Mine Workers, was called tonight to meet Sept. 9 to act o nnew wage agreement proposals.

Seamen Strike in Holland; Merchant Fleet Paralyzed

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Sept. 1.—The Dutch mercantile fleet, with 60 per cent of its vessels tied up at ports because of the depression, received another blow today when seamen went on a general strike. All lines to America, Africa and Asia are held up. Only the two Indian services are uninterrupted. The steamer Volendam of the Holland-America line, scheduled to leave Rotterdam for New York tonight, was held up in port because of an incomplete crew.

New York State Bares Plans for Exhibits at World's Fair

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—New York state—from the Empire building to Niagara falls—will be on exhibition at the Chicago World's Fair, final plans for the greatest of the state exhibits were completed here today at a meeting of the state committee on the Century of Progress exposition.

New York has $100,000 to spend on its exhibit and it will utilize every inch of the 12,000 square feet allotted to it inside and outside the states' building.

Outside the biulding, along the lake front, Adirondack pines will point their boughs skyward, mountain camp fires will blaze nightly, and the recreational parks of the Empire state will be represented as well as sections of two of the most beautiful highways in the world, Bronx parkway and Southern State parkway.

Inside a 20 foot high panorama of the skyline of Manhattan will meet the visitors' eyes when they enter the building. The giant painting will continue on around three sides of the hall, taking the sightseer past the palisades and on up the Hudson to Albany, then across the Mohawk valley to Buffalo, and along the lake in a trip ending at a rainbow illuminated Niagara Falls.

The entire painting, which is to be done by the foremost mural decorators of the east, will be electrically illuminated, moving through a cycle of time from morning to midnight every three minutes.

The state will have two exhibition rooms on either side of the hall. One room will be devoted to the achievements of the different commissions and bureaus of the states, transparent, illuminated photographs covering the wall. The entire Empire state exhibition, as explained by Eugene Schoen, professor of architecture in New York university, and Charles Ogden, secretary of the commission, will be visual.

The second room of the New York exhibition will contain a visual history of the development of the state from Indian days to the present time. Large illuminated maps will slide back and forth, showing such pictures as the first railroads and steamship lines, followed by illustrations of present methods of transportation. The development of the pulp paper industry, progress in the agricultural and mechanical world, all will be graphically placed before the visitors' eyes.

On either side of the hall there will be large panels. In the panels will be a miniature reproduction of two New York state's prize developments—Jones beach and Playland beach—model seaside resorts for any community.

The keynote to the exhibit, according to Prof. Schoen and other members of the committee, will be the idea of largeness. The exhibit has been so designed that despite the comparatively small area occupied the visitors will gain a feeling of great size in everything that he sees.

Flying Forecast

Special flying route forecasts for the period from 9 p. m. Sept. 1 to noon Sept. 2 [C. S. T.]:

Physician Is Accused of an Illegal Operation

Dr. Charles B. Walls, 75 years old, 31 North State street, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bond of $2,000 on the charge that he performed an illegal operation on Mrs. Laura Belanger, 4743 Dover street. The woman's husband, Oscar Belanger, told Judge Leon Edelman, that the operation was performed on July 1, 1931.

Chesterfield's Standard Demands That No Detail Be Overlooked
One of the most interesting machines in a Chesterfield factory is this almost human "making" machine, which stacks up 750 finished cigarettes a minute. End-on, the tray-full looks like a huge honeycomb. But the job isn't ended there, for white-gloved inspectors, eagle-eyed and expert from long practice, remove with tweezers each torn or imperfect Chesterfield.
Every possible precaution is taken, both for cleanliness and perfection of product. Every 4½ minutes the air in the factories is changed. The cigarette paper is pure, and burns without taste or odor. The ne

PROBATION EVIL HIT IN REPORT OF GRAND JURY

Criminal Court Is Urged to Make Survey.

That the probation law tends to encourage rather than discourage crime was the conclusion set forth by the August grand jury in a report submitted to Chief Justice Fisher in Criminal court yesterday.

The grand jurors pointed out that the probation act has been effective since 1911, a period of 21 years, during which social and economic life has undergone drastic changes. The legislature which passed the original act could not foresee the necessities of the present day, the report asserted.

Without specifically recommending a change in the probation law the grand jurors urged Judge Fisher, as a member of the judicial advisory council, to consider the possibility of instigating an official survey of the probation system to determine what benefits, if any, have been derived from the system. Such a survey has never been undertaken, the jurors declared.

"Jurors Gravely Concerned."

"The grand jurors have been gravely concerned because of the large number of convictions which have been set aside under provisions of the probation law," the report stated. "They realize that probation is a humane instrument, designed to assist in the rehabilitation of first offenders.

"But with the discouraging number of offenders at large through that privilege, as compared with the sadly limited facilities for checking offenders on probation, the liberty thus granted is more likely to be accepted as a sentimental concession from society than as an act of mercy which it is the probationer's duty to merit. The jury doubts that such leniency, especially among early offenders, will have the desired results; to the contrary, it is conceivable that the practical certainty of freedom tends to encourage rather than discourage repetition."

Fisher Accepts Report.

In accepting the report Judge Fisher did not commit himself on the suggested survey of the probation system.

"The law is so built that it concerns itself with crime, not with human beings," the judge observed. "The philosophy of letting the punishment fit the crime cannot be adhered to in too strict a sense. There is undoubtedly a difference in each case which comes before a court. Crime is decidedly on the decrease in this community."

The jurors, according to reports, had considered making mention of the case of James [Fur] Sammons, machine gun desperado, whom Circuit Judge Edward D. Shurtleff of McHenry county turned loose from Joliet recently on a writ of habeas corpus while Sammons was serving a sentence for violation of parole. The jurors refrained from comment, it was said, in consideration of the fact that the judicial act in question was committed by a court outside Cook county and, hence, outside the jury's province.

ACCUSE GUNMAN IN SHOWUP AS ROBBER OF BANK

Anthony (Tough Tony) Capezio, a member of the "Circus" gang, who was once sought as a suspect in the St. Valentine's day massacre of seven Moran gangsters, was identified last night at the detective bureau as a member of the gang which took $9,100 on June 9 in a holdup of the State Bank of St. Charles.

Vernon Olson and Frank Burr, assistant cashiers in the bank, made the identification. They then hastened back to Geneva and obtained warrants charging Capezio with robbery. Returning with the warrants, they arrived in Chicago only a few minutes before 10 p. m.

Capezio was to have been released at that hour, under a promise of the police to Judge Harry M. Fisher, unless he was formally booked in the meantime. A petition for a writ of habeas corpus had been filed in his behalf. Capezio had already been charged with carrying concealed weapons, had furnished bonds and was ready to leave the bureau when the breathless Kane countians produced their papers.

Capezio was carrying a gun, it is charged, when he was arrested early yesterday by Policeman Thomas Burke of the Racine avenue station, at Chicago and Ashland avenues. He gave his address as 2850 West Grand avenue. He will be arraigned today in the Felony court on the gun charge.

Lost Ugly Fat

Her Husband Says She Looks Five Years Younger!

There is a certain weight at which every woman looks her loveliest—not skinny underweight nor pendulous overweight, but normal weight. We find artists, doctors, theatrical producers (and husbands!) all agreed upon this point. "My husband says I look five years younger," writes this lady of 29 who—thanks to her daily dose of Kruschen Salts—has unburdened her body of 18 pounds of ugly fat. Read her letter:—

"Having heard from a friend of mine that she lost considerable weight since taking Kruschen Salts, I started using them in July last when I weighed 177 lbs. I have lost weight steadily since then, and am now 159 lbs.—my normal weight. Moreover, I feel brighter and more energetic in every way.

"I have inquired of my dressmaker my measurements, which in August last were but 40, hips 43½, waist 33½ inches, which is normal for my height, which is 5 ft. 8 in. My age is 29. My husband is a very severe critic. He says I look five years younger. There is no other reason for my loss of weight except Kruschen, as I do not take any particular diet."

(Mrs.) S. R., London, England.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that will last four weeks costs but a trifle—take as directed every morning. When the jar is empty get on the scales and see how many pounds you have lost. Attention to diet will help—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes.

But remember this: to take off fat harmlessly and SAFELY be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at any druggist in the world and if the results one bottle brings do not delight you—do not joyfully satisfy you—why money back.

(S. Griffiths Stephens, Inc., Rochester, N. Y.)

Edward M. Ryan, until a week ago a deputy bailiff of the Municipal court, was returned to Elgin yesterday from New York and charged with being an accessory to the murder on July 31 of Herman Holtz, night manager of an Elgin ice cream company. Ryan was an unsuccessful candidate for state treasurer in the Democratic primary last spring.

Ryan and Harold McClellan of Elgin, also charged with being an accessory to the murder, were arrested Tuesday night in the Knights of Columbus hotel in New York, State's Attorney George D. Carbary of Kane county announced, as they were about to leave for Europe.

Ex-Policeman Seized.

Mr. Carbary also announced the arrest a week ago of Leroy Clendening, former Elgin motorcycle policeman, who is charged with being a member of the holdup gang with Ryan and McClellan. Ryan and Clendening were on the same Elgin High school football team a dozen years ago.

The actual murder of Holtz was committed by two other members of the gang, Donald Skene, an exconvict, who was at liberty on probation granted him by Judge James Joseph Kelly in the Criminal court, and Henry Atkinson, stepson of an Oak Park physician. They were captured Aug. 12 in Seattle, Wash., after police had traced a telephone call which Atkinson made from Seattle to a Chicago girl.

Accuse Aids in Confession.

Skene and Atkinson while on the way back to Elgin made complete confessions. They implicated Ryan and McClellan in the murder of Holtz, as well as in several robberies, and charged that Clendening aided them in one stickup.

Ryan, they said, drove Atkinson to Madison, Wis., in his flight after the murder of Holtz. He also furnished the revolver carried by Atkinson in the holdup during which Skene shot the manager, and received $660 of the loot, the confessions stated. McClellan, the confessions stated, visited the ice cream plant before the holdup and told Skene and Atkinson its layout.

Ryan's last address in Chicago, Mr. Carbary said, was 525 Arlington place. He was a deputy of Bailiff Al Horan of the Municipal court until Aug. 25, when Mr. Horan was told by Ray Moore, Democratic committeeman of the 44th ward and the political sponsor of Ryan, that he had been involved in a robbery. Ryan's name was immediately removed from the rolls of the office, Mr. Horan said.

An Annual Event

The orphans who are boarded out in foster homes by the Chicago Home for the Friendless, 5058 Vincennes avenue, trouped back to the home yesterday to receive their portion of an annual bequest—a pair of shoes for each.

Sixty-six years ago Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Talcott left a $5,000 fund, the interest from which was to buy shoes for the orphans every fall. Every year the children have been outfitted in brand new shoes before time to start to school. This year the home ceased to operate as an institution under one roof and the 145 children were placed in boarding homes, but yesterday they got their new shoes as usual.

The youngsters were jubilant as Rupert Peacock, who has fitted shoes for the home for the last seven years, slipped the shiny new leather on their feet. Some of the children had never had a new pair of shoes until the came under the home's care.

4 U. S. NAVY MEN KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES IN RIVER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COLON, C. Z., Sept. 1.—Four men from the Coco Solo naval air station were killed today when their seaplane crashed into a river near the base.

The dead are: J. H. Schnitzlein, 25, first class pilot, Pensacola, Fla.; W. F. Manthorn, 22, chief radio operator, Brockton, Mass.; D. R. Glaze, 27, aviation ordnance man, Hopkins county, Tex.; C. Burgonian, 22, first class seaman, Binghamton, N. Y.

The plane was towing a gunnery practice target when the engine suddenly failed. Pilot Schnitzlein attempted to find a safe water landing, but the ship plunged into a nose dive and crashed.

STOCK FEEDING FURNISHES NEW FARMER RELIEF

Western Cattle Placed on Midwest Corn.

BY PAUL POTTER.

While futile attempts are being made to bolster farm prices by force in Iowa, Illinois farmers have been watching another form of farm relief in which they see possibilities of material aid in marketing one of the largest corn crops produced since the world war.

Conceived by a Chicago packing house official, this relief plan has not only been carried out, but has supplied many a downstate community with all the drama and action of a wild west show.

Leaders' Position.

Briefly, the activity has been the result of efforts to better the position of western cattle feeders who had grass fed live stock to market at a discount, to find a profitable outlet for Illinois farmers who had the corn and ability to produce fine beefsteaks but no cattle, and to supply the current demand for good quality meats.

"We had no idea that our attempt to bring the plains breeders and the corn belt feeders together would so stir up the business and farming communities of the nation," declared Frank A. Benson, vice president of Armour & Co., yesterday. Benson, originator of the plan, has been showered with phone calls, wires, and letters from New York and Montana since it was announced in mid August.

Bankers Help the Idea.

Bankers have seized upon this means of financing the feeding of range cattle on midwest farms, and railroad officials took it up readily. The result was that more than 14,000 head of steers, with the brands of open country on their flanks, were herded into Kansas City and East St. Louis, there to be routed on to Illinois farm feed lots.

The hungry "critters" from the range, now being fed into first grade or prime beef, caused many a flurry downstate. Every man and youth with the semblance of knowledge of cowpunching, or possessing a pony, drew up at the stations where carloads of cattle arrived.

The welcoming committees found action aplenty as the car doors opened. The bellowing steers, greeting the assembled "cowpunchers" with a kick of heels and whisk of the tail, sailed down side roads and many of them were lost in cornfields ten feet high.

Take to Tall Corn.

"They took to the tall corn whenever anybody whistled," said Tom Cross, veteran cattle buyer of Armour's, who superintended the downstate distribution. "Fences meant nothing to them, but after being in the corn a few days they came out for water and were ready to join the herds in feed lots."

Some of the best cattle feeders of the middle west are feeding the cattle, which will remain the property of the western breeders until they are sold to packers in Chicago early this winter. It is estimated the herds will consume 700,000 bushels of good Illinois corn, which with normal results will almost double the present value of the corn.

Each Illinois feeder contracted for the cattle, averaging 1,100 pounds at Kansas City, and will be paid 8 cents per pound for all gains in their weight. Mr. Benson figured it would take about 40 bushels of corn to put on 250 pounds gain in 100 days. To this would be added some hay or other "roughage," so that the corn would bring the feeders about 45 cents a bushel. The current worth of corn downstate is 20 to 24 cents a bushel.

Farms Seek Feed Cattle.

"There are hundreds of farmers seeking the chance to get some of these feeder cattle," Benson said. "But our loan company, operated jointly with the Cudahy Packing company, has reached its limit in financing."

In usual live stock marketing operations bankers finance the sale of feeder cattle to cornbelt farmers. This year they have been unable to do so in most instances and the western range men faced the forced sale of their steers as "grass fed" cattle at low prices.

Packers found the usual demand among industrial people for this class of meat lacking. The Illinois farmers also faced a big corn harvest with nothing to consume it. Picking up these loose ends was accomplished by five men. Mr. Benson in Chicago, two field man in the ranges and two field men among the farmers.

The plan bids fair to net the western owners $15 to $20 per steer more than they could have secured without the fattening. Railroads obtained a longer haul on some 600 carloads, packers will obtain good beef for which there is a ready demand, and Illinois corn prices have been raised for the men who conduct the fattening. The cattle will be sold at open auction in Chicago.

Steps are being taken to interest some agency of the federal government to extend the operations of the feeding movement. It is claimed that 50,000 cattle could be placed on Illinois farms alone, with Iowa and Indiana farmers clamoring for them. But the available supply from ranges is tied up by "grass loans" and freight charges so that some agency must supply finances as did the local packers to extend the operations. Packers yesterday predicted ready sale for all the beef so produced.

ECLIPSE VICTIM

Policeman Wesley Bonner.

A new form of glare blindness, which may come to be known as eclipse blindness, was reported yesterday by Dr. Dewight Reeves of Maywood. The victim is Policeman Bonner of Maywood.

Policeman Bonner viewed the eclipse Wednesday afternoon without shielding his eyes. He was awakened during the night by smarting of his eyes. He turned on the light in his room and found he could not see. His wife summoned Dr. Reeves.

Dr. Reeves ordered Policeman Bonner to stay in a darkened room. The doctor described the affliction as similar to snow blindness, common in the far north, and water blindness, not uncommon after long canoe trips. Policeman Bonner is expected to regain his sight soon.

WIFE ACCUSED OF BEATING MATE ASKS DIVORCE

Mrs. Adelaide Putman of Wheaton, who recently was freed of a charge of assault and battery after her husband had charged her with beating him over the head with a slipper, yesterday filed a cross bill to her husband's divorce suit in the Du Page county Circuit court at Wheaton. The husband, Byron Putman, an electrical engineer, filed suit against her on July 22.

Mrs. Putman charges cruelty, as did her husband in his original bill, and describes a long series of incidents in which she charges her husband acted to annoy and humiliate her. She was fond of birds and flowers, she states, and so he cut down her flower beds and bought an air rifle with which he shot the birds about the house.

Putman also was jealous of her, she charges. He tapped their telephone, and installed dictaphones throughout the house, hiring a stenographer to take down all her conversations, she charges. The Putmans occupied separate bedrooms, and Mrs. Putman says that her husband used to block her bedroom door with a chair at night, and that he had an alarm bell which rang in his bedroom if any one removed the chair.

FARM STRIKERS DEFY TRUCE, BUT TENSION EASES

Pickets Rule at Sioux City —Others Weaken.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—The blockade of Sioux City and ineffective picketing at other places in Iowa, Nebraska, and South Dakota continued today, despite a nine day truce in the farmers' holiday movement called last night by Milo Reno, national president. However, the tension at Cherokee, Clinton, and Council Bluffs, Ia., last night had relaxed and the end of the troublesome striking activities that began three weeks ago appeared near.

Several hundred pickets gathered tonight on the highways leading into Cherokee, where 14 of their comrades were wounded early Wednesday. They announced they would stand by their promise to the county authorities that they would take no retaliatory action, but avowed they would remain until the shooting episode was solved. County Attorney R. G. Rodman said he would present evidence to the grand jury, but declared he had learned nothing of particular value.

Avert Attack on Jail.

At Clinton, five pickets who were arrested and jailed for obstructing highways, were released and a threatened raid on that jail by several hundred sympathizers was averted. Holiday activities ceased at both Cherokee and Clinton.

Pickets who had maintained a blockade at Council Bluffs for ten days at first refused to leave the highways in accordance with Reno's order but twenty of them remaining today on highways 34 and 75 were chased away by deputies dispatched by Sheriff P. A. Lainson.

Plan Renewal of War.

John Chalmers, Iowa chairman of the Holiday association, which has as its purpose the boosting of farm prices by laying embargoes on products, declared today that "the battle will go on" after a conference of mid-western governors, called by Gov. Green of South Dakota, is held in Sioux City Sept. 9. Thus far, only four of the fifteen governors invited have replied and stated they would attend or be represented— Governors Murray of Oklahoma, White of Ohio, Turner of Iowa, and Olson of Minnesota.

Gov. Olson, first Farmer-Labor governor, once arrested in Canada for his activities in a labor strike, yesterday proposed the creation of a central union of all farm organizations, declaring that the principles of collective bargaining apply equally to agriculture and labor.

Natural Laws "Manhandled."

"There was a time when the laws of supply and demand were sacred," said Gov. Olson, "but those laws ceased operating freely a long time ago, when demand came to be adjusted, manhandled, played with, and developed into an instrument of speculators."

He would have farmers "sit it out" until "cost of production prices" are forthcoming, and, like Gov. Alfalfa Bill Murray in the Oklahoma oil case, would call out the troops, if necessary, to maintain the farmers' strike.

SCIENTISTS TO SCAN PHOTOS OF ECLIPSE AT HARVARD MEETING

Fryeburg, Me., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Fryeburg's great show is over. This little village, a throbbing center of worldwide interest yesterday, is quiet and placid again today. The astronomers have packed up their precious negatives and dismantled their queer-looking cameras. Many of them have departed already, some for their homes and others for Harvard to attend a meeting of the international astronomical union.

Virtually every astronomer who will be present at this meeting was in the path of the moon's shadow yesterday as it swept over this part of the world. All will have stories to tell, some of complete or partial success and others of dismal failure. Those who were stationed in Fryeburg, are not leaving town empty-handed, although they had to observe the totally eclipsed sun through a thin veil of cirrus clouds.

The eclipse was a heartbreaker here. The sun played hide and seek with the clouds all day, and not until three minutes before totality was there any certainty that the only really interesting phase of the phenomenon would be seen at all.

Few persons in Fryeburg took pains to spread a sheet on the ground to observe the shadow bands, those faint waves of light and shadow which float over the landscape immediately before and just after totality. Prof. William I. Milham of Williams college did so, however. He reported that he saw them less clearly before totality than after, when they endured for about eleven seconds. Their motion, he reported, was from south to north.

AURORA RAILWAY SHOPS TO REOPEN NEXT TUESDAY

The Aurora shops of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, which have been shut down since July 31, will be reopened Tuesday, it was announced yesterday by railroad officials.

The shops will reemploy the 550 men who were laid off July 31. Their pay roll will be the largest single one of any Aurora industry, it is estimated.

In addition to its ordinary division locomotives and car repair shops, the railroad also has its manufacturing shops at Aurora, in which repair parts for locomotives and cars all over the system are made. In normal times the shops employed as many as 2,400 men, but the personnel during the last year has not exceeded 1,000.

Labor Day Outing Rush Will Start Tonight.

BY HAL FOUST.

Unless the weather is uninviting this week-end, with its holiday Monday, will find a million motorists on the highways of Chicagoland. If history repeats itself the roads on Labor day will carry their peak loads of the year.

Many motorists will be leaving Chicago tonight for three days in the country, along the wooded lake shores of Minnesota, northern Wisconsin or Michigan, at the resorts of Indiana and Illinois, or with relatives in cities or villages or on farms within a day's drive of the city. The exodus from Chicago will gain maximum volume tomorrow afternoon and night.

Other car owners will be spending their nights at home but their days on the pavements, visiting some of the 46 forest preserves, 205 lakes, 301 golf and country clubs, or 24 points of historical interest identified on THE TRIBUNE'S map of Chicagoland.

Many Will Visit City.

There will be automobile visitors in Chicago from a radius of 400 miles, here to spend the holiday with friends or relatives, to see the World's Fair buildings, to tour the city's parks and to bathe at the city's beaches.

Vacationists returning home will be on the roads Monday together with the motorists ending two or three day trips and with thousands of others spending just a few hours on the highways. The delays and hazards of this holiday congestion have been reduced since arterial routes were widened following years of editorial campaigning by THE TRIBUNE, but the lack of grade separations at important pavement intersections remains as a cause of blockades.

Much inconvenience can be avoided by returning to Chicago before 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon or by not making the return trip until Tuesday morning.

Holiday Trips Suggested.

Notwithstanding minor traffic annoyances and the depression, Chicago is going to enjoy the holidays on the highways this week-end as it has done every year since roads and automobiles were developed. In the last few days the touring bureau of THE TRIBUNE Public Service office at Madison and Dearborn streets has been rushed with inquiries on routes and trips.

The Rock river valley, with the pavement of Illinois No. 2 winding among the green bluffs near the water's edge, is an enjoyable trip.

There are scores of attractive tours out of Chicago, too many to list in this column. Suggestions for trips can be obtained from THE TRIBUNE Public Service office or from your motor club.

With heavy traffic this week-end, detours may cause delays. By mapping your trip in advance some of these barricades may be avoided.

New Grade Separation Open.

The central traffic bureau, conducted by the Cook county highway department, reported yesterday that the new grade separation on Ogden avenue at Lisle will be open to traffic tomorrow and that traffic will be able to use Oakton street, between Busse highway and River road; Touhy avenue, between Lamon street and Lincoln avenue; Cumberland road, between Belmont avenue and Addison street, and Forest Preserve drive, between Belmont avenue and Thatcher road.

The traffic bureau listed the following highways with detours:

Governors highway—Detour over Matteson streets.

Lake street and North avenue—Grade separation under construction at intersection in Elmhurst. Lake street traffic use Wolf road and North avenue; North avenue traffic use West avenue, St. Charles road, and Mannheim road.

Waukegan road—Closed west of Lake Forest. Use Ill. 23, Milwaukee avenue, and Ill. 170.

All detours are plainly marked, the traffic bureau says.

50,000 EXPECTED TO JOIN IN LABOR DAY CEREMONIES

More than 50,000 persons are expected to take part in the Labor day parade and celebration on Monday at Soldiers' field and the World's Fair Hall of Science. The parade will start at 11 a. m. at La Salle street and Wacker drive, then swing down Michigan avenue to 7th street and thence to Soldiers' field.

When the procession is within the grounds, addresses will be made by Reuben G. Soderstrom, of Streator, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, and Mayor James M. Curley of Boston. A pageant will conclude this part of the program.

The demonstration will then shift to the Hall of Science, where a vaudeville show and water sports carnival will be held. The swimming championship contests will be conducted under the sanction of the Central A. A. U.

SLOT MACHINES REAPPEARING IN CITY AND COUNTY

Slot machines, barred recently in a wave of reform sentiment, are reappearing in Chicago and Cook county.

No Man's Land, the little cluster of barbecue stands, filling stations and other roadside businesses between Wilmette and Kenilworth, has at least two of the kind that pay off in money when the player is lucky enough to catch the machine in the right mood.

An investigator yesterday found them in the El Chico soda fountain. A 10 year old girl was coaching her father in how to play.

In Rogers Park, where the machines appeared several months ago, they were taken out for a time but are back in drug and cigar stores. Reports were also received that they have been brought out again on the south and west sides.

DIES OF HEAT PROSTRATION.

John Kontek, 43 years old, 4831 South Winchester avenue, died yesterday of heat prostration in the St. Anthony hospital, several hours after he had collapsed while working on the roof of a building at Oakley boulevard and 44th street.

Young Evanston Couple Elope, Wed in Waukegan

John R. Fugard Jr. and Miss Jane Wickersham, both 21 years old, eloped from their Evanston homes yesterday to Waukegan and were married. Later they returned and informed their parents, Mrs. Frances Wickersham, 729 Central street, and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Fugard, 806 Clinton place. Mr. Fugard, an architect, said that the couple had been keeping company for some time and had received their parents' blessing. Young Fugard will leave in a few days to start his senior year at Lehigh university.

Inquest Frees Police After Killing Youth

A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned yesterday at an inquest into the death of Anthony Marr, 19 years old, 3030 West Harrison street, who was shot to death earlier when he attempted to escape police in a stolen automobile.

Policemen Peter Sienkewicz and William Lundy of Fillmore street police testified that they saw Marr at Lotus avenue and Monroe street, driving a car which had been reported stolen. He was shot, they testified, when he disregarded their commands to surrender and started to run.

TURKEY TO STAND UP FOR REDS IN LEAGUE DISPUTE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Sept. 1.—Turkey's recent entrance into the league of nations was subject to certain conditions and these, it was learned today, preclude it from ever joining any concerted action against soviet Russia which Geneva might take.

The treaties of friendship and alliance between Russia and Turkey stand, regardless of the obligations incurred by the Turkish government in jumping on the Geneva band wagon.

This much was made clear today in a note addressed to the soviet chargé d'affaires, Achtakof, by Tewfik Ruehdi Bay, the Turkish minister of foreign affairs. In explicit terms the Turkish minister assures the bolshevik representative that Turkey's membership in the league in no way attenuates the treaties uniting the two countries.

"We intend to cooperate loyally with the league in keeping international peace," the foreign minister said. "Notwithstanding, if Turkey discovers at any moment the slightest tendency contrary to the principle of peace or any design or purpose directed against the Union of Soviet Republics on the part of the league, it will oppose them with all its force and with the greatest energy."

Turkey will go even further to stand by Russia against the league.

"Turkey's obligations under articles 16 and 17 of the league's covenant will not alter the Turkish policy towards soviet Russia," the note said. "These articles comprehend the case of war declared by soviet Russia and necessitating the intervention of the league.

"In the case of such an accusation brought against Russia, Turkey would not consider herself bound by the terms of article 16 to participate against the soviets."

This message, it is understood, has placated Moscow. Russia was considerably annoyed because Turkey had joined the league, especially since it joined the league, especially since Moscow recently loaned Turkey $8,000,000 without interest.

Inventory of Lawyer's Estate Approved.

Lists of the property in the estate of Alfred S. Austrian, one of Chicago's most noted lawyers, who died last Jan. 25, revealed him yesterday as a collector of rare books, manuscripts and sketches. The lists were filed in the Probate court yesterday and an inventory of the estate was approved by N. J. Bonelli, assistant judge.

In his library of several thousand volumes were first editions of Milton's "Paradise Lost" and "Paradise Regained." He also possessed the original manuscript of "The Hour Glass," written and signed by W. B. Yeats. Among his other literary treasures were many first editions—of Conrad, Dickens, Thackeray, Goldsmith, Kipling, Ruskin, Wordsworth, Wilde, and Thomas Hardy.

Numerous Originals Listed.

Of Conrad's works Mr. Austrian owned a presentation copy of "Nigger of the Narcissus," autographed by the writer and given by Mrs. Conrad. He had a first edition of "Tradition," with the author's corrections and initials, an autographed corrected typescript of the dramatic version of "The Secret Agent," and the original manuscript of "The Brute."

Mr. Austrian was a collector of the sketches and writings of George Cruikshank and possessed more than 25 original sketches and illustrations. Many of these are contained in works of Charles Dickens', of which he owned "The Pickwick Papers," "Master Humphrey's Clock," "Martin Chuzzlewit," "Dombey and Son," "Bleak House, "Little Dorrit," "Our Mutual Friend," and "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," all in first editions.

Napoleon's First Editions.

Mr. Austrian owned first editions of most of Napoleon's own writings and included in this collection is a portion of the original manuscript of the volume "Napoleon, His Own Historian." Several manuscripts of the writings of Anatole France are included in the library, as is the manuscript of Ruskin's "The Gipsies." Many autographed first editions of Kipling also are there.

The inventory listed Mr. Austrian's estate at $175,000, part of which is in real estate. Other assets included $58,881 in cash and notes, $50,000 in life insurance, $25,000 in United States treasury bonds, and stocks valued at $20,000.

Under his will the entire estate was left to Mrs. Mamie R. Austrian, 52 East Division street, his widow. Mr. Austrian had been counsel in many famous cases. He appeared for the Chicago White Sox owners after the 1919 world series scandal was taken into court, acted for the Iroquois theater owners following the disaster in 1903, and was counsel for THE TRIBUNE during the attack upon the legality of the election of William Lorimer to the senate in 1912.

Ettinger Leaves $75,000.

The will of David R. Ettinger, president of the Riggs Optical company, who was found dying in a New Orleans hotel room on last Aug. 25, four days after his disappearance from this city, was filed with Oscar S. Caplan, assistant Probate judge, yesterday.

The will, controlling his $75,000 estate, left the entire property to the widow, Mrs. Leila Ettinger of the Edgewater Beach hotel. A coroner's autopsy revealed that Mr. Ettinger died of poison and a coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide. The motive for his act remains a mystery.

HUEY LONG HECKLED AT MEETING; LAWYER CALLS SENATOR A LIAR

New Orleans, La., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Heckled and showered with questions regarding his promises in his last campaign, Senator Huey P. Long was called a liar by Steve Ellis at Covington, La.

Mr. Ellis, young attorney, and the Kingfish clashed after Long had started to launch an attack upon Harvey Ellis, father of the young man. Before the Kingfish could get started, Mr. Ellis rushed down the aisle toward the Kingfish. Quickly Long's armed guard, which accompanies him on all of his campaign tours, surrounded him. Several of Mr. Ellis' friends grabbed him and quieted him down. Long made no further effort to denounce Mr. Ellis.

"I see that Senator Long is exhibiting an autographed copy of 'More Merry Go Round,' in which the author wrote on the fly page inside 'to a rooting, tootin two fisted American he man, Senator Huey P. Long from the author.' For the author's information I wish to say there is an official record of Senator Long having ran and hidden from gentlemen who resented his insults. He has had his face slapped more than any man in public life, in Louisiana at least. For those who know him he is regarded as an arrogant coward. I know if I had ever gotten to the platform Long would have jumped through a window if he hadn't been able to have gotten some of his gunmen to fight for him."

J. W. Johnson, Surgical Manufacturer, Is Dead

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 1.—(AP)—A radiogram received at the offices of Johnson & Johnson, manufacturers of surgical supplies, said James W. Johnson, 76, former president of the company, died early today on the White Star liner Majestic. Mr. Johnson and his wife were returning to this country from a visit in Scotland.

Auto Injuries Prove Fatal to Minnesota Professor

Lake Wales, Fla., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Dr. Thomas G. Lee, 70, of Babson Park, for many years head of the department of biology at the University of Minnesota, died in a Vero Beach hospital today of injuries suffered in an automobile accident Sunday.

COLLISION HURLS WOMAN OF 85 TO STREET; KILLED

Mrs. J. D. Wells, 85 years old, 13 South 3d avenue, St. Charles, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon when the automobile in which she was riding with her grandson, Lloyd R. Wells Jr., 13 years old, 5914 Kenmore avenue, collided with an automobile driven by Mrs. Harry E. Collins, 201 Evergreen avenue, Elmhurst, at 2d and Evergreen avenues in Elmhurst. Mrs. Wells was hurled to the street by the force of the collision. She died several hours later in the Elmhurst hospital.

Frank Gray, colored, 8 years old, 435 Bowen avenue, was fatally injured last evening at 42d street and South parkway by an automobile driven by Eben Hudson, also colored, 5343 South Park way. He died in the Provident hospital.

The death of the child increased the Cook county motor toll since Jan. 1 to 774.

Charles Della Valle, 6 years old, 1812 Lewis place, Waukegan, was seriously injured last night by an automobile at North and Glen Flora avenues, Waukegan. The driver of the car was John Gustafson, 911 Massena avenue, Waukegan.

Miss Leota Fletcher, 19 years old, 167 Grove avenue, Elgin, died in the Sherman hospital in that city yesterday of injuries suffered Wednesday, when a car in which she was riding skidded into a tree.

WIDOW OF BAKING POWDER COMPANY FOUNDER IS DEAD

New York, Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Mrs. William Ziegler, who celebrated her 91st birthday last spring, died today at her home.

Mrs. Ziegler is the widow of the founder of the Royal Baking Powder company and the backer of the two Ziegler expeditions to the polar regions. Mr. Ziegler died in 1905.

Mrs. Ziegler, whose maiden name was Electa Matilda Curtis, was born in Schuylerville, N. Y., April 13, 1841. She was first married to Edward R. Gamble and by that marriage she had one son who lost his sight early in life through an accident. He died in 1917.

In 1906 Mrs. Ziegler, who, on account of her blind son, established a monthly magazine for the blind which they could read by the sense of touch, and the first issue of this magazine appeared March 1, 1907.

Arthur Henderson Smith, Boxer War Figure, Dies

Claremont, Cal., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Dr. Arthur Henderson Smith, credited with convincing President Theodore Roosevelt indemnities of the Boxer rebellion should be returned to China for the education of Chinese youth, died yesterday at the age of 87.

An authority on the orient and the author of several books, Dr. Smith was at the siege of Peking during the rebellion and came to America to plead the Chinese cause before the President.

He died at the Merritt Memorial Home for Missionaries. Dr. Smith had been retired since 1926. He was born in Vernon, Conn., in 1845, and served in the civil war.

TWO NEGROES CONFESS KILLING FAMILY OF 5 WHILE THEY SLEEP

Lake Charles, La., Sept. 1.—(AP)—A farmer, his wife and their three children residing near here were beaten to death in their sleep early today and their home was burned in an attempt to hide the slayings by two Negroes who, authorities said, confessed to the crime. Sheriff Henry Reid said Phillip Morgan admitted slaying the family and firing the house because the farmer, Robert Vincent, discharged him.

The other Negro, Josh January was quoted by the sheriff as confessing he held a light as Morgan killed them one by one with an iron pipe.

VIOLINIST LUSK DIES IN PRAGUE AFTER CONCERT

Word was received in Chicago yesterday of the death of Milan Lusk, violinist, following a concert in Prague, Czechoslovakia, on Wednesday night. He was 39 years old. He died suddenly of acute indigestion. His home was at 810 Michigan avenue, Wilmette.

Mr. Lusk studied violin under Prof. Otokar Sevcik in the imperial conservatory in Vienna and made his debut in 1914 with the philharmonic orchestra of that city. Then followed a long series of concert tours through Europe and this country.

In 1924 Mr. Lusk played before President Masaryk of Czechoslovakia. Among his selections at this appearance was the Melody in A composed by Charles G. Dawes. Mr. Lusk received a decoration from President Masaryk for his benefit performances. He played twice for Queen Marie and was knighted in 1926 by King Ferdinand of Rumania.

Mr. Lusk was born in Chicago.

Mrs. Clarinda Church, 99, Dies at Rock Island

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Mrs. Clarinda Brownell Church, 99, the oldest resident of Rock Island county, died of infirmities of age today. She had been blind for four years. Her only surviving immediate relatives are her daughter, Mrs. C. P. Thomas of Rock Island, with whom she resided, and three grandchildren.

Pana, Ill., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Miss Helen Bechtold, 19, died today of sulphuric acid poison, taken with suicidal intent one month ago. She was the daughter of Raymond Bechtold, a farmer near Williamsburg.

RABER DENIES HE BROKE FAITH WITH ATTORNEY

Edwin J. Raber, special prosecutor in the case of John Bain and members of his family in their trial for the conspiracy which wrecked the Bain bank chain, issued a statement yesterday in which he denied the charge of Francis X. Busch, defense counsel for the Bains, that he had violated any confidence when he stated that Mr. Busch offered to plead the defendants guilty during the trial, if Mr. Raber would recommend jail sentences.

"When he says that he had a definite understanding with me," Mr. Raber stated, "that our conversation was to be in strict professional confidence, he is stating something which he knows is not the fact. When he spoke to me, he never said one word about secrecy, and the fact is that after it was all over I told him that I would not divulge the proposition and he then stated that he had not requested me to do this, and that it would be very good of me not to do so. I did not make any statement about the matter until after the finding of the court.

"Mr. Busch seems greatly disturbed about the 'persecution' of the Bains. He is about the only one in Chicago who feels that way about it. The question of further prosecution rests solely with State's Attorney Swanson and he was of the opinion that there would be further prosecution. He was also of the opinion that the penalties inflicted upon W. Merle Fisher and John H. and Robert A. Bain were so trivial as to amount to no penalties at all."

Dr. John G. Gehring, Noted Neurologist, Dies in Maine

Bethel, Me., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Dr. John G. Gehring, widely known neurologist and a pioneer in the field of autosuggestion, died at his home here tonight. He was 75 years old and had been in ill health for several years.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.
For they can't do it. They only move the bowels, and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.
If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste, and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.
It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.
But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1932 C. M. Co.

Picks Setting of Amusement Park for Book

W. R. Burnett Praised for New Novel.

"The Giant Swing," by W. R. Burnett. [Harpers.] Published yesterday.

W. R. BURNETT has received the high praise of discriminating critics in the United States and abroad. To his credit he has "Iron Man" and "Little Cæsar." "The Giant Swing" will add another success to his career, because it is, if not great or compelling, a good novel, handled with a sure workmanship and an unerring understanding of theme.

W. R. BURNETT.

Joe Nearing plays the piano in the park in Middleburg. Mixed in with the music of the band, of which Joe is a member, are the noises of the shooting galleries, the shoot-the-chutes, leaving in the wake of their swift flight short, uneven waves of sound, the rattling machinery, and the screams of women, and the squeaky organ that plays while the giant swing slowly turns its enormous lighted wheel.

From the elevated platform on which the band is seated Joe can look down on the dancing couples, out upon the people who are enjoying the glamour and gayety of an amusement park. And he can see Spanish, the manager, swashbuckling and commanding, who gets what he wants out of life.

Spanish is all Joe wants to be. He is tall, broad shouldered, dark and swarthy, tough as they make them, strong as an ox, with a code of morals definitely his own. All Joe's early manhood is influenced by Spanish. He tries to look like him, to treat people with the same ruthlessness and to live by his moral code, but he fails.

Then one day he meets Ada, who works in a drug store. He drops his pose and acts like himself. But Spanish comes along. His swagger is irresistible to poor Ada.

Joe to forget his sorrow throws himself into his music. He has had no training, but he composes little bits for himself, music that to him sounds like the engines he hears.

The rest of the story could be headlined "Home boy makes good." Many years later Joe comes back to Middleburg and what he finds there makes up the final irony of the book.

The plot of "The Giant Swing" is so well handled, the interest in it so well sustained that despite its lack of originality the reader lends his full attention to it. There are no wildly impossible coincidences, no strange developments that try the patience of the reader. Everything proceeds in a leisurely, natural fashion. The only fault in the book, and it is not really a fault because the reader's attitude toward it depends upon how many books of the same sort he has read, or how subtle he likes his endings, is the return of Joe to his home town.

It is an expected ending, but the irony is a bit too blatant, the symbolism somewhat too obvious. Nevertheless there are restraint and finesse in the writing. "Tears were still in his eyes and he was overpowered by a strong emotion he but vaguely comprehended. It was not that Spanish, that ideal figure of the past, had turned into a pot bellied, sordid man. No, it was rather that the spectacular figure on the stage was the symbol of a vanished era, the symbol of all the desires, ideals and aspirations of his uncomprehending youth. It was all over; the ghost had been laid. He was on the wrong side of time now, set for oblivion."

W. R. Burnett is at his best describing the class of society that misses being lawless just by the skin of its teeth. Red and Limpy, the two cab drivers who hang out at Indianapolis' All Night Greek restaurant; the tough Moon who slips on his brass knuckles when he fights; Mike, the hard boiled Irish cop who puts the fear of God in them all; Spanish, who by some hook or crook manages to dominate men and women alike, and The Missus, a Jewish gal who thinks her husband, the owner of the park, not worth one black hair out of Spanish's head. All these characters are extraordinarily real and interesting.

"The Giant Swing" is a pleasing and an able book written with quiet skill, capably put together and with a charm that is not lessened by a reasoning of sentiment.

"Gilded Halo," by Cosmo Hamilton [Long & Smith], is published today. It is the story of a wealthy young American woman who marries an irresistibly charming Englishman who can make no claims whatsoever to morality. The story of their life together in their English country home is written with understanding and reveals the differences in two cultures as well as in two people. M. D.

Luxurious Evening Wrap of Blue Velvet from Maggy Rouff Trimmed with Sable

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The last brilliant gälas in Paris signed, sealed, and delivered the blue velvet evening coat as the leading fashion. For goodness knows how long women have been wearing red evening wraps, when they chose something in color, 80 per cent of the time and now the preference has definitely switched to blue.

The best blue for the evening frock is a rich sapphire that glows like the jewel from which it gets its color. This color is of velvet, laden with ermine, sable or chinchilla, cannot be improved upon from the point of view of elegance and beauty.

The Maggy Rouff evening wrap shown in our sketch today is in the richest shade of sapphire in shiny velvet, and is trimmed with sable. It is the smartest evening wrap that has been worn recently in Paris.

The length of this wrap is part of its chic, for wraps that show some of the evening dress skirt are in favor. It is cut redingote, and the big revers are bordered with sable. A single velvet button closes the coat at the waistline. The cape sleeves are trimmed with three bands of sable.

Lights Will Change Scenery at Outdoor Opera Tomorrow

A new idea in scenery, with a single set embracing all the various picture elements of the drama, will be revealed at Soldiers' field tomorrow night when Alfredo Salmaggi's outdoor performance of Verdi's "Il Trovatore" is given. New scenery, painted in Chicago for the production, unites in one set suggestions of the various scenes. Special lighting, in three colors and their combinations, will add to the pictorial value of the performance.

Pasquale Ferrara, the Manrico of the performance, was forced to cancel a New York engagement in order to take part. He was to have sung the same rôle at Washington Gardens, where he appeared several times this season. As a matter of record, Ferrara has sung the rôle sixty times, and Saturday night will be his sixty-first performance. He has sung the rôle of Rhadames in "Aïda" 124 times. He gave ten performances of the part in two weeks last winter in Italy.

Giuseppe Radaelli, brilliant young tenor from La Scala in Milan probably will be in Chicago to attend Saturday evening's performance. This artist is scheduled to make his American debut in Chicago before snow flies.

Rest Haven Home Will Sell 5,000 Opera Tickets

A block of 5,000 tickets for the performance of "Aïda," on Saturday, Oct. 15, was purchased yesterday by Mrs. Ralph Sherman, chairman of the Rest Haven Convalescent Home for Women and Girls," from Sidney N. Strotz, president of the Chicago Stadium corporation. Mrs. Sherman and the board of governors of the Rest Haven home will sell the tickets for the benefit of the home, which is among several charities to reserve blocks of seats for the performance. A portion of such ticket sales will go to the respective charities.

Hat Shoppers Find Season a Joyful One

Feathers, Bows and Brims Are Well Placed.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

HOWEVER you buy your hats . . . whether you approach a hat shop slowly and almost reverently . . . or whether you dash in briskly and brightly to dash out a few minutes later with a trifle of velvet and felt perched precariously atilt your right plucked eyebrow, or whether you are one of those people who must have the moral support of a few relatives and friends and a day or so to mull over the problem, you can't help but enjoy all the new hat collections that daily tempt the passing shoppers.

Why a small hat, made with all the artistry and skill of a hat designing wizard, fashioned in the most intricate manner of the finest silks, satins and velvets, should cause much merriment even among the gals who wear them is an unexplainable mystery, but the fact remains that we do chuckle over little hats.

A large hat, a hat with a brim, is discussed and purchased with all the solemnity of a bank merger, while the clever little affairs that are being worn this fall are treated with scant respect but with all kinds of appreciation.

Feathers have been fluttering around our necks and heads all summer, so no one is greatly surprised at the new turbans made entirely of feathers. A very French looking boa and a matching hat has been welcomed in one smart shop . . . the hat is small and neat with a curious rolled brim effect that is interesting. Two shades of feathers alternate around this brim, the crown is extremely shallow and the hat itself is small and compact, and gives a soft flattering halo around the face. The feather boa can be worn in a lei effect or tied with velvet loops. This combination is startlingly like the same feathered fripperies the well dressed up female wore in the late lavender nineties, if old time albums tell the truth.

All kinds of sleek, wicked looking black and white velvet combinations are being shown . . . one rakish looking affair has a brim that can be dipped and curved to flatter the best chin and cheekline, and a creamy white velvet bow sits impudently on the outer edge of the brim. This decorated section of the brim you will wear well pulled down toward your right eyebrow and it is much more effective on the head than off, or described in print.

By this time every hat collector has learned that bows no longer park in the rear . . . they are planted right out in front usually almost straight across the forehead. These bowed confections ought to please the shopper who had considerable difficulty in forgetting her dignity long enough to wear the one side models with the right dash and don't-care attitude.

You will find many charming black felts with brims . . . brims that are really wide and made to flatter the face and shadow the eyes . . . one new model features a puckered square crown and brim stitched in contrasting colors.

Another wide brimmed affair has an unusual outside edge of perforated holes about a quarter of an inch wide, while a third creation has a crown with cut out circles that look like a string of portholes.

All good hats this season show imaginative design as well as pleasantly reasonable price tags.

What more could a shopper ask or want?

It's Easy to Keep Your Eyes Looking Bright

Simple Treatment Is the Secret.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The most discouraging feature of upkeep a long party evening through is maintaining eye freshness. It's no trick to disappear into the boudoir and revamp the complexion, reset the wave with skilful fingers, brush a little powder on the neck and reappear as on initial entry—except for the eyes. Not even a new dab of eye-shadow will revive their brilliancy.

It is the older girl or woman who begins to wilt around the eye section most quickly. The girl or woman who has been using her eyes hard at work for years.

Now, if she has a date at night she ought to insist on an eye treatment for herself. If it is a big date she will have arranged time for dressing slowly and carefully. Some of this time ought to be budgeted for the eye treatment we speak of. After her tubbing, she should put herself right into bed for fifteen minutes at the very least. These is no way to relax the eyes so well as when stretched out in this fashion.

But have pads ready to dip in an eye lotion to lay over the eyes as you lie there. Bind a large hanky around the head to keep the pads in place, if you want. A boric acid solution will do. Warm water will also do, if nothing else is handy in the way of eye lotion. But better repeat this a few times and just after you get up either lay on cold pads or splash the eyes well with cold water.

The warm water pads relax the eye muscles and strain. The cold seems to tone them. You'll find these few minutes relaxation and simple eye treatment will see you through an evening much more bright eyed than without them.

Mr. Fairbanks Has Delightful Film of Tahiti

Movie Is Joyous Offering of South Seas.

"MR. ROBINSON CRUSOE."

Presented at United Artists theater.

FEATURING

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Fantastic of conception, ingenious of contraption, "Mr. Robinson Crusoe" is sure to delight the kid in everybody.

Mr. Fairbanks' new film is a genial, joyous little offering, staged in Tahiti and a couple of other South Sea isles. It presents for your contemplation jungles, natives and clever beasties—the whole caboodle COULD, I'm sure, have been duplicated realistically in Hollywood.

"Mr. Robinson Crusoe" is a New Yorker. When the picture opens he and a pair of jovial friends are yachting forth on a fishing expedition to the Indies. They skirt a beautiful island and our hero burbles impulsively:

"I bet a million dollars that in a year's time I could be living as comfortably—penthouse and all—on that island as in New York," or words to that effect.

"I bet we'd return to find you roasting at a stake!" is the laughing rejoinder.

The outcome of this merry bit-baff is that a thousand dollars is wagered and Mr. Crusoe, sans all earthly possession but his dog, which insists on going along, leaps overboard and swims for the island. His adventures thereon are forthwith detailed.

He hasn't been there long before he's annexed a devoted monkey and parrot, which do odd jobs for him besides contributing to his amusement. As for Man Friday—he come but no stay. SATURDAY, though! Maria Alba is Saturday and she sticketh closer than a brother. The young lady has little to do, really, but look picturesque and give Robinson those "O, what a man!" looks.

You will admire Mr. Fairbanks' agility and tire somewhat of his stock laugh. Mr. Farnum, the other plunger, has one from the same stock. Photography is splendid.

The picture is not too long. It has many amusing gags—most of them new—one slightly Rabelaisian incident which I hope will not offend, and a finale that settles the "east is east and west is west" problem without being too hard on Saturday.

"Mr. Robinson Crusoe" will probably make you yearn for the great outdoors of Tahiti and thabbouts, where, I hear, you can live for nothing. If you must have tobacco and rum, pay ninety cents a week, you spendthrifts!

See you tomorrow!

Miss Eckhart Outlines Plan for Marriage

Ceremony Will Be Held at Her Home.

BY JUDITH CASS.

MISS CHARLOTTE ECKHART'S wedding to Thomas Roswell Coyne on Oct. 15 will be a simple family ceremony. Only relatives of the bride and bridegroom and a few close friends will be invited to the service, which will be read by the Rev. Herbert Willett at 4 o'clock in the drawing room of the Kenilworth residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart. A larger crowd of friends will be invited to the reception to follow at 5 o'clock.

The bride's three sisters, Mrs. Donald H. McLaughlin of Cambridge, Mass., Mrs. James R. D. Stevenson Jr., and Miss Elizabeth Eckhart, will be her attendants.

Willis Littell will be Mr. Coyne's best man and James R. D. Stevenson and William Nichols will usher. The couple will reside on the north shore, probably in Evanston, after a few weeks' honeymoon at the Homestead at Hot Springs, Va.

Miss Eckhart has given up her position as secretary to her father because she is too busy with preparations for her wedding to come in to town every morning from Kenilworth. Several showers and pre-nuptial parties have been given for her already and there will be a few more this month and then a lot of entertaining during the fortnight before the wedding.

Mrs. Mark W. Cresap is to give a dinner party for Miss Eckhart and Mr. Coyne on the 16th and later in the month Mrs. Noble Gillette of Kenilworth will give a buffet luncheon and kitchen shower for the bride-to-be.

Mr. and Mrs. Eckhart and their daughter, Elizabeth, have been vacationing at Lake Placid. Elizabeth will return to Kenilworth tonight and her parents will be back the latter part of next week. Elizabeth will enter her sophomore year at Vassar in late September and will return home a few days before the wedding.

Myra Colburn Wedding Plans.

Bishop George Craig Stewart will officiate at the marriage of Miss Myra Standish Colburn to Allen Thorndike Perry on Sept. 17. A large number of guests will be invited to attend the ceremony, which will take place at 4:30 o'clock in St. Luke's church, in Evanston, but only the families and a few friends will be asked to the reception to follow at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Standish Colburn.

Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, who hasn't seen much of her lovely Lake Forest estate this summer, is now visiting Mrs. John A. Spoor at Osterville, Mass., and probably will not return until a day or so before the "white elephant" tea and card party to be given on Sept. 16 at the Lake Forest residence of Mrs. Clyde M. Carr.

Mrs. Cummings is chairman of the board of the White Elephant Rummage shop which is run to benefit the Children's Memorial hospital, and she will, of course, be interested in the card party, even though she may not attend it because she is in mourning for her late husband.

The annual fall hat sale will be held next Tuesday at the White Elephant shop under the auspices of the junior auxiliary of the Children's Memorial hospital. Mrs. Woodbury Stearns Agar, who has gone to Charlevoix for the Labor day weekend, will return in time to take charge of the sale.

Simpsons Will Return Soon

Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson will return within a fortnight from a 6 weeks' holiday in Scotland. They leased Guthrie castle in Forfarshire for the grouse shooting season and from all reports have had successful hunting because grouse have been plentiful this year on Drumtochty moor, which belongs to the Guthrie castle estate.

The Simpsons' house guests included their son, William Simpson, and his friend, William Watts of Philadelphia; Mrs. John W. Gary of Glencoe, Miss Edith Cummings, and Lawrence K. Callahan. Their youngest son, John Simpson, and A. Watson Armour joined the party after a long hunting jaunt in Africa and India and will return to Chicago with Mr. and Mrs. Simpson. While en route to Guthrie the Simpsons and their guests stopped at Gleneagles to visit the Marshall Fields.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott Blair also have had a house on the Scottish moors for the shooting season, but they will not return to Lake Forest until the late fall.

Apropos the shooting season in Scotland, the following excerpt from an article by a woman writer in the Glasgow Herald is interesting:

"One of the most enterprising of the big London warehouses has a special department which is concerned solely with running the commissariat of house parties in Scotland. Everything is done by these resourceful people so that the host and hostess are as carefree as their guests. Both staff and provender are imported from London, menus are arranged, and even lists of train and boat services are supplied.

"The hostess who told of the arrangement assured me that she did not even know at what hour meals would be served by the staff hired for her."

Mr. and Mrs. Britton I. Budd are expected to return today from a three weeks' holiday at Estes Park, Colo. They will spend the week-end with Mrs. J. Ogden Armour at the Timbers.

(This is the third and last of a series of articles dealing with the common problems of color changes in cooking red, green, yellow, and white foods.)

With the problems of red and green colored foods taken care of yesterday and the day before, the most difficult of the color cookery problems are out of the way. There is one type of color change, however, that because it isn't quite as startling as the others, sometimes gets overlooked. And that is the discoloring or yellowing of white foods.

The culprit here is a substance called a "flavone." It is present in most of our foods, but seldom makes an important change in them unless they are of an unusually pale color. In rice, white cabbage, potatoes, cauliflower, and especially in certain types of white onions, flavone too often turns in the cooking and leaves us with dingy yellow or greenish products when we had a right to expect snowy white foods.

Need Acid to Keep White.

Different from the green pigment, chlorophyll, which thrives in hard or alkaline water, but similar to the red vegetable and fruit coloring, these flavones, invisible when we put them in the kettle of water, are turned to yellow by the presence of alkalies and demand the addition of a little acid to keep them white. Rice sometimes becomes an exceedingly creamy yellow in hard water. Cooked in soft water it is perfection itself.

One other factor sometimes accounts for our mustard colored potatoes or cauliflower. The pigments I called flavones react strongly to iron, and often all unknowingly we put white foods into a chipped enamel pan which has iron exposed, and are much distressed by the sudden odd yellowish-green color they acquire in cooking. Watch this in choosing your pan for cookery.

Word of Appreciation.

The last color on our cooking color wheel hardly needs to be mentioned at all, but being the bright light on the horizon in that it is practically unaffected by acids or alkalies, I think it deserves a word of appreciation. These last pigments are appropriately called "carotinods" and supply the yellow and orange color we see in carrots, turnips, squash, and various other golden vegetables and fruits. They do not dissolve out and they defy hard water, soft water or even long hard cooking to injure their colorfulness.

Carrots, however, sometimes take on a dark shade, but for another reason. When cooked in hard water, the sugar which is present so abundantly is likely to become browned or carmelized by the action of the water salts, and so give a noticeable change in color. Cooking only until tender, and the use of soft water, are the answers in this case.

In these three days' food talks I have tried to present a picture of just what it is that gives foods their color and especially how that color may be retained during cooking. If you have any questions on special color troubles of your own, please feel free to write to me about them.

LAST CHANCE TO MAKE THAT CHILI SAUCE OR CATSUP

Two Recipes Suggested to Housewives.

BY FLORA MARTIN.

With the fall drawing near those rosy cheeked tomatoes which played a leading part in the summer vegetable show, appearing in countless varieties of salads as well as in many other rôles, are still holding their own in the kitchen. Now they're being made into catsup, chili sauce, and marmalade for winter usage.

So indispensable are tomatoes in food schemes now that it is almost impossible to believe that our ancestors ever got along without them. Although an age old vegetable, their popularity only dates back about three generations, as when they were first cultivated in America in the early part of the nineteenth century it was only for the eye and not for the stomach—at least not that of men. They were fed to pigs.

Innumerable tomatoes, both fresh and canned, are now consumed in the United States alone and in southern Italy they are used in or to accompany almost every dish. The canned variety are the favorites in northern Europe.

Chili Sauce Recipe.

Outside of the plain canned tomatoes, and, of course, catsup, chili sauce is probably one of the most popular of the tomato combinations in these parts the year around. It puts a finishing touch to many meats and is especially tasty when served in accompaniment to a juicy steak. A supply of it will come in handy for dinners this winter, so why not try out this recipe, which makes up six pint bottles:

24 large tomatoes
2 green peppers
6 large onions
11 tbsp. brown sugar
2 tsp. salt
4 cups vinegar
2 tsp. ginger
2 tsp. cinnamon
2 tsp. cloves
2 tsp. nutmeg
2 tsp. allspice

Wash the peppers and onions, chop fine, and later chop tomatoes in. Mix the other ingredients, add to the onions, peppers and tomatoes, and cook slowly for two hours. Stir this frequently during the cooking.

Tomato Marmalade.

Remove rinds and all the white pith of lemons and put the peeled lemons in a covered container in refrigerator. Let rind and pith soak in water over night. The next morning drain off water and add to sugar and cook to a thin sirup. Then add tomatoes which have been dipped into hot water, skinned and cut in halves. Slice lemons and add to tomatoes. Cook rapidly, stirring frequently and removing scum as it appears on top. If marmalade jellies when tested on a cold plate it is done [about 1¾ hours of cooking is necessary]. Pour into sterile jars or glasses.

O, for Those Dill Pickles of Happy Childhood Days!

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

Surely it is many the old, dusty attic and many the old, musty cellar that are haunted by the little ghosts of the kids that we used to be.

Some vagrant recollections we have which, forever wandering back to places of enchantment, frequent an old-fashioned cellar of high cobweb curtained windows, of a perpetual cool twilight. Down its steep stairs they often slip in the wake of two small shades that move with stealth elaborate—a tousle headed lad and wide eyed, pig tailed cousin—to keep tryst with Capt. Ali Baba and his band of forty rascals, or with swaggering pirate pals from the good ship Make-believe.

Once, in secret conclave, brave, bold deeds were planned there. And treasure was divided—from the apple barrel, rich Winesaps, red as rubies; from a gray stone keg—pungent, tangy to the taste, translucent as green jade—long, briny soaked dill pickles.

O, Those Dill Pickles!

Memorable dill pickles! Let others dream of transforming baser metals into yellow gold; we have pondered, we have searched, and we have found that formula whereby Aunt Martha converted ordinary cucumbers into eight inch lengths of juicy succulence!

The devious path of our pursuit extended from the cellar up three long flights to an attic—sunny playground under sloping eaves, now deserted by the bright faced fancies that once paraded there in faded finery.

Aunt Martha's cook book was in the highboy backed against the western wall—the cherrywood highboy, sagging a little now and grown a bit unsteady in the legs, for all the world like a courtly old gentleman still mindful of his dignity but not averse to a genteel exchange of reminiscences with an old acquaintance.

A Fortune in Cookery.

Not for the rarest volume in fine morocco binding would we exchange the sheaf of yellowing pages between checker gingham covers that is Aunt Martha's cook book. "Lady Fingers." "Ginger Bread." "Pork Sausages." "Currant Jelly." "Coffee Cake"—on each leaf precise Spencerian characters evoke a train of pleasant memories.

"When making dill pickles select cucumbers from six to eight inches long. Wash carefully, being sure to remove all the black particles on the nodules of the cucumbers. Wipe dry and place them in layers in the gray stone pickle keg. Between the layers sprinkle half a teaspoonful of shredded red pepper of the hot variety, a large bunch of dill with the seeds on the stalk, and a few grape leaves (which have been carefully washed). Continue layer after layer until all the cucumbers are in the keg.

How to Make the Brine.

"Make a brine of two pounds of salt and three gallons of water. Heat brine to the boiling point, cool, and pour over the cucumbers. Lay dill on the top and some more (carefully washed) grape leaves. On top, over the leaves, place a cloth. Cover with a plate (turned upside down) and weigh down with a heavy stone.

"Every few days remove the cloth and leaves and administer a thorough washing. In three weeks the pickles (which Bobbie and his companions have not filched) should be transparent, well flavored, and ready for serving."

The cook book was not the only article brought back from Aunt Martha's house; the old gray stone pickle keg—triple crowned with cloth, plate, and heavy stone—is enthroned in the basement, where it emits the pungent, promising odor of dill. Yesterday we saw tow headed Jimmy and small, wide eyed Roxana slipping with elaborate stealth down the basement stairs. . . .

BALANCE MEALS IN SUMMER AS WELL AS WINTER

It's Preparation of Meat That Makes Difference.

It is just as important in the summer as in the winter that our meals be well balanced, according to nutritionists. The ordinary person, of ordinary activity, will not accomplish much toward greater comfort in hot weather by eliminating or reducing any of the principal articles of food in a well balanced diet. If hot weather brings less activity, then less food is needed to maintain the body in comfort, but use some of all the necessary kinds of food.

Meats are popularly supposed to differ in their suitability for the summer diet. It is largely the method of preparation and serving, along with tradition, that makes one meat or another seem cooler and more seasonable. Meat serves very much the same purposes in the diet, summer and winter.

Served in Cold Slices.

An economical purchase is corned beef, according to food experts. This may be pressed and served cold in slices or for sandwiches. The cheapest pieces—corned beef plate and navel, do very well for this, and also for corned beef hash.

Almost as cheap is breast of lamb for stews or for curry of lamb, or cured pork shoulder. Although some meat pieces have gone up lately, fresh pork shoulder, shoulder of veal, and forequarter of lamb are still cheap.

A curried meat is especially good and an economical summer meat dish. For this the cheapest stew will do, and it is an excellent way to use up any leftovers of cooked lamb, veal, or fresh pork. The curry flavor is most appetizing in hot weather. Either tart apples, celery or green tomatoes combine well with meats in curries.

An Attractive Breakfast.

Ground ham in toasted sandwiches makes an attractive breakfast, lunch or supper dish. Liver paste, especially for children's sandwiches, is a suggestion for summer, beef, pork or lamb liver may be used for this.

CURRIED LAMB.

3 cups chopped cooked lean lamb
1½ cups chopped celery and tops
1 medium sized onion, chopped
¾ cup brown gravy or broth
3 tablespoons butter or other fat
½ teaspoon curry
Salt

Cook the celery and onion in butter or other fat. Add the meat, gravy, and seasoning. Stir well until mixed and hot. If too dry, add one-half cup of boiling water. Serve the curried lamb with a border of flaky boiled rice.

LIVER PASTE.

For liver paste, broil slices of liver or simmer the whole piece in water until tender. Mash or grind the cooked liver and mix with fat and seasonings in the proportions of 2 tablespoons each of chili sauce, chopped celery, and butter or other fat to 1 cup of ground liver, and add salt and pepper to taste. Use the liver paste as spread for sandwiches.

EGGS MAY BE USED TO GARNISH WIDE NUMBER OF DISHES

Eggs furnish iron, phosphorus and lime, protein, and vitamins A and D. At this time, when they are relatively cheap, they should be used freely, suggests the New York state college of home economics.

Eggs may be used to make omelets and soufflés. They add lightness to angel food and sponge cakes. They thicken custards and give them their golden color; they make attractive color in cakes, salad dressings, and sauces; and they may be used to garnish an almost unlimited number of dishes. Eggs are an asset to any meal.

Egg dishes should be cooked slowly and at low temperatures, because intense heat toughens the egg white and makes it hard to digest. For oven cooking, a temperature between 250 degrees and 300 degrees Fahrenheit is desirable, and for eggs cooked in or over water, the temperature should be below boiling.

Combinations of eggs are possible with almost all fruits and vegetables, as well as with fish or meat. They should be used in salads with crisp foods such as lettuce, cabbage, celery, or other greens. Leftover poached eggs or boiled eggs may be combined with cream or cheese sauce and served on slices of toast or toasted muffins, or combined with leftover meat, peas, asparagus, or other foods and made into a scallop or a creamed dish by adding white sauce. Even fried eggs may be used when chopped, by being mixed with potato, fish, or meat, shaped into small cakes, and browned in drippings. Scrambled eggs may be used as sandwich filling or as stuffing for meat.

FRUIT AVAILABLE THE YEAR ROUND FOR DESSERTS

Contain Vitamins and Minerals.

The simplest of all desserts at any time of year is fruit—raw, cooked or canned. Fruits, like vegetables, supply the particular kind of nutrients most likely to be lacking in a low cost diet, namely, minerals and vitamins, according to Aneta Beadle, extension nutritionist of Purdue university.

"One of the good things about fruit is that so many kinds are eaten raw," says Miss Beadle. "Some vitamins are destroyed by cooking, and there is some loss of minerals in cooked foods unless all the juice is used. Most people enjoy raw fruits, and nutritionists urge everybody to eat them regularly.

"Blueberries and quinces are both good sources of iron, which is one of the most essential food substances. Muskmelon, canteloupe, watermelon, and peaches are good sources of vitamins A and C. Peaches, pineapple, and cherries contain vitamin B. Apricots are a good source of vitamin A; apples contain vitamin C. Thus a fruit cup of melon balls, or a mixture of fresh fruit will make an attractive dessert which affords a combination of minerals and vitamins that are desirable.

"The plain fruit dessert, the fruit cup or jellied fruit juices or frozen fruit dessert will balance a meal of meat and potatoes. A fruit pie or a cobbler, a shortcake, a cornstarch, rice or tapioca pudding with its starch and fat along with fruit filling or flavoring is better than a meal that includes a vegetable like cabbage, carrots, tomatoes, snap beans, greens or a raw salad, for these vegetables are rich in minerals and vitamins which need not then be so fully provided in the dessert."

Using each fruit in its season in as many different kinds of dessert as possible is, of course, one way to be economical.

Household Hints

To seal a bottle, dip the neck, cork and all, in melted paraffin.

Sweet cucumber pickles shrivel if the brine is too strong or if too much sugar is used.

Paper towels are useful to drain foods fried in deep fat or to grease cake tins and molds.

State colleges of home economics advise a quart of milk daily for children, and a pint for adults. If the children do not want to drink their whole quart, they may get it in other ways.

Pots and pans wash more easily if they are put to soak immediately after use.

The child's daily quart of milk is just as effective if taken as custard, cream soup, cocoa, or in any other form.

A slow oven means one with a temperature of from 250 to 300 degrees Fahrenheit, a moderate oven one of from 300 to 350 degrees, and a hot oven is from 400 to 450 degrees. An oven thermometer often prevents culinary disasters.

Peonies, chrysanthemums, and carnations will last longer as cut flowers if, when they begin to droop, an inch is cut off the stem, and the cut end is plunged into very hot water for a moment; then place them in a vase of fresh cold water.

Rubber plate scrapers are useful to remove cake batter, whipped cream, salad dressing, melted chocolate, and similar materials from mixing bowls.

Melt paraffin over the cut end of a large piece of cheese to keep it for a long time without molding.

TESTS PROVE SLOW OVEN IS BEST FOR MEATS

Whether to use a high or low temperature in cooking a roast is a problem definitely decided by a series of experiments showing high temperatures mean a waste, according to information gathered by the national live stock and meat board.

In one experiment a roast cooked at 500 degrees Fahrenheit lost five pounds and twelve ounces. A similar piece of meat roasted at 230 degrees lost only one pound and fourteen ounces. The experiments were conducted in laboratories set up for studies relative to the selection and most efficient use of meat cuts.

Lamb Cuts, Smoked Meats Selling at Attractive Prices

In its regular weekly report, issued for the guidance of consumers, the committee on marketing information of the Meat council of Chicago states:

"Lamb cuts and rounds of beef represent the most economical meat buys in Chicago retail meat stores over the coming week-end. Smoked meats, including hams, picnics, bacon, and butts are also selling at unusually attractive price levels.

"Smoked meats served for Sunday dinner can be used to advantage in the form of cold slices for the Labor day picnic lunch."

POTATOES AND APPLES SELLING AT RECORD LOWS

Apples and potatoes are two commodities selling in Chicago at record low prices. The various types of potatoes now being harvested are available wholesale at 65 to 85 cents for a hundred pounds and sell for retail prices around one and one half cents a pound.

Apples are being handled by wholesale merchants at from 35 to 85 cents a bushel, depending on size and quality. Retail prices range from three to five cents a pound for the better grades.

Social Event, That's Start of Baseball Here

Guest List Chief Item of Importance.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

At a dinner party given by the Henry Knotts one evening recently at their Astor street apartment, the conversation happened on baseball. Mr. Knott, a gentleman with all of 80 years to his credit, reminisces entertainingly on the subject for he used to play first base—five or six decades ago—on one of Chicago's neighborhood nines.

The games in which his team indulged were not the sporting events they are today—instead they were social affairs of the highest order. Invitations were issued to the city's elite, the guests arrived in their best "bib and tucker," and programs neatly engraved announced the players and rules for the day.

There is one invitation that Mr. Knott has carefully preserved down through the years. It announces a "Private baseball exhibition by teams from the Fleur de Lys and Chicago Croquet clubs at the Chicago Baseball grounds, State and 23d streets, on Thursday, June 6, 1872, commencing at 4 P. M.

Better, however, than the formal request to attend is the message on the page opposite.

"Your attendance is respectfully requested at the game announced on the foregoing page between two nines who will endeavor, unless FOUL weather should prevent, to astonish both you and themselves by the most STRIKING efforts to produce a game ever attempted and to CATCH the smiles of the FAIR sex in particular—and a discriminating audience in general — by playing hitherto unequaled in the annals of the 'noble and manly sport.'

"We would impress upon those in attendance the necessity of cheering on all occasions as it greatly encourages the players in their humble efforts to please, and because it might not occur to them to so cheer were they not thus notified. We would also request the audience to refrain throwing peanut shells at the umpire.

"Babes in arms who BAWL not admitted.

"No habitual ball players or other BASE loafers tolerated within the grounds.

"The use of opera glasses prohibited.

"Ladies are requested not to wear Dolly Varden dresses as they distract the players' attention."

Dolly Varden dresses were those picturesque affairs worn by every fashionable daughter of the 70's and 80's. They toook their name from that notable character in Dicken's "Barnaby Rudge"—the daughter of Gabriel Varden, a prosperous locksmith.

"The good hearted plump little Dolly, coquettish minx of a daughter, with all she suffers and inflicts by her fickle winning ways and her small, self-admiring vanities" as Dickens said of her.

But no matter how many admonitions were issued to the contrary, the ladies, young and old, appeared in their Dolly Varden gowns, Mr. Knott recalls. He isn't quite so sure whether the game of ball was as "astonishing" as predicted or whether the stands responded with the rounds of applause requested.

Playing on the team with Mr. Knott among others were G. A. Gibbs, G. W. Murison, C. C. Adsit, and C. A. Downs. Some of the players on the opposing nine were R. A. Keyes, George N. Stone, Charles B. Staples, and Paul Shorty.

GASOLINE ALLEY—RED HOT NEWS

CORNWALLIS, AFTER HIS YORKTOWN DEFENSES HAD BEEN POUNDED TO PIECES BY AMERICAN AND FRENCH ARTILLERY, TRIED TO GET HIS ARMY ACROSS THE YORK RIVER AT NIGHT. FAILING IN THIS HE MADE PROPOSALS FOR AN ARMISTICE AND SURRENDERED ON OCT. 19. THE FRENCH AND AMERICANS WERE DRAWN UP ON EITHER SIDE OF THE ROAD AND THE BRITISH MARCHED BETWEEN THEM TO LAY DOWN THEIR ARMS.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Morton will sail within a week or ten days to join their daughter, Miss Suzette Morton, who went abroad about six weeks ago to enter the Sorbonne in Paris. Miss Morton will take a holiday when her parents arrive and go to England with them. The Mortons' yacht Freedom, on which they and their friends have made so many lake cruises this summer, has been put in dry dock for the winter.

Mrs. William P. Martin of Lake Forest, who has been abroad all summer, recently joined Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Haines of New York at Baden Baden, where they took the cure. They are now at Annecy, France, and will return to Paris shortly after Labor day for a fortnight's stay before they sail homeward on the Manhattan on Sept. 12.

Stuart Logans to Michigan

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Logan will spend the week-end visiting the Benjamin B. Bryans at Tomahawk lake, Michigan. Shirley and Loraine Logan are back from a summer at Miss Ross' camp at Michigami and their parents are making plans for their schooling.

Shirley has attended Rosemary Hall for two years and Loraine is entered on the student list at Foxcroft this year, but these plans may be changed if arrangements can be made to have both girls attend the same school.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Terbell [Phoebe Logan] are expected to arrive in Chicago from New York on Tuesday. Mr. Terbell is to be an usher in the wedding party of Miss Ann Ashcraft and Raymond Otis Mitchell on Saturday, Sept. 10.

Lloyd A. Laflin, Robert S. Pirie, Hulburd Johnston, and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Valentine will depart tonight to spend their Labor day week-end at the Island club at Lac du Flambeau. Mrs. Pirie and Mrs. Laflin went up on Monday. Mrs. Pirie's sister, Mrs. Adlai Stevenson, has gone to visit her mother, Mrs. Waller Borden, at Pride's Crossing, Mass. She will return about the 15th of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. Conway H. Olmsted, who spent the early part of the summer at Whitehall, Mich., are visiting in the east at present and will be back in Chicago about Sept. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Hill, who have been traveling abroad all summer, will return to Lake Forest this week-end. Their two small daughters will arrive in a day or so from Freeport, where they have been staying with their paternal grandmother, Mrs. Boyd Hill Sr., during their parents' absence.

The polo game between the high goal Oak Brook and Fort Sheridan teams which was postponed last Sunday because of rain will be played this Sunday afternoon at the new Oak Brook Polo club stadium. Polo, which hitherto had only a small, exclusive following, has gained great favor with Chicagoans this season, and large crowds have been attending the Sunday games at Fort Sheridan and at Oak Brook.

Among those who have reserved boxes for Sunday's attraction are Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Vincent Bendix, Mr. and Mrs. Horace O. Wetmore, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hamill, Charles S. Winston, Robert L. McIlvaine, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay III., and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Dole.

Low admission prices, both at Fort Sheridan and at Oak Brook, have helped to popularize polo this year. At Fort Sheridan the majority of the fans prefer to watch the game from their cars parked around the field rather than from the boxes.

Design for Smartly Different Blouse May Be Developed in Satin or Crepe

WOMAN'S AND MISS' BLOUSE.

Today's blouse is smart in the extreme and should win any woman's instant approval. It's as easy as can be to put together, and is suitable for satin or crêpe. A dove-gray crêpe satin, a red crinkle crêpe, and violet dull flat crêpe are advanced fall suggestions.

The pattern, No. 3023, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 1¾ yards of 39 inch material.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover fled from the heat of Washington early today and drove her own car to the camp on the Rapidan. She was accompanied by Mrs. Stark McMullin and several personal friends. The President will go to the camp tomorrow to join her and remain over Labor day.

The secretary of commerce, Roy D. Chapin, has gone to York Harbor, Me., to join Mrs. Chapin and their children. He expects to return the middle of next week and bring Mrs. Chapin with him.

The assistant secretary of the navy, Ernest Lee Jahncke, left this morning for Kingston, R. I., to deliver an address tomorrow. From there he will go to Portland, Me., to make a speech Sept. 6, returning to Washington from there.

Interstate Commerce Commissioner and Mrs. Claude Rodman Porter have with them for a visit, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Richard Hise of Des Moines. Mrs. Hise was formerly Miss Julia Hanna Porter. She was married here last June.

Thrilling Movie Closes Summer Season of Parties for Children

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Yesterday afternoon saw the close of a delightful summer of children's parties when one hundred boys and girls attended the Publix-Balaban and Katz Oriental theater to see a thrilling movie called "Seventy Thousand Witnesses" and an interesting stage show featuring Peggy Bernier, the blues singer, who is an old favorite in Chicago, and Stuart and Lash, as funny a pair of comedians as we've been privileged to see.

Of course it was a grand party, so thrilling and exciting that we entirely forgot that we were parting for a whole school year.

The picture was full of suspense from beginning to end. There was the big football game, which was as good as any ever played on an actual football field. "Shades of Red Grange," thought we, as the gridiron hero, pigskin in arm, bolts the length of the field to a touchdown and victory, apparently. But things happen, the player collapses—he's dead. It's very evident that he's been murdered, but, by whom?

These are the questions which baffle the authorities, the star detective, the friends and relatives of the boy and even those seventy thousand spectators in the stand.

Baffling, isn't it? Do you wonder that we sat on the edge of our seats, entranced, mystified, as the actors on the screen unraveled it all? And were we surprised at the climax of the picture when we discovered how the murderer performed his deed.

There was lots of comedy in the picture for Charlie Ruggles, portraying a young newspaper reporter, is in the cast. We had fun watching and listening to him, and we liked Dorothy Jordan as the pretty heroine.

The only sad note was the fact that the party marked the end of our summer and the time had come for us to say good-by. We have lots of grand memories, though, for the long winter months and there's always the pleasant thought that another summer will come and with it more delightful parties.

And so, my young friends, until then good-by to you, and may you be very, very happy throughout the coming school year.

Filmland Gets Grand—Author Gives Response

MacArthur Wears Uniform of Civil War Days.

BY ROSALIND SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 1. — Hollywood gets real grand at times, but its Charley MacArthur who can get grander. Barney Glazer and his wife, Sharon Lyon of the films, gave a dinner party the other night and on the invitations it said: "Full dress."

Charley MacArthur and Lawrence Stallings were among the elect invited to this select uplift gathering. Charley arrived in the full dress uniform of Gen. Grant, and Stallings arrived as Gen. Robert E. Lee.

In the old days MacArthur had had a bit of difficulty with his superior officer at Fort Sheridan because of his distaste for the spic and span military requirements and had responded with typical MacArthurian repartee at all efforts made to make him look like a soldier, but he went for grandeur this night, and how grand!

If there are any officers who survived being MacArthur's superior, this should be a great comfort to them now. MacArthur is now in Hollywood in a writing capacity. He is doing the film language for the three Barrymores in "Rasputin." His wife, Hilda Hayes, is starring in "Farewell to Arms."

De Mille is having a time with Roman orgies to the right of him and to the left of him; the shooting is hot and furious. In "The Sign of the Cross," his opus about ancient Rome, there is a lot of scenery being made that goes under the name of "foreign versions" and if it weren't for a camera the judge would call it something else entirely. The danse du ventre that Joyzelle is doing for the film is simply something terrific, not to mention the big shower bath scene where the empress, played by Claudette Colbert, is found clothed only in spray. The old master knows his orgies and his public.

Mitzi Green, who is wandering around over at Radio Pictures with her brown locks bleached and curled to make her look like "Little Orphan Annie," does not exactly fancy herself as a blonde. Under the soothing influence of a frozen confection Mitzi broke out and told me she felt like a cross between Harpo Marx and Jean Harlow. It's funny but its true—that's exactly what she looks like.

William Gargan, over at Radio, is still goofy from having been thrown off Constance Bennett's set. Bill is the guy who played the photographer in Maurine Watkins' play, "Chicago," and the part of Regan in "Animal Kingdom."

Constance is very temperamental about acting if there are visitors on the set, and as Gargan is a seasoned stage actor this is a mystery to him, as the more people who turn out to see him act the better he likes it.

Meanwhile, Constance is working night and day finishing "Rockabye" so that she can sail on the Ile de France Sept. 14 She expects to be gone a month or more, spending her time mainly in Paris, which was her home during one period of her career.

Helen Twelvetrees has left for New York to spend her time waiting for the arrival of her baby with her parents, Mr and Mrs. William C. Jurgens, of Brooklyn.

Gene Raymond, young blond player of Swedish descent who has been co-featured with Frances Dee in a series of Paramount films, is thought so well of that M.G.M. has now borrowed him to play with Clark Gable, Jean Harlow, and Mary Aster in "Red Dust."

The Death Watch

By Edgar Wallace

SYNOPSIS.

Peter Dunn of Scotland Yard is in pursuit of a band of thieves who some years before had robbed the Canadian Bank of Commerce in London. The robbers spent nine years in jail for the theft, but the loot was never recovered. Peter's buddy, Inspector Saxe Allerway, was dismissed in disgrace, accused of taking a bribe from the head thief, and killed himself. Peter, the only baronet in the service, kept right on working after he came into his title and fortune. It was his form of fun and he wanted to vindicate Allerway. The year after the robbers were released Peter, on a vacation, cruising on the Thames, recognises a servant in a supposedly haunted house as one of the robbers. Peter stays to investigate. The house is owned by Mr. Hannay, and is one of two identical villas lying side by side. Hannay's has been improved, while the other is deserted and decayed. Neither Hannay nor his daughter, Pat, believes the ghost stories, but the servants leave one by one. Hannay invites Mr. Herzoff, a scientist living in the neighborhood, to be his guest. Pat, driving near her home, nearly collides with Peter's car. She meets Peter again in her garden, where she has just encountered a huge, grotesque man, who says he is the new gardener. Peter learns that the deserted villa had recently been inhabited.

INSTALLMENT XI.

THE THREAT OF DANGER.

Peter's explanation was all Greek to Pat.

"What do you want?" she asked.

"I want to talk to you. Will you come down?"

She shook her head.

"Then let me come up. I swear I won't hurt you or offend you in any way."

"Don't be ridiculous."

She thought for a moment, then:

"Go to the front door and knock, and I'll come down and see you in the dining room."

"No, thank you," said Peter with the utmost politeness. "I never meet ladies in dining rooms. It spoils the romance. Let me come up."

Then she remembered.

"Who told you the wires were cut?"

"I didn't say 'cut,' I said 'disconnected.' Let me come up, only for a second."

Without waiting for her permission he jumped up on the window sill below, caught a stout tendril of a vine that ran up by her window, and drew himself breast high, his elbow on the sill. She stepped back and stared at him. She had a wild inclination to push him from his insecure foothold, for she supposed that his feet were resting on something.

"First of all, let me give you this."

He lugged from his pocket a book. From where he was he could just reach the bookshelf, and, by bracing his feet in a fork of the vine, could give himself the necessary purchase. He thrust the book into a vacant place on the shelf.

"Now listen, and don't interrupt," said Peter dictatorially. "I'm putting that book there because you may be in some danger. I want you to give me your word of honor that you won't touch it—until there is urgent need."

"Is this your idea of a joke——"

"It's no joke," said Peter. "The title's a joke—it's called 'Advice to a Young Lady of Fashion'—God knows you want no advice! You must promise me you won't tell your father or anybody else that I gave it to you."

She looked at the dingy cover. Even at the distance at which she stood she could decipher the faded red title.

"What is it?"

She reached out her hand for it, but he stopped her.

"Word of honor?" he demanded sternly, and meekly she repeated the words.

Peter listened.

"Do you want to know why I'm hanging round and why I forced my acquaintance on you this morning? O, yes, I did it deliberately. I could easily have avoided you. I was going to slow the car when I saw it was you."

"Why are you here?" asked Pat, and Peter Dunn's face became suddenly stern.

"I'm here to clear the reputation of the best man that ever lived," he said, and in another second he had disappeared.

She looked down, but he was not in sight, and she stood, puzzled and bewildered, until she heard a sound that made her blood turn to ice.

The professor was nearing the end of his narrative.

"They were tramps to the world, but they had known one another many years before, in happier circumstances."

He had a majestic delivery; gave to the most commonplace story the dignity of history.

"Both had deteriorated through the years, and he was a brute, more like a beast than a man. Then one day, when they touched the lowest depths, they meet in this neighborhood. The murder was committed"—his voice was slow and impressive—"in that wooden hut on the edge of your grounds. A witness heard the sobbing of the woman, saw the door of the hut open slowly, and the murderer come out."

He stopped for a moment.

"And that is what has been seen since."

Mr. Hannay shivered.

"I don't believe it," he began.

"That is my theory," said the professor. "She was in the hut when he found her. The sound you hear is not the tapping of an insect, it is the tapping on the door of the hut when the murderer sought admission."

His eyes suddenly traveled to the door of the library.

"Look!" he said huskily.

The door was ajar, opening slowly, without any human agency.

Hannay started to his feet; his legs gave way under him, but with an effort he braced himself and ran to the open door. There was nobody there.

"Who is it?" he asked hoarsely.

From the dark passage came the sound of a woman sobbing, and then a bestial scream that sent him reeling back.

Pat heard it and came flying down the stairs. She saw her father standing at the open door of the library, transfixed, his face pale, his mouth open ludicrously.

"What is it?" she asked.

"Did you hear anything?" demanded Hannay, shakily. "This is the finish, Pat . . . we'll get out of this house tomorrow."

The professor nodded slowly.

"That is the wisest decision you have ever made, Mr. Hannay," he said.

Morning brought a blue sky and a flood of sunlight, and Mr. Hannay weakened on his resolution. He came into Pat's little sitting room to talk the matter over with her.

"I don't know that I'm so keen to leave this place," he said. "In fact, darling, I feel I'm—um—running away from—not exactly danger, but the threat of danger. And we Hannays——"

For some reason Pat did not feel annoyed with him. She had some sense of protection which she could not define or explain.

Mr. Hannay, wandering about the room, his hands in his pockets, suddenly saw a new title on the bookshelf.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

MARY: ITCHINESS OF THE skin is generally due to nervousness or to an excessively dry skin. For the latter use two or three times a week 25 per cent glycerin in olive oil or just olive oil.

EMILY: THE CHIEF THING TO watch with your young daughter is face and hand cleanliness. Let her wash her hands a half dozen times a day as an acne preventive.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Wife Wonders if Anonymous Letter Is True

Doris Tells Woman to Forget She Ever Received It.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"To what extent is it wise for a woman to trust her own judgment? How much faith should a woman have in her intuition?

"I have been married eight years and there are three children; ages are 6 years, 3 years, and 5 months. Before the baby was born I was terribly indisposed physically and mentally and was naturally enough more or less a hermit. Was it so awfully strange that my husband didn't become a hermit, too? In the first place he isn't the type, and as long as nature doesn't see fit to make the man share any of the aches, pains, and general disability, why should any one expect him to do other than take the breaks when they are handed to him?

"While I was at the hospital I received an anonymous letter. I don't have to tell you its contents—if they had been kind or true, the writer would not have been so at pains to conceal his or her identity. At first my husband thought it might be from a woman he considers narrow minded, but later decided it must be from a relative who is feeling rather bitter toward both of us.

"Then an anonymous phone call that is also laid at the door of this same relative. Again the message was anything but good news, if one chose to believe it. Awhile ago I was introduced to a group of people. In that group was a woman who, although I have no real knowledge except just that intuitive feeling, I feel sure was the one mentioned in the anonymous letter. I don't know just why I felt that way and I may have been imagining it, but there seemed to be an undercurrent in the air. I felt as if several of those present (who, without a doubt, have heard about the letter and phone call) were just a trifle more interested or curious than usual.

"With all these puzzling happenings I somehow or other have a strong feeling of trust in my husband. I admit he has plenty of chances to lead a double life if he chose to, for he is not subject to a time clock nor does he have to pass in a written excuse whenever he stays out late, but somehow or other, despite the realization that I haven't a chance in the world in competition with youth, charm, or physical beauty, I have a conviction that he is playing the game fair and square.

"What I would like to know is whether I am, like Ed Wynn, just another 'Perfect Fool,' and whether I am storing up future trouble for myself? Am I living in a fool's paradise? BARBARA JEANNE."

Be what you call another "Perfect Fool!" Live on in what you term a fool's paradise! But believe in your husband! Tell him you believe in him. Any woman who lets an anonymous letter writer or phone caller interrupt her faith in her husband is a plain, unvarnished idiot. Train yourself to believe you never received either letter or phone call.

Fears of This Age Beat Down on the Children

Pioneer Youngster's Life Was Not So Complex.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Our pioneers, men and women, were a wonderful people. I doubt if any other country has ever held their equal.

Take Daniel Boone. He was a valiant soul. When some family moved to within—was it fifty miles of him?—he just felt so stifled by the crowd that he had to move on to where he could breathe and have a little elbow room. And if his wife and children were disappointed because they liked a little sociability—well, it was just too bad!

I got to thinking about pioneer children the other day out here in the country. One of the children had, all in the same day, given evidence of both fearlessness and of fear. The first was related to animals; the second to civilization. And the latter bothered me a lot.

And then I thought to myself: "Why should we expect our children to be without any fears at all? Perhaps, theoretically, if we were perfect and the world was we might accomplish that. But actually it's more to be expected that they should have them than that they shouldn't."

The pioneer children's fears could be pared down probably to two—fear of Indians and fear of wild beasts. Bad enough—but still limited and tangible.

But our children have, you might say, the fears of this complex world beating in upon them. Too, too often the horrors and crime and degradation, the disease and abnormality, the depression of the whole world are concentrated in the conversation or the news, in the movies or radio for them to see and hear.

Is it surprising that our children should sprout a fear or two?

All we can do are two things. First, when the children are little we can, to a large extent, prevent fears from getting started because then we can control our children's contacts almost absolutely.

Second, when fears do form, we can avoid ridiculing them, but bring them understandingly into the light. We can be patient in teaching a child either that he has nothing to fear—or, if he has, we can teach him how to face it and be brave about it.

And we must always remember in guiding children, that fear is not synonymous with cowardice.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Clothing Would Help.

"My husband has been out of work for a long time and there are seven of us in the family. We need one double bed or two single beds and bed linen. The three oldest boys are sleeping on the floor. Two of them need shorts, size 14, and shoes, size 9½. The 9 year old boy and the girls 7 and 4 have no clothing either. My husband wears shoes, size 10. I'd be grateful for baby clothing, too, as we are expecting another child.

"MRS. W. H."

Can you supply any of the things this large and desperately poor family needs? Sleeping on the floor can't be very comfortable and lack of presentable clothing will ruin any chance of securing work the older members of the family may have.

WEDDING

The marriage of Miss Ottilie Frances Noonan, daughter of Mrs. Francis Joseph Noonan of Chicago, to Dr. Alexander Dickinson Ghiselin Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Alexander D. Ghiselin, of Riverdale, N. Y., was solemnized at noon yesterday in St. John's church at Rochester, Minn. Owing to the illness of the bride's mother, only the immediate families and a few intimate friends attended the ceremony. Miss Katherine Shaughnessy acted as maid of honor and Francis Ghiselin was best man for his brother.

AMERICANS SWEEP WALKER CUP FOURSOMES

SOX PROSPERITY IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER NOW

Grabiner Gives Plan to Rebuild Team.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox as a club, not a team, haven't surrendered to adversity. Thirteen seasons of lingering around the cellar door have been trying on the officials, not to mention the neighbors, but there are big things immediately ahead. You can take this from Harry Grabiner, vice president of the south side organization. "We've always tried and maybe we've been wrong, but we'll keep on trying until we click," Grabiner said yesterday. It was his reply to insinuation that the club hasn't made a sincere effort to build up a winner; that its scouting system is inconsequental and that players carry a perpetual grouch because of meager salaries. Grabiner pointed out that last winter J. Louis Comiskey, the owner, personally signed every athlete and gave them just about what was demanded if the first offer wasn't acceptable. There wasn't a holdout.

HARRY GRABINER.

Here's the Sox Program.

Now for the future. Here are the things promised to bring back the south side fan who has drifted away until such time as a first division team is produced:

1. One or two men, now stars in the American league, will be wearing white hosiery next season. Preliminary steps in these deals already have been taken.

2. A balanced business organization will be completed. It is practically assured that the Sox will purchase a minor league club of high classification, place their own man in charge and develop young players.

3. Two new scouts of experience will be signed either to augment the present staff or to supplant some of the latter.

4. One or two of the leading minor league players available will be purchased. In addition there will be four or five youths recalled after a season of experience in various minors.

5. There will be no strings on the bank roll if any club in the league is willing to part with good players for cash instead of talent. Two or three of the clubs, after lean seasons financially, may welcome this means of escape from difficulties in the treasury department.

Scouts Have Been a Liability.

For years Sox scouts are said to have done more damage to the club than good. There probably has been some justification for the charge. When Charles Comiskey was alive it was patent by the way good players were grabbed by other clubs that there was some defect in the south side system. This could have been more the result of poor tips furnished by the scouts than reluctance on the part of the owner to spend his money freely.

Grabiner stated that more than a million dollars had been spent for minor leaguers in the last 13 years. The trouble has been that most of it was wasted on obscure minor leaguers who, as was obvious to all except the scouts, had little chance to become major league athletes.

Willing to Spend, Says Grabiner.

"It is not time to say we have deliberately passed up the best minor league talent because of the expenditures involved," explained Grabiner elaborating on the above point. "In the last few years of Mr. Comiskey's life he was vitally concerned about his health and the club by necessity was neglected. But it never was a matter of money. There was no reason to fear an investment in good men because the south side would, and will, respond as soon as a real winner appears.

"We thought we had made more progress this spring than in the ten

TALKING IT OVER

BY ARCH WARD.

THERE is one title the Cubs cannot claim in 1932 baseball. That is the hard luck championship. This distinction goes to the Boston Braves.

During the first half of the season the Braves looked like formidable pennant contenders. Part of the time they were in first place. Then a succession of bad breaks, without parallel in the major leagues this season, overtook them. Consider these setbacks:

1. Wesley Schulmerich, regular outfielder, out of the game two months from injuries. He has just rejoined the team.

2. Bill Hargrave, catcher, suffered broken ankle two weeks ago and will be lost for the rest of the reason.

3. Red Worthington, regular outfielder and one of the club's leading hitters, has been out of the lineup for a month from a broken leg and will not play again this year.

4. Billy Urbanski, regular shortstop, out for two weeks. He is now back in the lineup.

5. Fritz Knothe, regular third baseman, injured his knee last Monday and is reported out for the season.

6. Fred Leach, outfielder, has been on the bench most of the season because of leg injuries.

7. Art Shires, first baseman, hurt early in season and lost to team.

There is an unconfirmed report making the rounds that education is the primary purpose of a university. This rumor occasionally is given some support by news reels showing young men and women in cap and gown receiving diplomas in June from the hands of a distinguished looking gentleman who presumably is the president.

But this slant on the purpose of a university is badly shaken in September. This department within the last ten days has received scores of pieces from college publicity bureaus dealing with the staggering losses suffered by Coach Soandso, the wizard gridiron mentor at Blank university.

I sometimes wonder whether the deans and professors grow as lachrymose over the loss of brilliant classroom material as do the football coaches. In none of the articles from college correspondents have we observed an item like this:

"Onion seminary has been dealt a terrific blow by the loss of five Phi Beta Kappas. The prospects are extremely dark for a banner cerebral season. President Hoosis predicts a decisive defeat when his crippled band of philosophers meets its old rivals from Intelligo college in their annual battle of brains Oct. 8."

Although the Cubs are seven and a half games to the good and the season now is in its last month, no arrangements are being made to handle world series tickets. There is no disposition either in President Veeck's office or in Manager Grimm's quarters to discuss the Cubs in relation to a world series.

There is no use trying to beat the gun by ordering your tickets to the series. You can save time and money by waiting for announcement that the Cubs are ready to receive your dough.

You have only to consider the comeback of Benny Leonard, 36 years old, to realize that much of the allure of boxing lies not in the fights of the present but in a romance which, as the years roll by, envelopes the game's heroes and gilds their adventures.

Leonard on Oct. 3 will fight Jimmy McLarnin, who had not started to kindergarten when Benny was establishing himself as the greatest lightweight of his day. Leonard began his comeback about a year ago, after the fortune he had acquired in his prime had been swept away in the stock market crash. He is reported to have salted away $65,000 since his return to the ring. So no matter what happens when he meets McLarnin, his campaign of financial rehabilitation has been successful.

Kid Chocolate Stops Marchese in Fourth

Freeport, L. I., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Kid Chocolate of Cuba scored a technical knockout over Frankie Marchese of New York in the fourth round of a scheduled six round bout at Municipal stadium tonight. The referee halted the uneven contest after 1:10 of the round.

CUBS EYE 13TH IN A ROW TODAY; PLAY CARDINALS

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who in about a month can cut up their world championship pennant and sew it into a crazy quilt, are in town today to launch a four game series which will wind up the Cubs' historic and utterly insane home stand. The first of the series will be played this afternoon, tomorrow there will be a double header, and Sunday the teams will conclude their 1932 program in a single game.

The Cards, recently arrived at the top of the second division, haven't been so hot for world champions, in so far as the National league is concerned and trail the Cubs in the league standings by 13 games. In competition with the league leading Chicagoans, however, they have been just as good as the Cubs. Each team has won nine games from the other.

Cubs Want Revenge.

Since Charley Grimm took over the management of the Cubs a month ago today the Cubs have won 22 games while losing five. The tabulation would have been 24 wins and three losses in the same span except for two heartbreaker finishes which on Aug. 14 enabled Tex Carleton and Dizzy Dean and their associates to take both ends of a double header, 2 to 0, and 2 to 1.

After that double licking the Cubs came home and on Aug. 16 launched their stand against the eastern teams which closed Wednesday with a remarkable record of 15 wins out of the 16 played, the one reversal being the 6 to 5 trimming they took at the hands of the Boston Braves on Aug. 19.

Warneke Due on Sunday.

Despite all their success since the double loss on Aug. 14, the Cubs haven't forgotten the greediness of the Cardinals on that Sabbath afternoon and plan punishment. With this in mind, Manager Grimm will start Burleigh Grimes this afternoon, the old gentleman having been a ball of fire in recent appearances. In the double header tomorrow Malone will go after his victory No. 14 and Guy Bush will seek win No. 17. Lon Warneke, victim of wicked Giant behavior before the first putout in Wednesday's game, will try again for No. 20 in the home stay blowoff Sunday.

In addition to the revenge motif the Cubs also will have the business of pennant clinching in mind, a matter made a little more urgent by the recent awakening of the Pittsburgh Pirates, which has enabled them to win their last five games.

28 Games Remain.

The Cubs have 28 more games to play as compared with 25 left on the Pirate card and lead the Pirates by 7½ games—with six more victories and nine fewer defeats. The Chicagoans haven't set any quota for themselves, desiring to extend their present 12 game winning streak as far as possible before they even think about a single defeat. They realize, however, that if they win one game for every one they lose the rest of the way the Pirates will have to win 21 out of their remaining 25 games to win the pennant.

Yesterday the team was not required to go to the clubhouse for the old time roll call. The players rested as they pleased excepting Manager Grimm, who put in a strenuous day visiting hospitals where patients had asked for the opportunity to make his acquaintance.

BIRKIE WHIPS GASTANAGA WITH COUNTER-ATTACK

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Hans Birkie, Oakland, Cal., heavyweight, stopped Isidore Gastanaga's winning streak tonight, outpointing the Spaniard in ten rounds at the Queensboro stadium. Birkie weighed 195½ pounds, Gastanaga 190½.

Birkie fought a counter fight through the first nine rounds and then assumed the offensive in the tenth to gain the decision. Gastanaga apparently was troubled by his injured right arm and used it only sparingly [illegible] no effect.

GANGWAY! RED'S LOOSE AGAIN

Red Grange, the great star of the middle twenties, is still galloping along in these early thirties. He started his 1932 galloping yesterday when the Chicago Bears opened their practice at Logan Square park for the National Professional Football league season. It was just ten years ago this fall that Grange entered the University of Illinois as a freshman. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Johnny Risko Gets Decision Over Levinsky

Cleveland, O., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Age and experience upset youth tonight as Johnny Risko of Cleveland was awarded a twelve round decision over King Levinsky of Chicago.

Never at any time during the sluggish proceedings did either boxer approach a knockdown or score a truly damaging blow and a crowd of nearly 20,000 persons at the stadium howled in disappointment as the verdict was announced, later changing their boos to cheers.

Risko Too Crafty.

Risko was too crafty and too fast for the Chicagoans, who kept boring in but usually was unable to land cleanly.

The King put on a fast finish in the twelfth round and several times just missed connecting his right with Johnny's jaw.

Johnny forced the fighting most of the way, outboxing Levinsky, who showed a willingness to mix but could not fathom the Risko defense. The King had the better of the in-fighting, and once, in the third, inflicted severe punishment when he caught Johnny in a corner.

In the Wake of the News

ARMY-NAVY FOOTBALL.

TO an outsider it looks as if Army and Navy athletic officials, convinced official pressure or public opinion would force a late gridiron meeting as happened the last two years, decided to arrange the matter themselves.

By this means they may, without criticism, retain part of the gate receipts for athletic needs of the two war service academies. While college athletic heads, naturally, have not been verbose on the subject, it is no secret they are pretty well fed up on charity exhibitions which either disarrange their schedules or prolong the season, besides diverting funds needed in this period of depression for support of other non-paying athletic activities. If you don't happen to think so, just ask the Big Ten and Northwestern in particular.

There probably will be charity games still played, but we doubt whether they will be as numerous as in the past. Those played will be because of outside influence rather than pure volition. Charity, as charity, has ceased to be a drawing card in football. Therefore, any "natural" played diverts that much from somewhat thin athletic treasuries.

In their pact neither Army nor Navy receded from its previous eligibility stand which produced the break of five years ago. Briefly, Army observes the freshman rule but not the 3 year eligibility rule. That is, a college player entering West Point may play there three years, no matter how long he played at college. Navy, observing the freshman rule, limits eligibility to a total of three years, including previous competition at college. Insistence that Army follow the same code brought the break, now soothed for three years at least—probably permanently on some working basis.

Army and Navy arguments in favor of their respective codes were so thoroughly discussed at the time there is no need of repetition now. But it requires considerable tact and strategy to end such controversies. Colleges and universities are peculiar that way.

In a poker game, if a gentleman suspects another gentleman has markings on the cards which give him an advantage, he is likely to call for a new deck. To refuse a new deck, under such circumstances, would be regarded as proof something was wrong. In college circles, however, call for a new deck is a reflection to be resented. To supply a new deck would be admission there had been a previous advantage. So the game breaks up.

Army and Navy wish to meet in football. The present pact bridges the difficulty, without loss of dignity to either, and provides another gridiron thriller on the football schedule.

The Loss of You.

Leprechauns and fairies,
Peep at me at twilight
From books upon the shelves;
Books we read together
Of shamrock in the dell,
Of blarney stone and lovers

And now a banshee howls—
The soul of me is dead;
My heart is bleeding, dripping,
And the Little Folk have fled.

DUTRA GETS 67 IN VICTORY OVER MYLES, 5 AND 3

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 1.—Olin Dutra of Santa Monica, Cal., defeated Reggie Myles of Ashland, O., 5 and 3, to reach the quarter finals of the national professional golf tournament today. The coast giant gave the Keller County club course another going over with a 67 in the morning and then played through 15 holes of fair to middlin' golf to achieve victory.

Dutra's 67 was five strokes under par and only one over his remarkable 66 of yesterday. He was out in 34, two under par, and came back with a 33 to lead Myles, 7 up at the turn of their scheduled 36 hole match.

In the afternoon Dutra was troubled with the traps and his lead was cut to 4 up by the time they reached the twenty-seventh. Myles, meanwhile, was breezing along with par figures for a 36. Dutra held the 4 up lead and wound up the match on the thirty-third with a par three when Myles missed a three foot putt.

Espinosa Loses at 38th.

Dutra shared the spotlight with Ed Dudley of Wilmington, Del.; Frank Walsh of Chicago, and Herman Barron of Port Chester, N. Y. Dudley easily disposed of Henry Pickard of Charleston, S. C., 10 and 9. Walsh beat Gene Kunes of Hartford, Conn., 9 and 8, and Barron upset Abe Espinosa on the 38th green when the Chicagoan failed to sink a six foot putt.

Another upset was furnished by Al Collins, of Kansas City, who defeated Johnny Golden, 1 up. It was Golden who sidetracked Walter Hagen of Detroit, winner of the P. G. A. championship five times, yesterday in the first round of match play.

Tom Creavy, Albany, N. Y., the defending champion, found a tough opponent in John Parelli of San Francisco and was forced to battle through 36 holes before winning, 1 up. Creavy scored a par four on the final hole to reach the quarter-finals.

Parelli Misses Putt.

Going to the final hole, both Creavy and Parelli drove their tee shots straight and long, but Parelli got into a trap with his second, to the left of the green. Creavy laid his a bit to the right, but it was on.

Parelli exploded a beautiful third, which left his ball only seven feet from the cup, slightly to the right. He made a good putt, but got a tough break when the ball circled the cup and bounced out. Creavy's first putt rolled past the cup by two feet and it was an easy par four.

Barron had a medal card of 68 for the first 18 holes this afternoon, while Espinosa was getting 69. Creavy also played the last 18 in 69. Summaries:

Olin Dutra, Santa Monica, Cal., defeated Reggie Myles, Ashland, O., 5 and 3.

Herman Barron, Port Chester, N. Y., defeated Abe Espinosa, Chicago, 1 up, 38 holes.

Bobby Cruickshank, Port Richmond, N. Y., defeated Vincent Eldred, Pittsburgh, Pa., 3 and 1.

BRITONS BEATEN BY 25 HOLES IN 1ST DAY'S PLAY

Meet in 8 Singles Today.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Sept. 1.—Not to deceive the public or blow wind into the story of the Walker cup golf matches, there was no struggle in the first day's round which consisted of four Scotch foursomes. The Americans won them all.

JESS SWEETSER.

If you will be patient for a few words I will explain what a Scotch foursome is and what the Walker cup tournament is all about, and then go on with the scenario, which will contain historical references and some of those slackaday allusions to the passing of the years and youth and age and so forth. I might also describe the significance of the Walker cup.

Now, About that Foursome.

A Scotch foursome is a golf match in which two pairs of players oppose one another, each pair playing alternate strokes on one ball. It is calculated to disrupt old friendships because each player is likely to sympathize with himself and blame his partner for leaving the ball in a bad lie on the preceding shot. It is a gloomy refinement of a gloomy game invented by a gloomy and long faced race whose racial keynote is sounded by a squealing bladder hung over with funeral streamers, suggesting the skinning of a live pig. That is what a Scotch foursome is.

The four matches were played on the property of the Country club at Brookline, Mass. The Country club is a sort of social heaven of Boston, very exclusive and refined and hard to crash. It is an old country club, with a quarter mile horse track forming a loam bunker in front of the eighteenth green, and an old wooden grandstand, done in the jigsaw architecture of the nineties, near the finish line. If there is any exclusive golf grounds in the U. S. A. whose finance committee is not at this time importuning the grocer, the plumber and other persons engaged in common trade or toil to come out and try the course, free, with an idea of joining, it is the Country club of Brookline. A Cabot or a Lowell may make the grade, but even they have to behave themselves. The club is very, very old county family.

The Cup Is Just a Cup.

Historically, these are the grounds on which Francis Ouimet, but recently a caddy boy in the Boston suburbs, beat the great Vardon and the great Ray, the English professionals, in a playoff for the open championship of the United States 19 years ago. He was only a boy then, of the boy wonder school of Willie Hoppe. All the people who have personal recollections of that famous victory are likely to choke up and drop a sentimental tear now that he is coming back again, this doddering old codger of 39, to win once more on the ground where he interposed his slim physique against the onslaught of the British. Any maybe you'll remember Sweet Alice, Ben Bolt.

The Walker cup is a huge urn of the same shape as you will see done in stone on the gateposts of cemeteries, with big silver ears. It was put up ten years ago by George Herrert Walker, a broker and financier of St. Louis, Mo., as a team golf trophy for American and British amateur teams only. There have been some bye years in which one side or the other had not sufficient money, confidence, or enthusiasm to stand the strain of competition, and this tournament is the seventh of the series.

Americans Win.

Well, so today began the seventh tournament, with four pairs of Americans playing four pairs of British. The eight Americans won their matches with an aggregate margin of 25 holes, and their guests will now have to win seven out of the eight singles matches Friday to come out on top.

Jess Sweetser and George Voigt beat the Hartley boys, Lester and Rex, brothers, 7 up and 6 to play. The

SPRINTERS CLOSE MEETING TODAY AT HAWTHORNE

BY FRENCH LANE.

The racing season at Hawthorne, the most profitable of the year in Chicago, will close this afternoon with the running of the sprint championship.

The regulars call the race the "Little Gold cup," as it is a weight for age event and engages some of the stars which battled for the Gold cup a week ago, although the route is only 6½ furlongs.

Hygro, the flyer from the Nevada stock farm stable, will rule as the favorite, and probably a short priced one at that. He will have Siskin as his running mate, and the chief threat against the Nevada pair will be the Chicago entry of Pairbypair and Bisque, which will race in the silks of Mrs. John Hertz.

Old Polydorus to Start.

Others in the field are Polydorus, a dangerous old timer which runs as fast as any man's horse when in the mood, and Gallant Sir, a sensation from the Pacific coast. The latter was quite prominent about Kentucky Derby time last spring. Later he was on the shelf from a training mishap, but his recent brilliant victory at Hawthorne demonstrated that he is as good as ever.

The track was slow at Hawthorne yesterday, but was improving. It may be fast today and if it is the track record is more than likely to be shattered. It is expected that Hygro will go to the post at about 3 to 5 in the betting.

Hawthorne's racing season has been the most remarkable of the year in Chicago and perhaps in America. Day after day crowds ranging from 8,000 to 12,000 have gathered at the old track on the west side.

Wagering Reported Heavy,

There is no official report but rumors are heard that the betting at Hawthorne has averaged about $50,000 more a day than at any other track operating here this year. During more than half of the meeting Hawthorne has been bidding for patronage against the Cubs.

Some folks contend that racegoers do not go to baseball games and that baseball fans do not frequent the race tracks. Well, if you try to tell that to John Schank, president of the Hawthorne track, he's liable to hit you right on the chin.

"We're all pulling for the Cubs," Mr. Schank said yesterday. "Many of our patrons got thrills when the Cubs' scores were announced, but if the Cubs hadn't been in town rolling up their string of victories, Hawthorne's profits would have been increased by $50,000."

The Hawthorne track has renewed all of its old fixtures during the 29 day meeting. The stake races attracted huge crowds and most of them will be run next season, President Schank announced.

Horses Go to Other Tracks.

With the close of the Hawthorne meeting today, the turf scene in this district shifts to two other points, Lincoln Fields and Aurora. Most of the horses that have been racing at Hawthorne go to Lincoln Fields but quite a few stables will be transferred to Aurora.

The two tracks will make a strong bid for patronage during the next 13 days, when they are scheduled to operate in opposition to each other.

Racing Opens Tomorrow at Lincoln Fields

Eight races, with the Crete purse and the one mile Olympia Fields purse, both for 3 year olds and upward, as headliners, will inaugurate the 21 day autumn meeting at Lincoln Fields tomorrow.

Entries for the day's card, along with nominations for the $3,500 Labor Day handicap on Monday, will be accepted today. Entries for the handicap will close tonight with Racing Secretary William H. Shelley and weights and declarations are due tomorrow morning at the track.

Expect Strong Field Monday.

Secretary Shelley expects a strong field for the Labor day feature, which will be run over the mile distance. His list of probable starters yesterday included Plucky Play, Hygro, Evergold, Charleigh, Surf Board, Ridgeview, Rusty, My Dandy, Brown Wisdom, B'ar Hunter, Playdale, Sweep All, Prince Hotspur, Wotan, Supreme Sweet, Prince Atheling, Cathop, and others.

Officials of the track were busy yesterday registering approximately 1,200 horses and issuing badges for the meeting. New stables are arriving daily, yesterday bringing six strings from Dade Park. One hundred more horses are expected from the same track Sunday.

Schedules Subject to Change.

Col. Matt J. Winn, executive director at Lincoln Fields, said yesterday that the racing program for the meeting will be subject to change at any time to include any features that may seem advisable during the season. He said he expects to offer many special events, matching the leading horses of the east and middle west.

With the exception of Labor day, when racing will begin at 2 o'clock, post time for the first race will be 2:15 o'clock daily. The races will be run off in such rapid order that patrons may return to downtown Chicago shortly after 5 o'clock each day, it was announced by C. Bruce Head, general manager.

Those who do not wish to remain for the eighth race may return on a special train after the seventh.

AURORA OPENS, TOO

Exposition park, where the Aurora Jockey club will operate a fall meeting of thirteen days or more, will open tomorrow.

Most of the barns at the track have their full quotas of horses from Ohio, Kentucky, Canada, and Chicago. Late arrivals are expected to fill all stables, assuring large fields daily.

Eight races will be run tomorrow and on Labor day. On weekdays, however, only seven races will be run daily. This will give racing fans from Chicago and other cities time to get home to dinner.

Aurora, as in the last two years, will admit ladies free on the opening day, and thereafter they will be the guests of the management on Tuesdays and Fridays.

The opening day card will be featured by the Inaugural handicap, a six furlong dash for horses of all ages. The daily double form of wagering, first introduced to local racegoers at Aurora last May, again will be featured during the fall meeting.

Springfield Wins, 5-1; Ties Series with New Orleans

Manchester, N. H., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Springfield, Mass., defeated New Orleans, 5 to 1, in the third game for the American Legion junior baseball championship today. The teams are now tied, New Orleans having won on Tuesday, while yesterday's game was called off in the 12th inning because of darkness with the score 5 to 5. Score.

WINNER AND A RUNNER-UP

Miss Rena Nelson of Exmoor (left), who tied for second place in the Derby of the Women's Western Golf association at Knollwood, and Mrs. S. L. Reinhardt Jr., who won the championship with 320. Miss Nelson's 329 tied Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, whom she will meet in an 18 hole playoff this morning. (TRIBUNE Photo.)

U. S. Sweeps Walker Cup Foursomes

English youths had no luck and their hope quit when they were only three down in the morning and one of Sweetser's drives, which should have gone out of bounds, hit a tree trunk and bounced back onto the fairway toward the green. This made Red Hartley bloody damned mad, as he said, not at Sweetser or the tree or any actual object, but just bloody damned mad at things, a state of mind which can be sympathetically understood only by a golfer whose opponent has hit a perfectly rotten shot and bounced plunk back onto the golf course. After that, the English boys fell further and further behind.

The next match was won, 6

STAGG TO QUIT? NO, IT'S JUST A YEARLY REPORT

New Eligibility Rules to Help Maroon Athletes.

The perennial report that Amos Alonzo Stagg, for 41 years coach of the University of Chicago football team, would retire at the close of the current season bobbed up again yesterday and met with the customary denial.

The current report was to the effect that Coach Stagg would give up active coaching at the end of the season and devote all of his time to his position as director of athletics. It was reported that H. O. [Pat] Page, former Maroon star and now Stagg's assistant, or Judge Walter Steffen, old time Maroon and now coach at Carnegie Tech, would take over the coach's post.

"I haven't even given any thought to next year," Coach Stagg said when informed of the report. "Right now I'm busy preparing for this season and I'm going to continue to devote all my thought to turning out a better football team. I won't consider next year's appointments until next year."

Prospects Good.

For several seasons Stagg has been reported ready to quit, but he has come back a little more actively each season. The report was given more credence than usual last year when it was reported he would round out his fortieth season and then quit. But he is back again and has given no indication that he doesn't intend to finish out his fifth decade as a football coach.

Prospects for the Maroons are the best in many seasons.

Eligibility rules just formulated under the university's new plan provide that Maroon athletes, except seniors, shall be eligible for a full year of competition instead of from quarter to quarter, as under the old system. The new eligibility rules go into effect this fall.

Hereafter a student at Chicago first becomes eligible for intercollegiate athletic competition whenever he has been in residence for three quarters, or nine months, and has passed any three comprehensive examinations.

Three Exams a Year.

Under the new plan, which has no required courses, required class attendance, nor time limits, a student may take the examinations whenever he believes himself qualified. Whenever he passes six comprehensive examinations he has fulfilled the scholastic requirements of the first two years of the college. The Big Ten one year residence rule, however, will prevent a student's becoming eligible in less than an academic year.

BOBBY THOMAS TO RIDE SUNDAY IN BIKE RACE

Bobby Thomas, five time national champion, and Harold Ade will be among the 100 cyclists who will ride in the 25 mile open scratch race Sunday morning at the Humboldt park track near the Kosciuszko statue. The race, originally scheduled for last week, is sponsored by the Belgian-American club, in conjunction with the Amateur Bicycle League of America.

Others in the field are Andy Engelhardt, former state and tri-state champion, who placed second in the national trials at Boston; Fred Gurth, present state champion; Al Klingbeil, who set a record in the 25 mile open a month ago; and Al Cumming.

On Labor day the league will present a special three hour team race at the park's inner track, in which twenty of Chicago's leading amateurs will compete. Jerry Rodman, south park titleholder, will ride with Fred Gurth; Al Cumming will team with George Carmes; Ed Triest will pair with Al Klingbeil, and Andy Engelhardt will ride with Frank Lemajeur. A three mile open event and an old timers' race complete the program.

Park Ridge Tennis Meet Will Open Tomorrow

The eighth annual Labor day tournament of the Park Ridge Tennis club will open tomorrow, with Frank O'Connell the favorite. Other leading players entered are Gene Quinn and Walter Gallond. Play for the title will continue until Monday. The first matches for the women's singles championship will be played on Monday.

Trout Along Stage Trail Big, Hungry

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Black Hills, S. D., Sept. 1.—The old Deadwood-Custer stage coach with galloping horses came to a dusty stop at a log cabin rest station on the highway between those towns many years ago. Men and women in the picturesque costumes of 1880 milled about with roughly dressed men in broad brimmed hats, lugging six shooters at their belts. And today we caught Lochleven trout in Rapid creek within a stone's throw of this old rest station.

It was noon when we arrived at the ranch house which has displaced the old stage coach stopping point. There was just one building on the side of the hill which seemed to date back to the days when horses and coaches were the only means of transportation up here. This was a sagging, dilapidated barn made of big hand hewn timbers. From the ranch we could look across a broad valley to the timbered hills beyond, and between us and the range spread a fragrant hay meadow through which we could see a crooked winding line of low willows. This vegetation told us that here was Rapid creek, a trout stream.

Old Oaken Bucket.

It was very warm. We saw a well in the ranch yard—one of those with a wooden winch and a bucket which drops 30 feet into the water. We reeled up a bucket of cool water, enjoyed a drink, and then on to the creek. Meantime, we were wondering how we could get trout to strike at midday, when the sun was shining bright.

We found Rapid creek a smaller stream than Spearfish, although the beaver have spread it out considerably at some points with dams that flood part of the meadow. In some places the creek is only six or seven feet wide. In others it might split into two channels only three feet in width. Deep holes alternated with stretches of rapids. In spots we found it open enough so that one could stand back and toss a fly with ease.

Plenty of Trout.

Then there were stretches where the stream banks were so covered with low willows that it is hardly possible to drop either an artificial floating grasshopper or a live bait on a pool. However, there is no doubt about there being plenty of trout near the old stage coach rest station. Two of us with rods and lines hooked 24 dandy trout, many of them running 15 inches in length, in about an hour and a quarter.

VINES DEFEATS SIDNEY WOOD IN EAST-WEST PLAY

South Orange, N. J., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—The west took the lead today in the East-West tennis series on the Orange Lawn Tennis club courts when Ellsworth Vines, California, national singles champion, defeated Sidney Wood Jr., New York, in the final singles match on the day's program. The scores were 6-2, 4-6, 8-6.

Vine's victory gave the west a lead of four matches to three. The east led 3 to 2 until Keith Gledhill, Santa Barbara, won from Gregory Mangin, Newark, 6-3, 7-5, to tie the series. In other matches played today Manuel Alonso of the eastern squad triumphed over Joseph Coughlin, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-3, while Lester Stoefen, Los Angeles, won from Dave Jones, New York, 7-5, 0-6, 6-3.

Judge Orders Johnson's Arrest on Wage Claims

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 1.—(AP)—A bench warrant for the arrest of Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion, who is believed to be in San Francisco, was issued today when Johnson failed to appear to answer six wage claims against him. The wage claims grew out of Johnson's alleged failure to pay money due former employés of his café.

PLAY TWO DOUBLE HEADERS.

A four game series will be played between the Duffy Florals and Logan Squares over the holiday week-end. They play at Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets, Sunday, and at the Squares' park at Keeler and Elston avenues Monday.

previous years combined," Grabiner continued. "But the deals didn't pan out. That's merely bad luck. Nobody dreamed Kress wouldn't hit as he always did. Hodapp always had been a handy man with a bat, but he has hardly hit his weight. Those are breaks you can't anticipate. To say we gave away good men is true. We had to give that kind to get what we wanted."

Walsh and Mulleavy to Return.

The best bets the Sox now have in the minors are Infielder Gregory Mulleavy and Pitcher Ed Walsh with the Oakland, Cal., club, and Outfielder Willis Norman at St. Paul. Another is Jack Rothrock at Toronto. He was sent away because he couldn't hit but is walloping the ball fearlessly in the International. He will be brought back for trial either in the outfield or infield. Walsh, who has overcome his habit of fighting himself, has won 17 games with a weak ball team. Mulleavy when up before was unsteady defensively but is reported to have settled down.

The men involved in the big deals already in mind, are not known but Grabiner promises the trades will startle the baseball world, if they are made. A reasonable guess is that a couple of the present Athletic stars may be obtained.

Play at St. Louis Today.

The White Sox, after two days of idleness, departed last night for St. Louis, where they will begin a four game series with the Browns this afternoon. To make an appearance in St. Louis will be nothing new for the Sox but the visit will have unusual angles. These will be provided by the arrival of three new players from the Texas league. They are Pitchers Biggs and Kowalik and Outfielder Washington.

As Manager Fonseca is anxious to increase the scope of his baseball school, it is probable that he'll have all three of the freshmen in action before the Sox come home for a double header with the Tigers Monday.

Outfielder Fothergill and Pitchers Faber, Frasier and Bartholomew were excused from the St. Louis trip.

Senators Beat Yanks, 6-2, in Series Opener

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Alvin Crowder pitched Washington to a 6 to 2 victory over the Yankees today and showed the league leaders the nearest thing to a shutout they have seen all season.

Crowder gave only two hits and didn't allow a run until one was out in the ninth. The Yanks came through then on Charlie Ruffing's pinch single, giving them a record of 131 games without having been blanked.

Their mark is only one short of the all time major league record, set jointly by the Boston Nationals and the Phillies in 1894, when they each went through a 132 game season without a shutout, and two over the Yanks' own modern record. Score:

A'S HOMERS BEAT TIGERS.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 1.—(AP)—A brace of home runs in the sixth inning brought about the downfall of young Tommy Bridges today and gave the Athletics a 5 to 4 victory over the Detroit Tigers. The A's won the series, three games to two.

Up to the sixth, Bridges pitched great ball and was tied at 1 to 1 in a battle with Rube Walberg. But at that point he tossed home run balls to Al Simmons and Bing Miller, with a man on base each time and the four runs were just enough to decide the game.

Walberg marked up his 16th victory of the season against nine defeats although he yielded eleven hits, while the A's got only nine off Bridges and Buck Marrow. Score:

SCHOLASTIC WOE AGAIN BLIGHTS IOWA CHANCES

Ineligibility Hits Six Grid Candidates.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Ineligibility again threatens to weaken the University of Iowa football squad which Ossie Solem will call into action on Sept. 15.

Three prospective tackles are definitely lost for the season, two veteran back field players are in doubtful scholastic standing and Bus Wellington of Davenport, sophomore full back prospect, is scratched from the list of available candidates. Wellington, who was a star high school player, was regarded as a possible successor to Capt. Oliver Sansen, full back who was graduated last June.

The ineligible tackles are Tullio DellaVedova, Ottumwa, major letter winner last season; and two of the most promising freshmen of last season, Marvin Lueck, Clinton, and Charles Frazee, Centerville.

Jerome Kriz, Cedar Rapids, and Randahl Hickman, Chariton, both major letter half backs, must complete extension work before they will be permitted to compete. The possibility of either becoming eligible is regarded as doubtful.

One month from today the Iowans will engage in their first game against Bradley Tech of Peoria, Ill.

BIERMAN WARNS GOPHERS

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Making his first official statement regarding the 1932 football season, Bernie Bierman, University of Minnesota coach, today warned Gopher adherents against too much optimism.

"There is a great deal of work to be done. We're facing a tough schedule and we'll be going through the early part of it with a green line," Bierman pointed out.

"In playing Purdue, Northwestern and Michigan, we'll be meeting three teams that tied for the 1931 Big Ten championship. Nebraska, Iowa and Wisconsin also are expected to be much stronger this year.

"The Purdue game, coming Oct. 8, gives us a little more than three weeks to prepare for one of the hardest games of the season. Before that time we've got to find linemen capable of replacing the four regulars who were graduated and some strong reserves to back them up."

FERRELL NOT FOR SALE; HE MUST REMAIN INDIAN

Cleveland, O., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Wesley Ferrell, star pitcher for the Cleveland Indians, will continue to play with the team after the expiration of his 10 days' suspension without pay for insubordination in Boston.

In a communication to Cleveland newspapers today, Alva Bradley, president of the Indians, denied Ferrell would be sold or traded.

"Ferrell is not for sale or trade as newspaper stories have indicated," Bradley's message read. "After the 10 days suspension has expired, he will play for Cleveland according to our manager's instructions."

JONES AND DAVIS TO WRESTLE ON COLISEUM CARD

Carnera to Fight Godfrey in Rome for Unemployed

Bill Duffy, manager of Primo Carnera, has announced that the 265 pound Italian boxer will fight George Godfrey, Leiperville, Pa., Negro, at Rome, Italy, in November. Carnera and Duffy will sail from New York for Italy Nov. 1. Benito Mussolini, premier of Italy, is to stage the show for the unemployed in Rome.

Isadore Gastanaga, Basque heavyweight, will leave New York next week for Chicago to begin training for his match at the Stadium Sept. 22.

Max Baer, California's heavyweight champion, may box at Milwaukee and then repeat in Chicago before returning to his home in Livermore, Cal. In the event his manager, Ancil Hoffman, doesn't accept the matches, Baer and his party will leave Monday.

Joe Triner, president of the West Side Boxing club, said yesterday that a ten round match between Barney Ross and Tommy Grogan is likely to be held at Sparta stadium next Friday night. The show will be the last to be promoted this year by the West Side club, which will not have an indoor arena.

The Illinois athletic commission yesterday held a secret meeting to obtain more evidence for the first of a series of hearings which will begin Tuesday to determine whether amateur promoters and boxers are professionals who work for money and not prizes and glory. Pep Kerwin, Western stadium promoter, and Chuck Logan, Northwest stadium matchmaker, were questioned.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, Sept. 1.—Mild rallying tendencies developed today in speculative railroad bonds, but the market as a whole continued in the doldrums, with trading volume falling below yesterday's low level.

Greatest activity was in bonds of Baltimore and Ohio railroad, though the majority of other speculative rail liens scored moderate upturns. The rest of the bond market, both domestic and foreign, was mixed.

The drop in trading volume and the narrowing of price ranges on active issues mark the first period of stability for speculative rail bonds since the first week in July, when the sensational rally began.

Period of Stability.

The drop in trading volume and the narrowing of price ranges on active issues mark the first period of stability for speculative rail bonds since the first week in July, when the sensational rally began.

Traders are watching railroad traffic together with the efforts being made to reduce wages and to consummate the four party eastern consolidation plan.

With prices already up 100 per cent from their lows of the year, the list needs a general stimulus to enable it to penetrate new highs for the recovery.

Current news, while holding out some hope of traffic improvement, is not decisive. Some encouragement is being drawn from the reports of increased carloadings for individual roads for the last week.

Uncertainty over the financing plans of the government contributed to the day's mood. While some observers feel that a long term issue is possible and that the first 4½s may be called for conversion, the consensus is that the treasury will be content with retiring the maturing certificate issues and providing for further needs of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Others to Share Rally.

Other carrier bonds participating in the rally were issues of Alleghany corporation, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Nickel Plate, and Pennsylvania. High grade rails were improved in such instances as Central Pacific firsts 4s, Atchison General 4s, Chesapeake and Ohio 4½s, and Union Pacific first 4s.

Activity in the new issue market was chiefly in municipals, a group headed by the First National bank receiving the award of $1,500,000 state of Maine 4 per cent highway and bridge bonds, due 1954-'57.

Further utility financing is being discussed in bond circles, now that the market has had ample time to digest August substantial offerings.

THE NEW SINCLAIR REGULAR

has a higher anti-knock rating than some premium fuels

It's a bold claim—but we can prove it! The new Sinclair Regular Gasoline actually has a higher anti-knock rating than some premium fuels costing you 3 cents more per gallon!

Sinclair spent $18,000,000 on new refinery equipment to step up the anti-knock rating of Sinclair Regular by 70%. For speedy getaway in traffic—for knockless power on the hills—for outstanding fuel economy, you'll drive a long way before you'll find a gasoline to compare with it at such a price. Try it yourself for 30 days. Test the truth of all we claim here. The astounding sales increases which the new Sinclair Regular has made since it was put on the market prove that this is the gasoline of the century! Ask for the new Sinclair Regular, stepped up 70%.

NOTE: For best results, use Sinclair Opaline or Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil. Both have been de-waxed, and also freed from petroleum jelly at as low as 60° F. below zero.

WHEAT SLIGHTLY LOWER; MONTH'S DELIVERIES BIG

About 13 Million Bushels of 2 Grains Taken.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Deliveries of 13,000,000 bu cash grain on September contracts on the Chicago Board of Trade, largely wheat and corn, resulted in a renewal of scattered liquidation by longs. The sales of the nearby futures of the two grains were absorbed by cash houses that in turn sold the December.

Wheat dropped ½c from the finish of Wednesday and to a new low on the current downturn, touching 51½c for the September, but there was no material pressure, the strength in stocks and cotton attracting considerable attention from the grain trade. Routine news continued to be ignored as it has for some time past, and the finish was on a small rally from the inside figures, with net losses of ¾@⅞c. September closed at 51¾@51⅞c, December 56⅛@56¼c, and May 60⅜@61⅛c.

A good part of the trade in wheat was in changing between the various deliveries, and the market showed a decidedly nervous undertone. Further selling here against purchases at Winnipeg were reported, although the Canadian market lost ¼c relative to Chicago, the finish there being ⅝c lower with December at 56⅝c in Canadian funds. Liverpool was 1¼@1⅜c per bu lower due to scattered selling by outsiders and a slow milling demand. December there was 63⅛c at the close.

Resting Orders Check Declines.

Commission houses generally are said to have accumulated many small buying orders to take wheat futures on a scale down since the market has become active, and this class of support is a decided factor in limiting declines. There was active buying around 56c for the December, and the pit element was not inclined to press the selling side to any great extent.

Reports of export bids for hard winter wheat within ¼c of a working basis were received from the seaboard during the day, although earlier advices had indicated the American grain was offered abroad from the gulf at 5c per bu above what was asked for No. 3 Manitoba and Russian, and 3c above Australian.

Private crop estimates made the spring wheat crop 265,000,000 bu, a decline of 3,000,000 bu from the August figures, and 16,000,000 bu below the government returns of a month ago, but had no influence on the market. Dry weather prevailed in the Canadian northwest and it is expected that deliveries at interior points will increase materially with a few days of bright weather.

More Interest in Corn.

Pit brokers claim that there is now more general interest in the corn market than for a number of weeks. While a good part of the trade yesterday represented spreading operations between the September and the December at 3@3⅜c difference, there was persistent scattered buying of the December and May on the breaks. The finish was ⅝c higher to ¼c lower, with September showing the most strength. The latter closed at 30⅛@30⅝c; December, 33⅝c, and May, 38⅝c.

There is no shortage of corn in sight for the 1932-'33 season, as indicated by the private crop estimates. The latter showed an average of 2,902,000,000 bu, or 59,000,000 bu less than a month ago, but compared with the government forecast of 2,820,000,000 bu. Murray estimated farm reserves at 230,000,000 bu, against 178,000,000 bu a year ago. The country sold 275,000 bu cash corn to arrive yesterday, while the eastern demand was slow.

September oats showed resistance to pressure, and closed ¼c higher, while the distant months were ¼c lower. The nearby futures finished at 17⅛@17⅜c, with December 19⅛c, and May 22@22⅛c. Deliveries of 435,000 bu were below expectations, and the receipts from the country were light. Rye was ⅛@⅜c lower with wheat. September was 31⅝c; December, 34¼c, and May, 35⅝c at the last.

LOWER CORN CROP YIELDS

Drought and heat did some damage to the new corn crop during the month of August, as shown by reports from leading Chicago statisticians. The returns showed an average of 2,903,000,000 bu for the 1932 crop, or 80,000,000 bu less than was suggested a month ago, although still 82,000,000 bu in excess of the government's figures. Little change was shown in the estimates on spring wheat and oats as compared with a month ago.

A wheat crop of 437,000,000 bu is indicated for the three Canadian provinces, compared with 449,000,000 bu a month ago, and compares with 284,000,000 bu harvested last year. Detailed figures on the American crops follow, the last six ciphers omitted:

FALL EXPANSION OF TRADE SEEN AS UNDER WAY

Reserve Barometer Begins to Rise.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The autumn expansion in the volume of business which has been expected with so much confidence throughout the nation has already got under way. That is the inference drawn from the weekly figures released by the federal reserve board last night.

The item "total bills and securities," which is a pretty dependable barometer of business activity, showed an increase in the week ended Wednesday, Aug. 31.

This marks a change in the trend. For weeks the "total bills and securities" item has been declining.

The increase this week is not large—only about five millions—but it marks a start in a new direction. Normally, when the reserve banks begin to show an increase in total bills and securities there is a corresponding upturn in such things as pay rolls and retail trade. With the beginning of September a pickup in trade usually occurs and apparently 1932 is no exception.

Note Circulation Declines.

Despite this manifestation of increased demand for funds to carry on a larger volume of business, federal reserve notes in circulation declined another ten million in the week ended Wednesday. This is accepted as an indication of a further decline in the amount of money in hoarding.

Meanwhile some other figures presented by the reserve banks again gave a pretty good inkling concerning the destination of a lot of money that is coming out of hoarding. Brokers' loans dropped $10,000,000 for the week and total gold reserves of the reserve system increased nearly $20,000,000.

This is taken to mean that the buying by foreigners in American markets is continuing at a good rate, and also that a large part of the week's stock transactions were financed with money withdrawn from hiding.

Takes No More Bonds

The reserve bank report also reveals that another week has gone by with no appreciable increase in the amount of holdings by the reserve system of United States government bonds. The part that the reserve banks will take in the billion dollar treasury financing program this month is still problematical.

While the reserve bank figures disclose a tendency toward an increase in business volume, yesterday's report on the condition of leading banks in New York and Chicago shows that these institutions are in excellent position to extend credit to business when it is demanded. In New York some credit expansion occurred last week, the banks there reporting an increase of about $70,000,000 in total loans and investments.

Chicago member banks reported an increase of $4,000,000 in net demand deposits for the week. Time deposits remained the same as the week before. New York banks had $99,000,000 more of demand deposits on Wednesday night than they had the week before. Their time deposits dropped $2,000,000.

HOME LENDING GROUP PRAISES NEW U. S. PLAN

French Lick, Ind., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Representatives of building and loan associations throughout the nation today joined in a celebration of the recently enacted federal home loan bank act.

The fortieth annual convention of the United States Building and Loan league brought the building and loan representatives to this Indiana resort.

William E. Best of Pittsburgh, president of the league, spoke. He favored the building of more small homes, the repair and modernization of homes already built.

H. F. Cellarius, secretary-treasurer of the league, in his annual report listed the total assets of building and loan associations in the United States at $8,417,375,605. It was the first public announcement of the statistics compiled by him from the reports of supervising departments in the various states as of Jan. 1, 1932.

Pennsylvania Road Gains Again in Express Fight

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The United States District court today refused to grant a temporary stay of proceedings in connection with the plan of the Pennsylvania and other railroads with eastern trunk line connections to open store door pick-up and delivery of freight service in the New York metropolitan area. The New York Dock railway and other Brooklyn terminal companies asked the temporary stay until the Circuit Court of Appeals here had passed on an appeal they took when refused an injunction.

The Pennsylvania applied today to the interstate commerce commission at Washington for a 2 million dollar Reconstruction corporation loan to build 1,500 box cars to furnish employment. It requested the loan for three years.

Diamond Match Reports Slight Drop in Income

New York, Sept. 1.—The Diamond Match company reported today for the first half of 1932 consolidated net income of $1,100,330 after all charges, equal after 6 per cent preferred dividends to 60 cents a share on 1,050,000 no par common shares, compared with $1,320,093, or 77 cents a share on the common, for the corresponding interval of last year.

In the June quarter net income totaled $527,940, or 29 cents a share on the common, against $648,130, or 38 cents a share, for the same 1931 period.

Brokers Tell Value Tests of Tax Warrants

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Payment of the salaries of city and county employes in tax anticipation warrants, instead of currency, has brought into widespread circulation negotiable paper which is something of a mystery to the average citizen. One thing he finds it difficult to understand is why there should be such a difference in prices quoted for warrants of the different political subdivisions.

To provide some enlightenment on that situation representatives of a number of La Salle street houses which specialize in them were interviewed yesterday.

Supply, Demand Market.

Practically all those seen were agreed that the principal factor in making prices is the law of supply and demand. However, a number of other elements enter the picture. Among them is the applicability of warrants to tax bills, the reputation of the organizations issuing them, and the financial strength of organizations or groups usually absorbing them.

"Take Lincoln park and south park warrants," C. B. Ross of Otte & Co. in discussing warrants stated. "The issue bodies enjoy reputations for efficiency, yet their warrants sell below city of Chicago corporate warrants. One reason is that warrants issued by the park boards are applicable for taxes only in their respective districts. Another is that the issues are comparatively small and they are closely held, consequently it is not easy to maintain a market for them.

"As regards west park warrants there has been some question regarding the legality of the 1931 issue. That raises some doubt in the minds of the potential buyers. This point should be cleared up shortly.

Other Warrants Affected.

"Playground warrants are selling at a marked discount. An important reason for this is that a taxpayer can pay only .37 per cent of his tax bill with them, whereas the 1930 ratio for city of Chicago corporate warrants is 20.2 per cent and for the board of education's educational fund warrants the ratio is 20 per cent.

"Now when a larger taxpayer is entering the market to buy warrants naturally he wants those which will fill his needs. Since he can pay only .37 per cent of his bill with playground warrants he naturally doesn't want to get loaded up with them, so the demand is less acute.

"A large part of warrant purchases is for tax payment by big companies. The individual with a small tax bill usually must pay cash for taxes as he cannot buy warrants in the proper ratio to meet his needs."

"Board of education warrants," C. E. Enyart of Enyart, Van Camp & Fell said, "are selling at lower prices than city corporate warrants because of unfavorable publicity regarding board of education expenditures and because those warrants, when issued, fall into weaker hands than do corporate warrants. Board of education warrants are placed in the hands of teachers desperately in need of funds, consequently willing to sell at a sacrifice. Corporate warrants are taken by corporations to be held for payment of taxes.

Sell in Small Lots.

"Board of education warrants are sold in small lots for which there is no particular demand, whereas there is a demand for warrants of larger denominations. I believe that warrants are not being purchased in the amount their suitability for investment merits."

"I believe the following factors govern the prices of warrants," a warrant authority for Rogers & Tracy remarked. "First, there is the percentage of the warrants applicable to taxes. Second, the financial strength of the holders of the various warrants. Third, the amount of warrants on the market and the amount hanging over the market.

"In the case of educations forced liquidation has resulted in depression of prices. The poor credit rating of the west park board has been a factor in lower prices for its warrants."

COMMODITY CORP. MAKES ITS FIRST LOAN IN GOTHAM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 1.—The Commodities Finance corporation opened its offices for business in the Federal Reserve Bank building on Liberty street today. The corporation was established under clearing house bank auspices with $50,000,000 gold note capital to finance the purchase, carrying, or orderly marketing of commodities by borrowers who cannot obtain bank credit in the ordinary way. Its opening for business coincided with the marking by the corporation of its first loan.

The amount of the loan and the identity of the borrower were not revealed, but it is understood that the transaction was such as to comply with the directors' conception of a sound loan in every sense. The money was put up to finance purchase of raw materials to be turned into finished goods for which orders already are on hand.

Bank Clearings Up 3% in Last Week of August

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 1.—Bank clearings at forty-seven cities, as reported by Bradstreet's weekly, increased 3 per cent to $3,890,228,000 during the week ended yesterday. This rise was, however, entirely due to increased check transactions in New York City, which were affected by greater activity in security and commodity markets. Clearings throughout the country, omitting New York City, actually dropped 3.8 per cent to $1,378,276,000, the lowest point of the year.

MARKET VALUE OF 100 STOCKS ADVANCES 39 PCT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 1.—The market value of 100 representative common stocks increased $3,134,248,000, or 39 per cent, in August, to $11,166,940,000, according to Frazier Jelke & Co. During the month sales of stock on the New York Stock exchange totaled 82,625,795 shares, which was the largest volume since April, 1930.

The 100 issues now are appraised at 100.5 per cent more than on June 30. Since the end of June the rails, motors, steels and electrical equipments have more than doubled in price, while the amusements are up 199 per cent and the mines are up 222 per cent.

On a percentage basis the largest increase in August was a gain of 87.8 per cent in the mines. Steels were up 62.2 per cent; amusements, 60.3; rails, 56.9; utilities, 47; electrical equipments, 46.6; motors, 42; industrials, 37.5; chemicals, 36.3; railroad equipments, 33.5; foods, 24.2; oils, 20.6, and retail shares, 12.1.

The largest gain in dollars was $635,234,000 in the utilities, rails were up $504,116,000; oils, $375,368,000; motors, $262,656,000, and mines, $253,569,000.

The increase of $3,134,248,000 in August was larger than the gain of $2,464,145,000 in July; but on a percentage basis the July gain of 44.2 per cent was higher than the August gain of 29 per cent.

SEASON STARTS; OYSTERS OPEN JOBS FOR 17,000

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The official opening of the oyster season today brought good news both to the unemployed and the epicure.

In estimating that approximately 17,000 men would be needed to harvest a 15,000,000 bushel crop, Acting Commissioner Lewis Radcliffe of the fisheries bureau said the bivalves this year were abundant and of a good quality. He predicted the use of quick freezing methods would, in his opinion, extend the season.

On the basis of the 1930 figures, Radcliffe said, the Chesapeake bay district will lead others in oyster production. Virginia oystermen are expected to harvest approximately 2,800,000 bushels and Maryland about 2,300,000 bushels.

Chicago Stock Exchange Delists Several Stocks

Governors of the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday removed from listing the following securities: American Equities company, common; Foote-Burte company, common; Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator, common; North and South American corporation, class "A" common; Polymet Manufacturing, common; Q. R. S. De Vry corporation, common; Sally Frocks, no par common; United Dry Docks, no par common; United Paperboard, common and preferred, and United Public Utilities, preferred. United Chemicals, Inc., preferred stock was readmitted to the list. Sale of memberships to Clarence F. Avery of New York and Henry N. Rowley of Chicago was also approved.

August Auto Sales in Cook County Off Less This Year

Sales of new cars in Cook county during August numbered 2,990, according to Robinson's Service, Springfield, Ill. This was a decline of only 21.8 per cent from July, and is the smallest July to August drop since 1928. The July to August decline in 1931 was 27.4 per cent; in 1930, 30.8 per cent and in 1929, 24 per cent.

WRITES TO HOOVER, ROOSEVELT, TOO, AND ATTACKS FARM BOARD

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Robert F. Blair of Cleveland, president of the National League of Commission Merchants, had addressed letters to President Hoover and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, asking them to discuss national policies on agriculture and transportation "in a way that will leave no doubt" as to their programs.

Encouragement of railroad consolidations, a more liberal attitude in regulation, and establishment of a department of transportation under a new cabinet officer were among suggestions made by Blair.

He also complained of the agricultural marketing act and said before "confidence can be reestablished in this field the distributor must be assured that the federal government is not to compete with him and is not plotting his destruction."

SHUSH, SHUSH! PROSPERITY IS SNEAKING BACK

Any delegate to the Kiwanis convention at Bloomington Sept. 11 to 14 who is reported to have mentioned business conditions in a pessimistic manner will be fined, says a press agent's advance notice.

"Satisfied that business is on the upgrade," says the press agent, "the Kiwanis have determined to do nothing to impede progress."

Sh-h-h-h!

The "Yes Men" Directors.

To what extent directors of a company share responsibility for acts of the management is the interesting question raised by the suit filed against the members of the board of the International Match corporation. A prominent Chicago business man, a director in a dozen or more corporations, says a convention of corporation and bank directors who voted "yes" without knowing why would tax the capacity of the Chicago Stadium. "And I would qualify for such a gathering," he added.

Horse Racing Speeds Up.

Col. Matt J. Winn, president of the American Turf association, reports that the horse racing industry has of late enjoyed an improvement in business. Circus men, too, are reporting better gate receipts.

Cotton Is Up; South Is Happy.

The bull market in cotton has instilled optimism in the south. P. P. Williams company, wholesale grocers in Vicksbury, Miss., report to a Chicago connection:

"The factors which appear to be the basis of the advance in the price of cotton are: 1, the lowest price in 50 years; 2, the prospect of a greatly reduced yield, and 3, an active, advancing market for cotton goods.

"The purchasing power of this section will show a considerable improvement and there will be a corresponding effect on all of the industries of the country which market goods in the south."

The Hoarders Disgorge.

Business on the Pacific coast is reviving, says a Chicago grain man returning home after several months in the west.

"Hoarded money is being invested in securities at a surprising rate," he says. "One of the largest brokerage houses has for some time been taking in about $200,000 a day in cash from security purchasers."

Wilfull Enticement Forbidden.

The federal trade commission yesterday made public its rulings on trade practices of the metal burial vault industry. Rule 11, as promulgated by the commission, declares: "Willfully enticing away the employes of competitors with the purpose and effect of unduly hampering, injuring, or embarrassing competitors in their business is an unfair trade practice."

BENDIX ACTIVE ON RUMORS OF NEW EXPANSION

Active trading in Bendix Aviation was the principal feature of the trading on the Chicago exchange yesterday. The activity in the stock was accompanied by reports that the company would shortly announce the acquisition of a property outside of the motor accessory field. The price was moderately better.

Other motor accessory shares were in fair demand with prices showing some irregularity. Price movements generally were mixed. Marshall Field and Union Carbide were conspicuous strong spots.

SAYS EX-KROGER MEN RETURNED DISPUTED STOCK

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Kroger Grocery and Baking company announced to its stockholders today that three former officials of the concern had made restitution for stock bonuses they allegedly gave themselves.

The three former officials are W. B. Albers, former president; J. B. Bonham, former vice president and general manager; and G. G. Meiners, former secretary. Albert H. Morrill, president of the company, in a formal statement said "former officials have returned or contracted to return to the company $47,957.97 in cash and 13,464 shares of stock of the company. Of these amounts, $36,468.97 and 10,592 shares of stock have been returned and credited to the trustee account."

On the basis of yesterday's market value of Kroger stock, the total return made approximates $205,940.

Net earnings for the last six months were reported as $1,365,045, representing 74 cents a share on common stock, as against $1.25 in the corresponding period of 1930.

CANADIAN RAIL LINE ABOLISHES HIGH SALARY JOBS

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Further action to promote economy by abolishing higher salaried positions in the Canadian National Railways was announced at the head offices here today. A number of officials with long periods of service were retired. Several positions were merged or dropped entirely.

The reorganization was not confined to the Canadian railways, but extended to the Central Vermont Railway, a subsidiary. Many changes were made in the personnel of the telegraph and telephone departments. All become effective today.

The Montreal and Saguenay divisions were united and the St. Lawrence division superintendency was merged with that of General Superintendent F. L. C. Bond of Montreal.

Plans Water Carriers' Group to Boom Trade Conditions

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Formation of a Waterways Transportation association to stabilize rates, demurrage, terminal use, etc., for inland water carriers will be advocated tomorrow before the advisory board of the Inland Waterways corporation. The proposal is backed by Gen. T. Q. Ashburn, the corporation's chairman.

He said the proposed association would look after the interests of the inland water carriers as the American Railway association does for the railroads.

RAIL CHIEFS GATHER HERE NEXT WEEK; TO TALK PAY CUT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 1.—A committee of nine officials appointed for the purpose by the railroad managements, plans to prepare thirty day notices for service on the railroad unions on or about Oct. 1 stating the intention of the managements to demand under the terms of the railway labor act a 20 per cent wage reduction to supersede the present agreement expiring Feb. 1.

The form of notice will be devised by the committee at a meeting to be held in Chicago probably late next week.

In view of the success of methods followed in the negotiations in Chicago last winter which resulted in a voluntary 10 per cent reduction in wages from the levels then prevailing effective one year from last Feb. 1 it is understood the notices will extend to the unions an opportunity both for collective negotiation and collective arbitration under the terms of the act.

This means that the unions will be offered the alternative of arbitration of the 20 per cent demand, which would make possible a compromise award of 15 per cent, or, after all procedure under the law had been exhausted, enforcement by the managements of the original demand for a 20 per cent reduction from the levels in force prior to last Feb. 1. If reached by arbitration, the reduction would be effective for one year.

The advantage of early serving of notices on the unions would be, it was said, that the ground will be cleared for prompt action after expiration of the present agreement on Feb. 1. Delay might mean restoration of the old rates in a period between Feb. 1 and the time when the coming negotiations were concluded.

NORTH SIDE 'L' DEFAULTS ON ITS BONDS

Last Operating Line to Take Step.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Another of the "L" lines—the Northwestern—defaulted on its first mortgage bonds yesterday. That company has an issue of $12,708,000, but $3,129,000 of them are held in its sinking fund. Thus the default was on $9,579,000, now outstanding.

Total defaults on bonds of the Chicago Rapid Transit and underlying companies are $42,723,300, excluding the $18,563,000 of adjustment debenture bonds.

First Default in July.

The first default came July 1, a few days after receivers had been appointed for the elevated properties. Interest was not paid on two issues of first and refunding mortgage bonds of the Chicago Rapid Transit company. One issue, due in 1944, totals $10,678,500. The other, due in 1953, is for $8,023,500, of which $6,395,500 are in the hands of the public and the remaining $1,628,000 in the company treasury, but have been pledged.

These two mortgages of $18,712,800 cover the property of the South Side and the Oak Park elevated lines.

On that same day, July 1, the Metropolitan, west side lines, defaulted on $10,000,000 first mortgage bonds and $4,432,000 extension mortgage bonds. The default by the Northwestern involved the remaining trunk line of the Chicago Rapid Transit system. In addition, there was a default yesterday on that line's $195,000 equipment trust certificates, on which both the interest and principal were due.

The Union Elevated Railway company, operating the loop structure in the central business district, is all of the Rapid Transit system not yet in default. The Union Elevated draws its income from the use of the loop structure by the various lines.

It was rumored in La Salle street yesterday, however, that the loop will default on its first mortgage bonds on Oct. 1, the next interest paying date. Of the "L" loop first mortgage bonds there are $4,373,000 outstanding, but $528,000 of them are on deposit to secure the Northwestern Elevated first mortgage bonds and $43,000 more have been deposited as collateral to secure the Chicago Rapid Transit company's first and refunding mortgage bonds. So there are $3,802,000 of the loop first mortgage bonds in the hands of the public.

Has Other Bonds, Too.

In addition the loop property has also issued $498,000 of first mortgage bonds under a previous company title of Union Consolidated Elevated railway. Of these $46,000 are on deposit to secure Chicago Rapid Transit bonds and $45,000 is in the company treasury unpledged. That leaves in the hands of the public $407,000 of this particular brand of bonds. Interest of these will be due Nov. 1, and it is reported that they, too, will default.

Of the $85,716,245 of funded debt of the elevated properties, there remain the $18,563,000 of adjustment debenture bonds. These are due on July 1, 1963, but the interest on them was unpaid when due July 1. These bonds may draw interest at a rate not exceeding 6 per cent, but if the interest is unpaid it is cumulative at 4 per cent, but payable only if declared by the directors of the company. This 4 per cent has been accumulating since July 1, 1924, and now amounts to $5,568,900 on Jan. 1 last. The Central Trust company of New York is the depository for these debenture bonds.

German Tariff Rates Bar U. S. Office Equipment

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—(AP)—New tariff regulations effective Sept. 6 will virtually close the German market to American office equipment companies which have investments in Germany totaling approximately $11,000,000. The interests affected, it was learned today, have lodged vigorous protests at Washington in the hope of forestalling enforcement of the emergency decree creating the new duties.

Tariff Walls Rising Higher Against U. S.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Ottawa Citizen predicted today that the tariff on American anthracite, established at 40 cents a ton at the last session of parliament, would be increased to 50 cents at the coming session to give British anthracite an additional 20 cent preference under the agreement between Canada and the United Kingdom. British anthracite now comes in free.

PROTEST GERMAN PLAN

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Copyright: 1932: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—Chancellor Franz von Papen's government in its new chauvinistic era has decreed new import duties, some of which amount to virtual confiscation of a great deal of American capital placed in Germany in good faith by American firms who have been working here for more than a quarter of a century, according to a protest lodged by prominent American companies here.

The new measures, decreed by Von Papen to go into effect on Sept. 6, are directed against the American office equipment business in Germany. This industry would be wiped out at a single stroke if Von Papen enforces the decree, since it would be unable to cope with a 100 per cent increase in tariff rates.

Adds to German Capital.

American business men point out that American office equipment has been adding to Germany's total capital by investing close to $10,500,000 here without taking out foreign currency. American companies in Germany employ 6,000 Germans who would lose their jobs if the decree is enforced, they stated. They have also been paying Germany several million dollars in customs duties and taxes and almost half this amount again for transportation by federal railways and German shipping.

The blow is directed only against Americans since no other foreign nations are engaged in the manufacture of office equipment in Germany. Resentment at anti-American measures has been increased by the fact, as one of the most prominent Americans said, that the "German competing industry which has shown a lusty growth in recent years is almost entirely based on American models and practices."

To Renew German Credit.

BERLIN, Sept 1.—(AP)—The $90,000,000 rediscount credit granted to the Reichsbank by the World bank and guaranteed by the central banks of France, England and the United States, will be renewed for three months on its expiration Sept. 4, it was learned today.

BRITAIN RETALIATES

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Some three cornered hitting among Germany, France, and Britain has followed the "further moderate regulation of imports" announced by the German chancellor last Sunday.

The increased German import duties put into force yesterday appear to be largely directed against British goods, as increases up to 300 per cent are made on textile imports.

Britain retaliated tonight with increased import duties on gloves, which come largely from Germany, and sausages, while France came into the contest with a demand that a certain proportion of British coal imported into France must in the future be carried in French ships.

Sends Coal to Germans.

Coal and textiles have been the two main British exports to Germany and the new duties should effectively throttle the entry of textiles as the quotas have throttled coal. The new duties fall especially heavily on the higher numbers of British cotton yarns, which recently have been competing strongly in the German market, and on waterproof clothing, a British specialty that has gained a good reputation in Germany.

The effect of the German coal quota during the first six months of this year is shown by the drop in value of British coal imported from £125,061 to £90,083. In the textile group the British exported cotton yarn to the value of £1,397,220 in the first six months of 1932, which was even better than last year.

15 Coastal Shipping Firms Agree to Continue Rates

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Fifteen shipping lines operating between Atlantic and Pacific ports via the Panama canal have agreed on a six months' extension of present regulations calling for uniform rates on enforcement of trade practices. The announcement was made today by Chairman O'Connor of the shipping board. He said he had been advised of the decision by Arthur C. Thackara, chairman of the United States intercoastal conference, in session in New York.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 1.—The railroad shares outdid the rest today. Improvement in carloadings, the prospect of still further gains, when the next report is made public next Saturday, together with the new boost the carriers have received from the merger conference here this week, are making the shares of this group look more and more attractive. Substantial gains were scored by such issues as Southern Pacific, Atlantic Coast line, Atchison, New York Central, Ontario and Western, and Pennsylvania, some of them rising to new tops for the movement. Canadian Pacific was active and strong all day, due to the rise in metal stocks.

Copper Shares Steady.

Copper shares failed to display much enthusiasm over notice of another advance in the price of that metal. Actual business in the copper industry continues small and the rising prices are said to be largely due to the conviction of a group of producers that it would be just as easy to sell metal at 7 as at 5 cents a pound.

The oils were under the influence of anxiety over the ability of the industry promptly to cut output. That group has been on the mend virtually ever since the upturn got under way, however, and the probabilities are that the leaders are somewhat fatigued from their exertions.

Utilities Fare Better.

Utilities looked up with the rest and there was a great deal of activity in the aviation group. United Aircraft achieved a new high on the rise of about a point. General Electric and Westinghouse went along with the utilities.

CHARGE GULF-N. Y. FERRY RATES AS UNFAIR TO WEST

Acting in behalf of the manufacturing and business concerns of the middle west the Chicago Association of Commerce has filed a protest with the interstate commerce commission against the new railroad car ferry freight rates between New York and southwestern ports anticipated early next month with the institution of a new service by Seatrain Lines, Inc.

Under plans already announced the Seatrain Lines will operate two newly built freight car carrying steamers from New York to the gulf, making it possible for eastern shippers to send their wares to New York, where the loaded cars will be placed on shipboard without the disadvantage of rehandling, and then carried to railroad terminals at southern ports for further rail delivery to destination.

The fact that this new service will be offered at lower rates and without the disadvantages that have marked previous transhipping from the car to the steamer and its attendant delays would give New York, New England, and other manufacturers as far west as Ohio a more pronounced advantage over their associates of the middle west than they already enjoy, the Association of Commerce maintains.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 1,500; hogs, 13,000; sheep, 10,000.

Hog prices pushed forward again on active local buying yesterday and finished within 10@15c of the highest spot since the middle of last month. The general average for the day gained 15c, going up to $4.25, which equals the highest in 16 days. The practical top advanced 15c to $4.85, reports of a $4.90 sale failing to materialize. Current quotations are within 65@75c of the year's peak and $1.00@1.60 above the low spot last May.

At the high time in July the peak price reached $5.55, while at the low time in May top hogs sank to $3.30. The high daily average was $5.00 in July and the low daily average was $3.15 in June.

Eastern houses bought lightly again yesterday, but after local packers had filled their orders very little remained on the market. Advance estimates placed today's probable supply at five markets at 34,000, this total comparing with actual arrivals of 42,300 last Friday. Receipts of hogs all last month were moderately large for August. The total at Chicago at 511,142 was largest since May and compared with 421,359 in July.

Cattle Action Limited.

Action in the cattle market yesterday was confined to the scant supply of well finished medium and weighty beef steers that are selling at $9.00 and above. Several carloads sold to Swift and Wilson at $10.00, equaling the highest sale of the season. Plainer kinds continued to drag and in spots worked slightly lower before the session ended. Cooler weather favored the buying side, but failed to stimulate action in the wholesale trade.

With poorer grades of stock slipping lower on most sessions, the range of prices has worked considerably wider. The inside price for beef steers sank to $4.75 on low days this week, while tops reached $10.00 on several sessions. Off colored ill bred native grass steers occasionally sold down to $4.00 and less. Total cattle receipts have been running exceptionally light for this time of the year, although the August total at 174,988 was largest of the year. It was the smallest for August since 1884. The August average price of steers at $7.90 compared with $7.95 in July, the only higher monthly average since last November.

Top Lambs Steady.

Closely sorted top native lambs held steady yesterday, but the rank and file moved slowly all day and closed weak to 25c lower. A break in the wholesale market for dressed lamb curtailed buying by local houses to some extent. Three decks of fancy ewe and wether lambs from Illinois and Iowa farms topped the market at $6.75, going to packers at that figure, which equals the highest sale in more than a month.

Few others passed $6.00, while the tops from 70 carloads of range lambs sold at $5.95 and below. Although a few lots of outstanding native lambs have been selling well above the bulk, the general lamb market is at the lowest spot in many years. The August average cost of live lambs set a new low of $5.25.

HAY MARKET QUIET

There were 7 cars of hay on track on Thursday, 6 timothy and 1 car of alfalfa. Shipping advices are still scanty, but despite the drop in the run the last few days buyers do not seem any more anxious than they were when the daily arrivals were somewhat in excess of the current rate.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Cotton goods were quieter today in the gray goods division with prices somewhat easier. Finished goods continued in moderate demand. Silks were in moderate call for prompt shipment. Men's wear and women's worsted dress goods sold steadily. Rayon sales continued steady and production is being increased rapidly. Burface were firmer. Finishing plants are more active than for some months.

Why pay more Than Household's low rate?

Cash loans up to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates. Loans above $100 up to $300 made at a rate less than the usual small loan rate.

If you are keeping house and can make regular monthly payments, you have all the security needed for a Household loan.
